RECOVERY VS. RELIEF

As Frank R. Kent points out from Washington, "We have been on the upgrade—and so has every other nation—for three years. The figures prove it, and yet there is the greatest unexplained paradox—relief costs illogically remain at the 1934 level. Recovery and relief are inseparably linked. As one goes up, the other must go down., for example, as business improves and men go to work, the relief costs are lightened. Here alone they remain practically the same."

David Lawrence shows, in the United States News, that the federal government is spending more than was spent for relief in 1936. The cost of relief that ended June 30, 1936, was $2,420,000,000. In other words, "More dollars are to be spent for relief in recovery than were spent for relief in depression." —Spokesman Review, Spokane, Washington.

WHAT ARE THE ROWS ABOUT?

The citizens of this country have a perfect right to join as many labor unions, clubs, lodges, societies and political parties as they want to. Labor unions have their own worst enemies in their own ranks. When this era through which we are passing is over so that major industries may be secure from the dangers of strikes, then fair-minded and sensible employes and employers may hope to again look upon each other through friendly eyes, as they get back to basic American principles and admit that their interests are mutual.
