CORINTH

Attendance at our regular preaching services Saturday and Sunday were not as good as usual. We would like very much to see the house full. Everyone is welcome at all times.

The revival meeting will begin at 8:00 o'clock Sunday, September 4th and there will be services twice daily throughout that week—afternoon and at 8:00 each evening. We are indeed fortunate in having secured Rev. Albert Sims, pastor of the Wendell Baptist Church, to do the preaching for us and we are hoping the attendance will be good.

Wednesday morning, August 31, has been set as the date to gather at the church and clean up the cemetery and church grounds. Everyone desiring to help will please be there that day.

Mr. and Mrs. Odell High had as their guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Ruffin Hill, Mrs. "Bet" Hill and Miss Sarah Hill of Smithfield.

Many peanut fields in Virginia and North Carolina have been reported as abandoned after heavy rains brought on an extreme grassy condition, says E. Y. Floyd, of State College.

Many Dare County fishermen, after experiencing failure in the water for years, have turned to agriculture as a means of livelihood.

Where's Elmer?

That safe is heavy without doubt, And Elmer should not have rushed out. We blame no one for angry shout.

And we can say we join you In wondering what that safe will do In smashing things before it's through.

The only thought that can console When accidents we can't control And furniture no more is whole,

Is knowing that one can replace The "busted" things in every space With furnishings of style and grace
