

THIS, THAT, & THE OTHER

By MRS. THEO. B. DAVIS

E. C. Daniel, Jr., came into the office one day last week and talked with me—and listened to me—for some time. E. C. is one of those who deserve the oft-quoted "Local Boy Makes Good" headline. Now with the Associated Press in our Nation's Capital, he looks almost exactly as he did when he used to watch his father and carefully pose in the exact attitudes taken by E. C. Sr. At that time he was only a few years old.

If there's one thing more flattering for an oldster than being paid some special attention by a youngster, it seldom comes my way. And that's one of E. C. Jr.'s habits. It may be that we look more natural to him than the sets that have grown up since he went away to the University; and his own school friends at Wakelon have "dispersed and wandered" considerably; but it is nice to feel that he remembers us.

Two weeks ago my daughter and I saw from the kitchen window a pair of robins teaching a young one to fly. When they at last succeeded in persuading him to use his wings in going from the ground into the holly tree, all three were delighted.

But Crystal and I were a bit worried. The young bird's breast was not red at all, but speckled, and he looked much more like a thrasher than a robin. Crystal told the father bird she feared, if he knew all, he might not be so proud; but, as often happens with suspicious women, we were wrong. I read just now in a magazine that the robin is among the many kinds of birds whose young differ greatly from mature ones in appearance and that the newly-feathered baby robins have speckled breasts.

Going into a local store last week to buy some hose I paused at a rack that displayed them, each pair under the name of its shade. I read "Flirtatious," "Magnetic," "Joyous," "Audacious." None of those stockings could possibly have been meant for me; so I didn't even ask the price, but turned and left the store. I am wondering what will be the names for the shades made for women of my age and status.

Isn't there something you can put into a bag with dried apples to keep the fruit from becoming wormy? Lula Mae, my colored helper, thinks she has heard of china-berries being used, or of spicewood twigs being put in. Having, for the first time in my life, enough dried apples to use through the winter, I am much concerned about keeping them in the best possible condition. And all I know is to shake it around in the bag and sun it occasionally.

When you have more green corn than is needed to cook for one meal, place the ears not used in cold water for a while, then lift them out, wrap in a cloth or put into a paper bag and store in the refrigerator. The extra moisture will prevent drying-out and the kernels will be full and fresh when taken out for cutting or boiling on the cob.

New Faculty of Wakelon Schools For Year 1940-41 Is Announced

Rains Stop; Dam Falls at Tarpley's

Although the dam at Tarpley's mill pond gave way because of the pressure behind it; although the flood waters of Little River have done some damage; this section knows comparatively nothing at first hand of what the recent rain has meant in other sections.

North Wilkesboro in the western part of the state, Roanoke Rapids, Weldon, Williamston, and other eastern towns have been ravaged by rivers swollen far beyond their banks, and in some instances beyond any previous record. Cotton, lumber, cattle and crops have been lost or ruined, hundreds have been forced to leave their homes, some have lost their lives. Relief agencies have been rushed to centers of destruction to give all possible aid and supplies are being forwarded.

Governor Hoey has requested that some usual formalities with regard to unemployment compensation be suspended for victims doubt as to whether, under existing laws, those unemployed because of such reason are entitled to compensation.

Heart Attack Is Fatal To Temple

Charlie Thomas Temple, 60, farmer of Bunnlevel, died at his home Thursday at 5 p. m. of a heart ailment.

Funeral services were held at the home Friday at 2 p. m., and burial was in the Bunnlevel Cemetery.

