This, That, and The Other

MRS. THEO. B. DAVIS

CHURCH NOTES

CLASS MEETING

The Wakefield Philathea Class met on October 20 in the church with Mrs. Percy Pace in charge of program. The devotional was by Mrs. Kimball. Mrs. J. A. Wells of Wendell made an inspiring address. After a solo by Mrs. Ormondsey and a poem by Mrs. A. S. Gages, Pastor Carl Ousley led the prayer. Following the meeting a social hour was enjoyed with refreshments served in the basement by the hostesses, Mesdames E. Ferrell, T. C. Pippin, Pace and others.

DEPARTMENT STUDY COURSE BAPTIST S. S.

E. C. Daniel, superintendent of the Adult Department, announced on next Sunday morning after Sunday School the first in a department study course given. All who will do so are invited to stay. It is planned to change all meetings for the month to not conflict with other activities at the church.

Members of the local Methodist church and others from the Methodist church in Wendell met at the church last week for an all-day conference, which was directed by J. W. Bradley. Lunch was served during the noon recess.

3. High Buried

Funeral services for A. B. High, who died Friday night of a heart attack, were held Sunday at a home in Middlesex at 3:00 p. m. Rev. W. G. Farrar, Methodist minister of Bailey, conducted the funeral service. The burial was at Pleasant Grove Cemetery. High lived part of his life in Middlesex county. He came to Middlesex from Bailey, where he had previously lived.

High's widow, surviving Mrs. A. B. High, has two children, Brooks and Marie High; three sisters, Mrs. Fulghum of Raleigh; Mrs. Stott of Bailey, Mrs. Nance of Statesville; four brothers, A. T. High of Wendell; W. S. High of Baley; V. H. High of Wilkes; and J. H. High of Delhi, Ont., Canada.

WIFE HIDES FOR DAYS

A woman named of her report card and was found to take it home from the school to show her parents, Nellie High, 11 years old, of Indianapolis. It is said to have hidden for six days in a vacant house where she was found suffering seriously from cold and hunger. She is now in a hospital.

DEATH

Joseph Williams of near Pilot Mountain died on Thursday morning. Burial services will be held on Friday afternoon.

It is felt ashamed; for usually it's our fault.

District Prize Won By Mrs. M. Faison

The prize winners in the third week of the Electrical Dealers' Missing Word Contest have been announced. The prize for this district went to Mrs. M. McRae Faison, Zebulon, for supplying the missing words and submitting the best statement regarding electric water heating.

The first grand prize was awarded to Mrs. L. C. Wallace, Carthage, N. C., and the second grand prize to Alma C. Hutchinson, Rockingham, N. C. The contest was planned for six weeks duration with a complete set of prizes offered for each week. Interest is growing according to the electrical dealers who are participating in Zebulon, Wendell, Spring Hope and Nashville. Entry blanks are available without charge at electrical dealer's stores and on the salesfloor of the Carolina Power and Light Company. Those in charge here emphasized the fact that entrants are not required to make a purchase of any kind nor are they required to collect or save any sort of items. Different entry blanks are designated for each weekly contest and contain the complete set of simple rules as well as the list of weekly prizes.

With The Rotarians

Rayo Senter had the program last Friday evening. Donald Pippin played two selections on the piano. If you have never heard him play you will be surprised. That boy is an artist.

Prof. Pepper told what the teachers in the Wakelon School were doing to learn what the students were best fitted for and then inform them about their chosen vocation. That is something worth while and should be a great benefit to them in the future. The teacher should be honored in their undertaking to start the boy or girl on their chosen vocation during their school days.

A. M. Lewis Dead

A. M. Lewis, 68, of Middlesex died Friday evening, at his home, following an illness of four years.

Mr. Lewis had lived all his life in and around Middlesex. He was known throughout Nash County, and had been a prominent citizen of Middlesex. He was a member of the Masonic Order and the Jr. O. U. A. M.

The funeral services were held Saturday at 2 o'clock, at the Lewis home. Rev. W. G. Farrar, Methodist minister, and Rev. Ford A. Burns, Baptist minister, officiated. Since he was a member of two organizations, they had an important part in the ceremony. Burial was held in the Middlesex cemetery.

Besides his widow survivors include, one daughter, Mrs. J. P. Davis of Wilson; two sons, Dr. S. B. Lewis of Plymouth; and Cecil Lewis of Rocky Mount; two sisters, Mrs. J. O. Dudley of Rocky Mount; and Mrs. C. G. Lewis of Zebulon and three brothers, L. Q. Lewis of Bailey, J. D. Lewis of Wilson; and Alfred Lewis of Middlesex.

