This, That, & The Other

By MRS. THEO B. DAVIS

Whenever anyone is too insistent upon the use of gentleman and lady instead of man and woman, I remember the Negro girl who was my helper years ago. One day she spoke of a neighbor whom she had often mentioned and I asked whether the person was married. Painstakingly she replied: "Yes-sum, she a married lady. But the gent'mun where she marry, he left her and he living with another lady. And this lady, she living with another gent'mun where ain't her husband."

Words carry different meanings to different minds. When I heard a certain woman described as "such a sacred person" it took a little time for me to catch the idea. The speaker meant that her friend was serious in manner and deeply concerned about religion.

Where I grew up we spoke of a "relish" for meals as something spicy, but not specially nourishing, meant to give added flavor to the main items of food. When we lived in a coast town I was surprised to find that a relish there was a substantial dish of meat or fish.

I mean when saying a person is clever that he is skillful or dexterous with his hands, or that he readily catches on when shown how to do a certain piece of work. Sometimes for me the word has a touch of being able to turn things to one's own advantage. A great many use clever as carrying the idea of friendliness and informality. I had to learn that.

Until I remembered the word, "gorge," it was hard to know just what was meant by the man who told me he liked 'possum very much, but seldom ate heartily of it because it is "so gorgeous."

A conversation with one of "Jehovah's Witnesses" revealed to me that she had no idea that religion could mean one's manner of worship based on belief and faith in whatever gods are worshipped; that the Christian religion is one kind and that there are many others. She had religion down in her mind as devil-worship, and fervently asserted her belief that it is one of the greatest evils on earth.

One of the most foolish of all misuses of words is my own. Some fifty years ago I first saw the word "gubernatorial." Not having any idea of its meaning, I fancied it had something to do with peanuts and read it to myself as "goober-natural." It stuck in my head that way and to this day I never read of a gubernatorial candidate without a flash of him as a goober-natural.

When I was a child an oral spelling lesson meant that we spelled the words aloud, standing in class. And to this day when I hear oral hygiene spoken of I have a fleeting notion it means something about clean speech.

County Will Hold Free Mule Clinic

By JNO. C. ANDERSON
County Agent

Have you noticed any loss in weight, unthriftiness, or digestive troubles in your work stock recently? If so, the trouble is no doubt caused by large, round worms which so often do serious damage to work stock; or bad condition of animal's teeth.

In cooperation with our local veterinarians, I am planning a series of horse and mule clinics throughout the county during the period of February 12 to 21.

The purpose of these clinics will be to examine your horses and mules by a graduate veterinarian, and if the veterinarian thinks it well to give the animal treatment, this treatment will be given at a reduced price.

As stated above, the majority of the horses and mules in North Carolina are heavily infested with worms or other internal parasites. Treatment for these parasites should be administered only by a graduate veterinarian, who will be prepared to give the treatment at these clinics at a cost of $1.00 per head. If it is found that your horse or mule needs work on his teeth, the teeth will be filed or floated at a cost of $1.00. Any additional work will be extra, but at a reasonable cost, all dependent upon the amount of work necessary.

I have already had a number of favorable reports from farmers who have had their animals treated for worms, in other counties, and believe you would find this treatment very beneficial to your work stock. Should you want your animals to receive this treatment, however, feed should be withheld for at least 12 hours before the treatment.

A graduate veterinarian will be present at the clinic and the examination will be free.

Below are the dates and places the clinics will be held.

Friday, February 14, 2 p. m.—Rolesville, Bob Williams' shop.

Wednesday, Feb. 18, 2 p. m.—Wake Forest, on lot next to post office.

Thursday, Feb. 19, 9 a. m.—Knightdale.

Thursday, Feb. 19, 2 p. m.—Wendell, W. C. Campen's stables.

Friday, Feb. 20, 2 p. m.—Zebulon, M. C. Chamblee stables.

Meredith Sues O. H. Massey for $9,426.15

Meredith College petitioned Wake Superior Court Saturday for a $9,426.15 judgment and foreclosure on 10 pieces of property in Little River Township.

The judgment was requested in a suit filed against O. H. Massey, et al, claiming that $9,436.15 remains due on $10,000 loaned Massey in 1920.

The complaint alleges the loan was secured by a mortgage on the property and requests the court to appoint a commissioner to sell the land under foreclosure proceedings.—Raleigh Times.

Junior Club

The Junior Club will hold the February meeting next Tuesday night, February 18, at 7:30. Jocelyn House will direct the program.

DEATHS

Mrs. Kate Simpson

Mrs. Katie Simpson of Wake Forest died on Monday and was buried on Tuesday after services held at the Woodland Baptist Church, with the Rev. E. G. Usry officiating.