He was a son of George and Sallie Liles Temple, and was a native of Wake County.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Alice Temple; six sons, Herman, Henry, Grover and Bernice Temple, all of Bunnlevel; James Temple of Burlington, and Jesse Temple of Linden; a daughter, Mrs. Lester McLamb of Dunn, Route 3; two brothers, Maylon and Lorenzo Temple of Zebulon; two sisters, Mrs. Milton Strickland and Mrs. Thomas Whitley of Zebulon; 21 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Contractor Sues Town of Zebulon

Tuesday morning's News and Observer carried an item telling that E. H. Peitzman, trading as United States Elevated Tank Maintenance Company, has filed suit against the town of Zebulon for time and labor lost when town officials stopped work that had been begun and for which the company had a contract. The work in question was on the town water tank and was stopped because it was thought the price was excessive. The amount for which claim is made is $1,018.66.

Wakelon to Open On September 4

With the sound of the school bell less than two weeks in the future it behooves both parents and children to keep in mind the fact that time is short before September 4, opening day at Wakelon.

Pre-school children have had their clinics, and it is hoped, all preventive and curative work necessary has been looked after. They should be ready to begin on the first day for a whole term's work.

Supt. Moser has sent to the RECORD a list of the faculty members for his year and it appears below. Mr. Black is already here and has begun some of his projects. Misses Barrow and House are former Wakelon students. Miss Beam is a niece of the former Miss Beryl Beam, now Mrs. Smith, who once taught music here.

Teachers for the year 1940-41 are E. H. Moser, Prin.; Lewis W. Alexander, Science; Cleaton O. Armstrong, History and Coach; Miss Mamie Beam, English; Stuart J. Black, Agriculture; Miss Dorothy Brake, History and English; Raymond Modlin, French and Latin; Miss Mary Lucy Palmer, Home Economics; Miss Jeannette Peterson, Commercial subjects; Mrs. Mary Meachum Thompson, Math. For grades in grammar school: Seventh Grade, Mrs. F. E. Bunn and Mrs. Wallace Chamblee; Sixth Grade, Miss Ena Dell Anderson and Miss Josephine Dunlap; Fifth grade, Miss Annie Lou Alston and Mrs. Helen Gregory; Fourth grade, Mrs. E. H. Moser and Miss Ada Lee Sitton; Third grade, Miss Mary Barrow and Mrs. Jessie Thurston Spencer; Second grade, Mrs. Bennie Bullock and Miss Ruby Stell; First grade, Mrs. Robert Dawson and Mrs. Fred Page. Public School Music, Mrs. Robert Daniel Massey; piano, Miss Jocelyn House.

We have had several changes in our school faculty this year. Some of these changes came as a result of teachers resigning. We are convinced that many of these changes will mean that the faculty is strengthened. Miss Beam, of Louisburg, takes the place of Miss Swain; Miss Brake, of Rocky Mount, takes Mr. Decker's place; Miss Peterson, of Smithfield, takes Miss Toler's place; Mr. Modlin, of Warrenton, takes Miss Woodard's place; Mr. Black, of Concord, takes Mr. Tuten's place; Mr. Armstrong, of Ayden, takes Mr. Austin's place; Miss Mary Barrow, of Zebulon, takes Miss Clarice Fowler's place. Miss Jocelyn House, of Zebulon, takes Miss Barbee's place as piano teacher.

Each of these new teachers is well qualified and comes to our community with a seriousness of purpose and a determination to render splendid service to our school and community.

Cotton

A United States cotton crop of 11,429,000 bales, of which North Carolina is expected to produce 588,000, has been forecast by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Zebulon Wins Place In Semi-Finals

The Zebulon Zebs will play Selma in the Central Carolina semi-final play-offs beginning Saturday and lasting until one team wins three games.

This series climaxes a Zebulon drive in which the locals dropped but four of 23 games. They rose from the cellar to third place.

Worth Hinton led the Zebulon entry at bat with a percentage of .501. Hinton batted 23 hits for 45 times at the plate. Jack Mitchell came second, batting .488. Bullock was third, batting .400. Woodrow Lindsey took fourth with .378.

Woodrow Lindsey and Jack Mitchell have slammed four homers each. William Bullock and Buck Poole hit two each. Ray Hardee, Jackie Bullock, and Worth Hinton have one each.