CLUB COLUMN

The Junior Woman's Club held its regular meeting at the club last Thursday night. Business for the new year was discussed. The club decided to exchange books again this year and to return all of the old books to the original owners. Anyone having one of these books, please return it to the person whose name is in the front if you have finished it. A committee was appointed to select the new books. Another committee was appointed to write the report for the district meeting to be held in Chapel Hill Oct. 26. Miss Jo Dunlap, chairman of the program committee, reported on the subjects for programs to be given this year. Ruby Dawson and Marie Watson were hostesses. The next meeting will be on Thursday night, Nov. 4, at the club house.

Special Meeting

The next meeting of the Garden Club will be held with Mrs. Fred Page and Mrs. A. S. Hinton will be joint hostess. The program will be of special interest. The subject is Miniature Gardens for Winter. An exhibit and contest will be held in connection with this. Not only members of the club, but all others interested are asked to bring arrangements of plants or flowers.

Points which will be considered in judging are: Sincerity—whether the arrangement is true to the idea or plan in mind; Simplicity—whether too many flowers are crowded into the container; Suitability—whether the arrangement is appropriate for the purpose designated. Contestants are requested to bring their flowers to the Page home before the hour for the meeting. Should that be too inconvenient, they will take them to the side entrance instead of bringing any into the room where the program will be given.

P T A

The Parent Education study course will begin its year's work Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The meeting will be held in the Zebulon Baptist Church and the subject will be Founding a Family. The speaker will be Mrs. R. E. Pippin.

The study group has chosen the P. T. A. magazine to aid in their work this year.

This is one meeting that is of vital interest to everyone in this community. You cannot afford to miss it.

W. N. C. Methodist Adjourn Meeting

The annual meeting of the Western North Carolina conference of the Southern Methodist Church met last week in Asheville with Bishop Paul Kern of Durham presiding. The conference voted in favor of unification of the three big branches of the Methodist Church in America, and adopted resolutions condemning the legal sale of liquor and calling upon Methodists to oppose all such schemes and all public officials supporting them. Reports from the churches show the denomination in a healthy state in that conference.

GENERAL NEWS

Sulfanilamide is one of the main drugs in a new patent medicine which has lately come upon the market and which has been highly recommended in treating many diseases. It was found, however, that the medicine is most injurious unless the patient has the proper dosage prescribed and that even then there are some who cannot use it. For this reason it is not safe to be sold except when prescribed in the right amounts by a physician. More than 40 deaths have occurred from the use of the sulfanilamide preparation and the company manufacturing it sent out frantic messages urging the return of all shipments after its danger was discovered. Its sale is illegal in North Carolina.

PRICES INVESTIGATED

President Roosevelt has announced that he plans an investigation of the prices of newsprint, which is the blank sheets on which newspapers are printed. Its cost has advanced within recent months until the difference is keenly felt even by small printing plants. There is said to be neither scarcity nor unusual demand for the newsprint, hence the rise in price must be due to other causes.

KILLING AND DEATH

In Raleigh on Monday night Johnny Williams, 14-year-old boy living on New Bern Ave. near the Old Soldiers' Home, shot and killed his older brother Joseph aged 19. Two hours later the boys' grandfather C. W. Creech, who made his home with the family, died from shock. The father was already in jail for an infringement of the law.

Johnny, who dropped out of school recently, said that his older brother had continually beaten him. On Monday night the younger boy was told by the older to sack up coal for an order. A row followed and Johnny left the house, later returning to his room and leaving word for his brother not to enter where he was. In the darkness he stated that he saw Joseph come in and that he fired to stop him, not to kill him. Death came as the wounded boy was being taken to a hospital.

COALITION DESIRED

In an address made over the radio Tuesday night former president Herbert Hoover declared himself in favor of fusion and coalition of Republicans and those of other parties—notable Democrats—who are opposed to the present administration. He declared that the members of the middle class in America should be made the "forgotten men". Hoover asserted that he wants no public office for himself.

EFIRD'S STORES GIVE BOOKS

Efird's Stores, a chain of 55 in three states, is giving each public school in North Carolina a copy of the book, "Facts to Know North Carolina". This book was compiled by John Mullen of Lincolnton and answers almost every question of importance about North Carolina. Efird's Store in Raleigh will distribute 70 copies of these books in Harnett and Wake counties.

daily wage every working day. I wish some plan might be arranged by which business firms of our town might turn over to church workers lists of names of persons newly-employed by them, with information as to whether married or single, number of children, etc. This would make it much easier for Sunday School classes as well as pastors to know when and where to call, and would help tremendously towards making newcomers like us and our town. Whenever I hear of a person who does not like us I