Surviving are a son, W. L. Simpson of Zebulon; four daughters, Mrs. V. B. Newton, Zebulon; Mrs. J. W. Mitchell, Raleigh; Mrs. C. A. Hockaday and Miss Lorene Simpson, Wake Forest; and a sister, Mrs. Mary Bailey, Raleigh.

Mrs. Ollie McGuire

Mrs. Ollie Chamblee McGuire died at Rex Hospital Tuesday afternoon after a long illness. The burial service will be conducted by the Rev. B. F. Boone at 3 p. m. Thursday at the Methodist church, to which congregation she belonged.

Surviving are the husband, F. H. McGuire; a brother, J. C. Chamblee of Raleigh; two sisters, Mrs. Martha High of Middlesex and Mrs. Lou Wheelless of Wake Forest.

Before her days of invalidism Mrs. McGuire was for years postmaster at Zebulon. She was also active in civic organizations, belonging to the Woman's Club and the Garden Club.

Mrs. M. A. Scarboro

Mrs. M. A. Scarboro, 74, died at Duke Hospital on Wednesday morning. Funeral services will be held at the home on Friday at 3:30 p. m., with burial in the Hephzibah church cemetery.

Mrs. Scarboro is survived by two sons, Charlie R. Scarboro of Zebulon and Walter Scarboro of Wendell; three daughters, Mrs. B. K. Horton, Zebulon; Mrs. Amos T. Dean and Mrs. H. F. White, of Wendell; fifteen grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Recorder's Court

Willie Clement Jones, colored, was charged with assault with a deadly weapon, a knife, and found guilty. He slashed Novie Sue Conyers on the neck. Wes sentenced to roads for three months, said sentence suspended on payment of a fine of $15.00 and the costs.

Edna Ferrell, local young woman, who has for some time taken the freedom of the streets day and night, was sent to the N. C. Industrial School for Women at Kinston for two years.

Johnnie Bissette was prosecuted by his wife for carnal relations with his step-daughter, said relations beginning when the girl was only 11 years old. He was sent to the Superior Court under $5,000 bond, in default of which he was carried to the Wake County jail.

Alvin O'Neal, colored, was charged with the larceny of a red hen and perhaps other hens. The sentence was: 60 days on the roads, or pay a fine of $5.00 and costs and remain of good behavior two years.

Charlie Arrington was charged with assault with a deadly weapon, a knife. Found guilty and sent to the roads for 60 days.

Rotarians Want Town Manager

The Zebulon Rotary Club held its 54th consecutive 100 per cent meeting Friday night, February 7. Vaden Whitley had the program. His subject was, "Would Town Management Be Preferable to Our Present Form of Town Government?" Vaden put up a good argument stating that everybody's business was nobody's business and that there was no one to push the collection of town taxes. The commissioners do not feel that it is their place to go out and try to collect taxes as their own personal business keeps them busy. The town clerk is ready to receive all funds but he does not have the time to go out and collect. Vaden said that a town as large as Zebulon should have one man for this job as it would keep a man busy. He called Albert Medlin, Foster Finch and Luther Massey to express their opinions. All agreed that we need one man on this job. Vaden called for a vote on this in the Rotary Club. The Rotarians voted 100 per cent for town management.

Wilson Braswell was absent, but we are reasonably certain that he will make up this attendance or he will be afraid to come back.

Gale Cox of the Raleigh Rotary Club and Mr. Leonard of the Carolina Power and Light Company were welcome visitors.

Change Is Made In Rural Route

Effective March 1st, the following changes will be made in Rural Routes 1 and 3.

Route 1 will take over the part of Route 3 from Mrs. R. P. Jones corner at Wakefield up Wake Forest Highway to Big Branch by the way of Glory to Hoods corner back to Wakefield. Also will extend from J. D. Rays corner to J. W. Pearces residence.

Route 3 will extend from Fowlers Cross Roads 1.1 miles west to J. W. Briggs residence and retrace to Fowlers, then northwest on Wake Forest road to C. C. Alford's residence and retrace to Fowlers Cross Roads to the present route.

These changes are made to give gate service to a number of patrons who have had to go a long distance for their mail.

Woman's Club

The February meeting of the Woman's Club will be held on Tuesday afternoon of next week with Mrs. B. F. Boone directing a program on The American Home. Hostesses for the day are Mesdames A. V. Medlin and J. G. Kemp. A guest speaker is expected for the program.

Club Supper

Members of the Wakefield Home Demonstration Club will serve a supper at the Woman's Clubhouse in Zebulon on the night of February ... The price will be 35c for a full meal with dessert and tickets will be on sale by the last of this week. Funds cleared will go to repair the damage done to the Wakefield clubhouse by fire some time ago.