Hardin Hinton, star Wakelon High hurler, leads the Zebulon battery with four wins and no losses. Red Benton has won seven out of eight, and Ray Hardee has won seven out of nine.

Zebulon players have hit 14 homes, 6 triples, 18 doubles, and 242 singles. This heavy hitting has produced as many wins as the fine Zebulon pitching.

Be sure to see the semi-finals. The schedule is listed below.

Saturday, August 24—Zebulon at Selma.

Sunday, August 25—Selma at Zebulon.

Wednesday, August 28—Zebulon at Selma.

Saturday, August 31—Selma at Zebulon.

Sunday, September 1—Selma at Zebulon.

War Horses Make Up Attendance

Friday evening the Zebulon Rotary Club met for its 29th consecutive 100 per cent meeting if Robert D. Massey and Albert Medlin make up their attendance. These boys are old war horses in the club and will not break the record.

Robert D. Massey had the program but he couldn't be present so he had Luther Massey to pinch hit in his place. The subject was "What Do Folks Think of Rotary?" Luther made an interesting talk, stating the principles of Rotary; how it was trying to serve the community without pay or honor. It was a credit to any town to have a group of its businessmen get together once a week to discuss the welfare of fellow citizens. Rotary has done much for Zebulon and the community, and is working harder to accomplish greater things.

Ted Johnson of the Raleigh Rotary Club, also past Rotary Governor, was a welcome visitor. He said that he had been a Rotarian for fifteen years and had not missed one meeting; that being a Rotarian had helped him in his business and had been the means of knowing folks better; that being a Rotarian with him was next to his church.

CHURCH

METHODIST CHURCH

Services for Sunday, August 25: Church school—10:00. Church service—11:00. Young people—7:00. We shall be glad to see every member and friend of the church present Sunday.

ZEBULON BAPTIST CHURCH

On Sunday, August 25, the following services will be held in our church:

9:45—Sunday school. 11:00—Morning Worship. Sermon topic: "Jesus, the Guest at Bethany."

7:15—Young Peoples' Groups. 8:00—Evening Service. Message: "The Difference Church Membership Should Make." At this service there will be a special place reserved for all those who have joined the church since June 1st of this year. Following the sermon all these will be welcomed into the fellowship of the church.

G. J. Griffin, Pastor.

SAMARIA

Pastor A. D. Parrish reports a revival that is in progress at Samaria this week. Rev. F. W. Tomberlin from the First Baptist Church in Abbeville, Ala., is assisting the pastor in the meeting. He brings a stirring message and wins a place in the hearts of his hearers.

Samaria is 7 miles east of Zebulon on Highway 95.

The people at Samaria have begun a beautiful house of worship which is being built of brick and cinder blocks, on a pay-as-you-go plan.

HOPKINS CHAPEL

Miss Lucile Newton of Henderson taught a B. T. U. study course at Hopkins Chapel recently. As a result of her work an organization was begun which is making progress, reports the pastor, A. D. Parrish. On Sunday evening, August 11, there were 86 present. On August 18 there were 90. Miss Newton is one of the girls who offered her services to the Central Association for summer church work. Her work with us is commendable.

Rev. G. T. Mills of Green Level will speak to the people Sunday at the close of B. T. U.

WAKEFIELD BAPTIST CHURCH

Services for Sunday, August 25: G. Carl Lewis, Pastor. 10 A. M., Sunday School, Mr. D. D. Chamblee, superintendent. 11 A. M., Worship. Sermon topic, "Lest We Hinder The Gospel of Christ."

M. E. W. M. S.

The Ida Fisher Missionary Society met with Mrs. Wesley Saunders out from Zebulon, known as the old Chamblee home place, Mrs. R. L. Corbett, her daughter from Macclesfield, and Miss Mary Saunders assisting her.

Mrs. Jethro Stell had charge of the program. The meditation was read by Mrs. M. J. Sexton, the Scripture by Mrs. Mike Whit-
