RECORDER'S COURT

Felix Green was charged with A. W. D. W. (assault with a deadly weapon), to wit: a rifle. He claimed his wife came at him with a switch knife when he remonstrated with her for too intimate relations with another man. In self defense he used his rifle (the butt, and not the barrel). Result: a broken arm. She spent 30 days in the hospital. He must pay that bill, the doctor's bill, and the court costs or work the roads for 90 days, and behave himself for two years without choice.

Ike Richardson was also charged with A. W. D. W. on one James Pace with a big stick (and he said it was a BIG stick). Pace said he chased him more than a mile. For the race Ike got three months on the roads which sentence was suspended on condition that he pay a fine of $10 and the costs and be good for two years.

G. F. Walker, a white man from an adjoining county, was accused of drunken driving. The court sustained the charge, fining him $50 and the costs, and taking his license away for one year. He appealed. The man has a government job, and, as appears lately, such jobs at least pay enough to supply the needy with their drinks.

Raleigh Bert Lamb was accused of having a concealed weapon at the Blue Parrot, famous (?) resort east of Zebulon. Found guilty, taxed $50 and costs or work the roads for 60 days.

Hugo Owens for competing with

ABC store: six months on highways.

Abrom Fowler drove his car without a license. Must work on the highways 30 days or pay the cost and get a license before driving again.

Joe Holder borrowed (?) some money off C. B. Eddins Shoe Shop. He will work it out on the roads, serving three months.

The last case on the docket was Floyd Pearce for non-support. Floyd was absent, so a capias was issued for him. If caught he must give a justified bond of $200 to the effect that he will pay back alimony and meet future payments.

MORE COLD

The weather prediction of "mist, probably freezing rain Tuesday with snow" was not received with enthusiasm here. And when on Tuesday the mercury kept falling the cold pinched worse because of a few pretty days. The mist came and was, in fact, an intermittent drizzle that never turned to real rain. Before night icicles were forming at eaves and the general discomfort was greater.

Wednesday morning found a fairly heavy sleet enlarging itself and shrubs and bushes were bowed to its will and weight. Swollen buds gleamed faintly through ice and plowed ground showed gray.

Thursday was rainy and cold, but not freezing.

"REPEATED BY REQUEST"

The first item below is reprinted from This, That and the Other in a Record dated several years ago. The information it contains has been requested by a number of housekeepers and Mrs. Jethro Stell, who had saved the clipping, brought it in, asking that it be given space this week. To save the associate editor the time and trouble of hunting up the item, Mrs. Stell brought the clipping which she had saved all this time. That's the finest kind of cooperation.

Mrs. Stell also brought the recipes given below, both of which are specially good. It will be well for those interested to clip these for filing in their cook-books. They have been requested by many in this community.

If you are bothered with those little things that are called silverfish, you probably want to get rid of them. They look like tiny dragons, are pale, silvery gray in color, and live in bookcases, closets and such places, preferring darkness rather than light, because their deeds are evil. They eat glue, paper and anything that has starch in it, being specially fond of organdy collars.

Mrs. McInness looked up directions for killing them. You must take ten level spoonfuls of flour and mix with it one table spoonful of white arsenic. Stir this into a paste with boiling water and spread it on something flat so that the silver-fish can get to it.

Cotton clothing stored in closets should be well-aired and sunned at intervals to prevent damage by this pest.
