

Recorder's Court

remain under parents control for one year. The question arises: If they were under their parents' control when the theft occurred as inferred, what difference does it make anyway? This court reporter is of the opinion that a good old-fashioned whipping would do more good to some truant boys in fact, most any of them than such parental control as some of them have today. However, it is not always the parents' fault.

Orrin Ferrell, brother to watermelon lover, was before the law for being drunk and disorderly. Judgment was suspended upon payment the costs of the court. One wonders where it gets justice for a court to break even with a violator. He pays the expense and goes out with a clean slate.

Howard David was also before Judge Rhodes a second time, only this time it was for being drunk and disorderly. Some months ago Howard was sentenced to the roads for breaking, entering and arson for a period of two years. In this case Howard got his sentence suspended by paying the costs. The laity have always understood that when one convicted of crime is put on probation, such sentence goes into effect when he violates the law a second time. Why the difference here?

Robert Tuck and John Hinton, colored men, argued with their fists to such an extent that they were haled into court. They were fined $5.00 each and court costs.

Hallie Richardson had lately returned from serving a 6 months sentence on the roads. He met with one of the witnesses whose evidence sent him there, so he proceeded to knock him down with a vengeance. Judgment was suspended on payment of the costs.

Kinly Dunn drew his razor and sideswiped another of his race, almost disrobing him. But the slashes little more than shaved the clothes from his victim's body. $25.00 and the court costs was the price of his barber act.

Willard Hicks was in court for breaking down the door of "John's Place," located at the May filling station about one mile east of Zebulon. Willard did not need an attorney, but proceeded to question the witness for himself. Among other things, he wanted to know what sort of "ladies" the proprietor kept at his place. The "new" attorney created quite a lot of merriment and when he got through the judge said, "not guilty."

Another case awaits court action if and when Ivan Montague, Jr., dies. It seems that Ivan was armed with a pair of knucks. Clyde Pearce had a good old barlowe. Both were celebrating on good bootleg or ABC liquor. Ivan made a pass with his knucks. Clyde made one with his knife, starting at the top of Ivan's skull. His knife traveled down by his ear and around across his throat. It 'most got him. At this time he has pneumonia along with the effects of the knife wound. This also occurred at "John's place." P. S. It took 34 stitches to close Ivan's gash. Some one said 50 stitches would not have been too many.

COW "ACTRESS" AT FAIR

NEW YORK—Two hundred aristocratic milch cows are to be bathed, dried and milked during every twenty-four hours for all to see in one of the exhibits at the New York World's Fair 1939. Ten at a time are to parade from their adjacent barns to a huge revolving platform and there yield their milk, which will be immediately chilled, pasteurized and bottled, ready for the customer an hour after bossy has relinquished it.

COMMUNITY CORRESPONDENCE

PILOT

Our revival meeting starts next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock and 7:30 P. M., and everybody is cordially invited to come out and be with us. Mr. Motley will assist our pastor.

IMMENSE TURTLE CAPTURED

A turtle estimated to be hundreds of years old and weighing more than 1,000 pounds has been captured off the California coast. It measures 88 inches from head to tail and is 38 inches across.

NATIONAL LABOR RELATIONS

Announcements have been made by the President, and by President Green of the A. F. of L. that important amendments to the National Labor Relations Act will be favored by both of them at the coming session of Congress. Nobody seems to be entirely satisfied with NRLB except the CIO, and John L. Lewis adds a little fault-finding by way of helping alibis for the claim that the Board acts prejudicially in his interest.
