

CHURCH NOTES

WAKEFIELD REVIVAL

Revival services at the Baptist church in Wakefield will begin on the night of the fifth Sunday in this month. The pastor, Rev. Carl Ousley, will be assisted by Dr. Carl Townsend of Hayes-Barton church, Raleigh. Services will be held in the afternoon and at night through the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Pittman Stell, Miss Ruby Stell and Rev. A. A. Pippin returned from attending the sessions of the Southern Baptist Convention in Richmond with reports of a great meeting as to numbers and spirituality. Mr. Stell says that one who has never heard the great old hymns sung by vast congregations does not realize the thrill of their melody and the uplift such music holds for the soul.

The Indian population of the United States has increased 25 per cent in the last forty years. The death rate among Indians is high but the birth rate is well above the national average. It is estimated that there were more than 840,000 Indians here when the first white men came. At present there are fewer than 340,000.

Building In Zebulon

With nothing in the way of a boom responsible, but inspired only by the need for more homes, building continues in Zebulon. The Wallace Chamblee home is nearing completion; the W. O. Glover home is rapidly being erected; the remodelled Donald Stallings place is about ready for occupancy; C. V. Whitley is having an attractive house built in the western part of town between the Moser and A. D. Privette places, to be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Screws.

Also to be built in the near future are homes for the Irby Gills and Robert Dawsons, which will be on the same street as the new Chamblee and Pippin homes. At the corner of this street, back of the J. E. Gill home and facing Z. J. Robertson's, the Ruric Gills plan to have their new house, construction to begin soon.

Clarence Hocutt has bought lots just north of the M. M. Faison home on Arrendall Ave. and plans to build a home there before long. This is desirable land and in a good section.

Zebulon may safely be called a growing town.

CELEBRATES 75th BIRTHDAY

On the day her 75th birthday was celebrated Mrs. W. H. Chamblee played piano selections having runs, arpeggios and difficult passages she learned when a young girl.

ZEBULON SENIORS AT CAMPBELL

Buie's Creek, May 17.—Students from Zebulon in the graduating class at Campbell College are Mary Iva Gay and Ralph House, Lyda Mae Faison, and Gladys Yancey, Zebulon.

Mary Iva Gay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Gay, has taken an active part in public speaking and dramatics this year, and is a member of the Sappho literary society. Ralph House, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. House, has been a varsity debater and head cheerio this year. He is president of the Wake County club, and a member of the Phi literary society.

Lyda Mae Faison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Faison, and Gladys Yancey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Y. Yancey, both in the commercial graduating class, are members of the Sappho literary society.
