THIS TIME YOU MAY DO IT FOR YOURSELF

With so much to do that we have to work all day long and often a part of the night, with all the Christmas hurry and worry, and now the most awful war the world has ever known coming to our doors, I do not feel physically, mentally or spiritually like even trying to give our readers an editorial opinion or advice on anything.

So I am not advising you. But, as for myself, I hope that during this Christmas season I may be able for a little while at least to shut all the noise out and listen to God. Surely he has a message for each of us if we will only stop long enough to listen to him. Perhaps we need most of all to be still long enough to know that he is God.

After reading again the story of that first Christmas when all the world was filled with joy and peace, let us turn to Matthew 24 and read again what Jesus said about "last things". Particularly note: "And ye shall hear of wars and rumors of wars: see that ye be not troubled."

Reader's Forum

On Sunday morning Mr. Richardson and I drove to Samaria to hear Rev. A. D. Parrish preach. My father, the late Wesley Privett, was a deacon there over 60 years ago. We were delighted to see the present modern, well equipped building. Pastor Parrish announced that up to date all indebtedness has been paid and there is a small fund already begun for choir seats, etc. They had splendid music and the house was filled with interested people. Rev. Parrish is the George Truett type, calm, serene and spiritual. His father and mother were reared in the Wendell community and we felt proud of him.

Another episode came to mind. On the Sunday after the earthquake of 1887 our family, with a lot of neighbors attended in an all-day revival meeting and carried dinner. The evangelist was emotional and plainly showed us that the earthquake was the last fulfillment of the Bible. To me it seemed Gabriel might blow his trumpet any minute. I clung to my mother's dress, afraid to look around. Several women fainted; almost every one shouted.

Much time has passed since then. I would not be surprised if another such day might awaken a sense of duty in some of us.

ties; if she can trust the man completely—an essential in any marriage; if, in short, she is sure she prefers being a wife to a girl, she may be wise in going ahead and marrying now, or soon. Life is short for long waiting—but marriage is forever, or should be.

My one bit of unchangeable advice is that the marriage be announced as soon as it takes place. I hold that the three greatest events, birth, marriage and death, are entitled to all privacy that may be desired by those involved; but in every case results should be made public.

FIDELIS CLASS MEETS

The Senior Fidelis class of the Baptist S. S. met on Monday night in the home of Mrs. Allan Pippin with Mesdames Robert Phillips and Rondal Phillips assistant hostesses. There was only a short meeting, the study course being postponed and no social program being given. After a devotional period led by Mrs. W. A. Allman the business session was directed by the president, Mrs. Rodney Murray. The hostesses served refreshments to the large number present.

FOR SALE—Two Good Stoves Hot Blast. Will sell reasonably. Mrs. A. J. Hunt, Zebulon.

Impressions

While out in the interest of the Zebulon Record recently it has been my good pleasure to meet many friends, and to make contact with many of the citizens of Eastern Wake, Johnson, Nash and Franklin counties, whom I had not known. Everywhere, following U. S. R. F. D. routes—and they do zigzag—I have met with unfailing courtesy and consideration from rich and poor, colored and white.

The impressions on me, in this work, have been varied and numerous, but the one most clear and pleasing is that the farmers as a whole are happier than I have seen them in many years. They have had a better year than many of the lean ones of the past. It is not so hard to smile when there is a little extra cash after expenses have been met. And there is a lot of good corn and other products for both man and beast, wood piles and coal bins are supplied with fuel generally. Altogether it is a happy picture, certainly so compared with war conditions.

Next week I hope to write

SUNBEAMS TO MEET

Mrs. Robert Phillips announces that the Sunbeams of the Baptist church will meet next Sunday for the meeting postponed from last Sunday.

MISS STELL HOSTESS TO CLUB

Miss Ruby Stell delightfully entertained members of the Friendly Nine Bridge Club with Mrs. William Hunt and Miss Mary Barrow as special guests. The living room was attractively decorated with several arrangements of cut flowers.

At the conclusion of several progressions of contract high score prize was presented to Miss Mary Barrow and low to Mrs. Norman Screws.
