

MRS. TED DAVIS

On Saturday of last week Evelyn Weathers Davis died at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Twitt Ramsey, in Knightdale, after suffering for more than eighteen months with a complication of diseases. When, finally, specialists at Duke Hospital found that nothing could be done except make her as nearly comfortable as possible, her father was ill in Mary-Elizabeth hospital with pneumonia and she was taken to her relatives' home to keep from her the knowledge of his condition. Her cousin, Miss Frances Ramsey, registered nurse, was in constant attendance, yet the end, when it came, was so sudden that not even Mrs. Davis' uncle, Dr. Rupert Weathers, living only a few blocks away, could reach her before life was gone.

A simple service was held at Hephzibah church near Wendell on Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Davis' pastor, Rev. R. H. Herring, in charge, assisted by Rev. W. H. Poole, pastor of Hephzibah, with burial in the church cemetery.

Pallbearers were Worth Hinton, Donald Stallings, C. B. Eddins, Jr., Raleigh Alford, Tom Blount, Jr., of Spring Hope, Lawrence Tracy of Kinston.

Besides her husband, Theo. B. Davis, Jr., to whom she was married Dec. 2, 1933, she is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Weathers of Wendell, R. 2; one brother, Billy Weathers; one sister, Miss Marjorie Weathers.

ZEBULON ROTARY

The Zebulon Rotary club met on September 10th, with Paul Cashwell in charge of the program. Mr. Reynolds, of Raleigh, was the speaker. His subject was Organization and Work of Boy Scouts. It certainly would mean much to the youth if a Scout troop could be organized. There is no record of a criminal in N. C. prison who was a Boy Scout.

The club welcomed back their sweetheart, Miss Dunlap, and she looked glad to be back, too.

Rotary stands ready to encourage every worth while project, whether in town or country, and especially in rural communities.

Cozy Cottage

Zebulon Supply Store has built a house inside a house and has named it Cozy Cottage. The outside view, with its white walls; its windows with green blinds having crescents in the upper part; its lights each side the inviting entrance; would attract favorable comment anywhere, even without the green lawn that stays within bounds and has no weeds to mar its perfection.

Inside are three connecting rooms. In the center is a spacious living-room completely furnished, davenport, chairs, tables, pictures, rugs, secretary, all matching or harmonizing. To the right is a bedroom as ready for occupancy as if the lady of the house had just for a minute stepped across to a neighbor's; and any lady would be proud to own such a room. It is large enough for two styles of bed, dresser, chest and chairs to be displayed—sort of as if HE and SHE had slightly disagreed and each bought what was preferred; but the effect is most agreeable.

To the left is a diningroom of the sort one uses, or would like to use, when company comes and meals are served as well as eaten. You couldn't think of bad manners in surroundings of such dignity and beauty. But, if you are one of those who have to cook and eat on the run, leave the Cozy Cottage and go upstairs where you'll find the kitchen and breakfast-room outfits that suit your style. It is surprising to see how much they do have at Zebulon Supply.

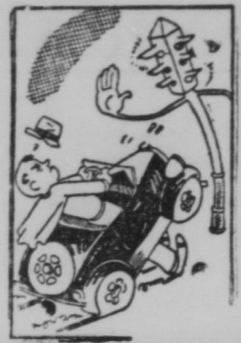

WARS AND RUMORS OF WARS

In China the fighting between Japanese and Chinese troops is in its ninth week, and rages more fiercely as time passes. The Chinese are in conflict with an army of more than 125,000 Japanese and are defending a battle-line of 100 miles. Both nations are said to be preparing for months, if not years, of warfare. American Admiral, H. E. Yarnell, as spokesman for all neutral nations, repeated a warning to both Chinese and Japanese about endangering lives of non-combatants. Many hundreds of cases of cholera are known and the situation grows worse. The Japanese envoy at Geneva declared that his country will brook no interference by the League of Nations.

Italy has taken offense at the plans made by other powers to patrol the Mediterranean Sea because of piracy by unknown submarines and declares that she should have parity with England and France. Russia has accused Italy of the piracy, while Germany takes sides with Mussolini.

After ten months of siege insurgents in Spain have not been able to take Madrid, the capital city.
