know it, you might as well quit that sort of breathing.

Repeating poetry helps sometimes, especially if it is in the meter that has smooth rhythm and short syllables. Like this: "Drop thy still dew of quietness till all our strivings cease."

Or you may find the Psalms soothing. Try saying, "Lord, thou hast been our dwelling-place in all generations. Before the mountains were brought forth or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God."

And, in case you never do get to sleep, remember that scientists now tell us rest is even more important, and that if one lies quietly the strength will be built up to a great extent.
