PRAYER FOR PEACE

Dear Lord, the world has known so many wars, It bears such bitter, deep and lasting scars, Reach out Thy hand, O, Maker of us all; Bend down Thy listening ear, and hear our call.

In this, and every other threatening hour, Only Thy might, dear Lord, only Thy Power Can change the hearts of men— can bid them cease Their avarice and greed—and bring us peace.

Lord of the nations, let no nation reign To crush another. Free us from the strain Of blood and slaughter—let us not forget The loving kind example Thou hast set.

God help us lift the Golden Rule so high That its bright words will flame against the sky: "Do Unto Others As Ye Would That They Do Unto You," and then will come the day— The crushed will rise, the bound will find release, And we shall know the blessedness of peace.

Grace Noll Crowell

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gary and children of Kinston spent the week-end with the C. G. Weathersbys, attending the Barbee silver wedding celebration.

SILVER WEDDING CELEBRATED

On Saturday evening Dr. and Mrs. George Spright Barbee entertained at their home on Gannon Avenue celebrating their silver wedding anniversary.

The entire lower floor of the home was en suite and was decorated with arrangements of white chrysanthemums and glowing tapers.

Mrs. Charles Flowers greeted the guests. Mrs. Fred Page introduced them to the first receiving line in which stood the complete wedding party of 25 years ago, and the son of Dr. and Mrs. Barbee.

In the line were Dr. Barbee, Mrs. Barbee, who was gowned in a model of platinum satin with pink accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds, Spright Barbee, Jr., Mrs. C. P. Mitchell of Burlington, Clyde Barbee of Durham, Mrs. C. W. Cooper of Greenville, Miss Cabell Camper, Dr. Charles Flowers and F. E. Bunn, Zebulon. O. M. Marshburn presented guests to Mrs. Clyde Barbee of Durham who led the way to the second receiving line to which guests were introduced by Mrs. H. A. Adams of Wilmington. In this line were Mr. C. H. Daniel and Miss Dorothy Daniel of Greenwich, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. Sid Lane of Henderson, Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Coltrane; the Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Bradley, Zebulon.

Guests were directed to the library by Mrs. W. B. Williams of Durham and to the dining room by Mrs. F. E. Bunn.

The dining table was covered with an imported lace cloth over silver. An arranged table of pink rosebuds and snap-dragons, from which fell a shower of pink and white streamers tied with valley lilies and silver bells, was at one end of the table; graduated white tapers in silver holders extended to the other end, where Mrs. Charles G. Weathersby of Zebulon and Mrs. C. H. Daniel, of Greenwich, Conn., served ices from a silver tray.

Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Foster Finch, Mrs. Wallace Chamblee, Mrs. A. R. House, Mrs. I. D. Gill, Mrs. R. H. Brantley, Mrs. A. V. Medlin, Mrs. J. E. Bryant, of Cary, and Miss Martha Williams of Clover, Va.

The four tiered wedding cake with reflector and white tapers was on the buffet.

Mrs. H. C. Wade showed the way to the gift room. Mrs. J. K. Barrow and Mrs. Avon Privett presided there. Miss Hazel Carowan had charge of the guest book.

Music was rendered during the evening by Mrs. Bertha Riley Crosby of Wilson, pianist; Ned Stallings of Wilson, violinist; and Walter Barbee of Seaboard, soloist, the musicians and musical program the same as at the wedding 25 years ago.

Assisting with songs of today were Miss Jocelyn House and Mrs. W. D. Barbee, pianists, and Miss Lyda Baucom and Mrs. L. M. Massey, soloists.

A "ceremony" was performed by the Rev. J. W. Bradley, pastor of the bridal couple, as follows: My Dear Fellow Sufferers:

In the presence of these former witnesses, now in the first line, and this august company, we have met to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of this domestic conflict between two of our fortunate friends. If any can show any just reason why this warfare should not continue let him now hold his peace or else forever hereafter tell all the neighbors the reason why.

GEORGE: Among all the social gardens of your knowledge you searched diligently for the most attractive "Flower". In due time and after much persuasion you plucked from all the flower gardens the sweetest and most odiferous of all the "Flowers". Its botanical name was Neva DeElla.

Will you continue to love and protect this tender plant with the 'Barbee' wire fence of your majestic manhood? Will you trim and box it, will you feed it and water it and will you put it in a brick house over winter so long as the moon is bright and the sun goes round the world?

NEVA DeELLA: Will you stick to Georja like a postage stamp? Will you take his pills? Will you sew on his buttons? Will you obey him? Will you play him a little tune when he gets in the dumps? Will you darn his old darned socks so long as the moon is bright and the sun goes round the world?

And now by the power vested in my long tail coat I re-affirm your marriage nuptials and pronounce that you are George and Neva DeElla in the name of Hitler and Mussolini and the jail house of the city of Zebulon, N. C. and when you shall have paid me forty-nine cents marriage fee, so far as my good wishes go, you may live in peace until your diamond wedding anniversary.

Goodbyes were said by Miss Virginia Barbee of Durham to the approximately 325 callers of the evening.

SHOES MISPLACED

On last Saturday, Oct. 22, Jarvis Brantley of Middlesex, R. 2, bought at Kannon's Store a pair of men's black leather shoes, size 7. By mistake he placed them in the wrong car, which he knows was a Ford, black, either a coach or sedan. If the finder will return the shoes to Mr. Brantley or leave them at the Record office, the favor will be deeply appreciated.
