This, That and the Other

By MRS. THEO. B. DAVIS

Having been born and reared in the country, I had reached the stage of being proud of it when procedure beyond my control made a town citizen of me, and now it seems I am to become stylish as well as town-ish. For patches are becoming fashionable. Truly, some have greatness thrust upon them.

The magazine, LIFE, in its latest edition, illustrates patches and patching, printing an article telling how they are put on and worn. You may, it says, wear a patch made as nearly invisible as possible and kept sort of secret, or you may put it on to show plainly and wear it with a swaggering pride. I know the first way already and may learn the other.

The reason for this article is the need to conserve all material and make few calls or none for new things.

Can any one tell me what has happened to cape jessamine bushes around here? Am I wrong in thinking there are not nearly so many as formerly? Ours were so badly burned when our home was, that they've never done right since. We made the mistake of resetting them without taking out all the injured pieces from the clumps; and now we shall have to tear them apart after all these years and see if they will do better. Should they be planted on the north or the south side of the house? Where I came from they always had to be potted and kept indoors through the winter, and I am not sure as to what is best for them in this climate.

Sitting Sunday evening with my youngest grandson in my lap I remembered all at once how my grandmother used to take her infant grandchildren on her knees when they were carried to visit her; how she would remove their little caps and say soothingly, "Yes, he wants Grandma to rub behind his ears." She would gently stroke and rub around and back of the baby's ears and he—or she—never failed to cuddle down in deep satisfaction.

I tried it with Leary. Twice he looked up at me, wide-eyed, then with a sigh of relaxation he settled down just as blissfully as any great-aunt or uncle ever did at his age. Now Grandma was born a hundred and six years ago, and most probably her grandmother rubbed around her ears. Babies don't change much or fast.

Baptist Church

Services for Sunday, April 19: 9:45, Sunday School 11:00, Morning Worship. Sermon subject: "Christ Among the Commonplace" 7:30, Young People's service 8:00, Evening Service. The second discussion in a series begun last Sunday will center this evening around the topic: "Baptist Beliefs"

The South Side Circle of the Baptist W. M. S. meets with Mrs. G. K. Corbett next Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. Mrs. Harold Eddins has the program in charge.

Tuberculosis Is Object of Drive

Mrs. Charles Flowers Is Made Chairman for Zebulon

The Early Diagnosis Campaign of Zebulon and community will get under way beginning April 20. The purpose of this drive will be to check any increase of this disease that the county may be facing and also to educate the public. Early diagnosis of tuberculosis means not only early recovery but prevention of the spread of the disease.

If you know any active or suspicious cases of tuberculosis that are not treated by a doctor and they live in Wake County, please report them to Mrs. Charles E. Flowers.

One of the features of the Early Diagnosis Campaign is the free clinic in the Health office at Old Rex Hospital. Those who fear they might have tuberculosis or want to check on their progress are eligible to have fluoroscopic pictures made without charge.

This campaign will take place through Wakelon School. The young girls who have completed their course in Home Hygiene and care of the Sick will be in charge and will distribute pamphlets and put up posters.

There is nothing to sell and nothing to buy, but you are asked for your full cooperation to make this a healthier and happier community.

Mrs. Charles E. Flowers.

New Registration

A new volunteer Civilian Defense registration will be held in the old Kannon Cafe building next to the bank on Thursday, April 16, beginning at 10:00 A. M.

This is an opportunity for every individual in our community to do his bit toward winning this war by offering service for volunteer work.

If you have registered before it is necessary that you register again as classification cards have arrived which were not available at that time.

If you are available for any type of volunteer work please come and let us know about it.

Mrs. C. G. Weathersby, Mrs. I. D. Gill, Committee.

H.-D. Club

On Wednesday, April 22, the Home Demonstration Club meets at the usual hour at Wakefield. One week later the Butterick Fashion show at State College will be open to users of Butterick patterns.

C. L. Driver, now in service with U. S. armed forces in the Hawaiian Islands. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Onnie Driver of near Zebulon.

Many Local Men Are Now Abroad

Several Are Given Promotions In Armed Services

Walter A. Oakley, Jr., former resident of Zebulon, now serving in the U. S. Army Air Corps, is now a technical sergeant. Sergeant Oakley joined at Fort Bragg in March, 1939, and served a year in the artillery, transferring to the air corps at Shreveport, La. He was married at Shreveport in August, 1940, and was shortly afterwards transferred to Savannah, Ga., for a year.

His rating came within short periods beginning with promotion to Corporal in January, 1941.

He is now stationed in South Carolina. His wife was a recent visitor with his mother and father of Zebulon.

Sgt. Oakley has a brother, Wilbur, with the army somewhere in the war zone.

Cpl. Thurman Pate is with the Marines in Hawaii. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Pate of Route 1, Zebulon, have heard from him recently. He joined the Marines in June, 1940, soon after graduating from Wakelon high school.

Pvt. Rayo F. Bailey, son of Mrs. C. E. Parrish, Zebulon, Route 2, and the late Joe Bailey, is with the Army in the Pacific war zone. He was graduated from Corinth-Holder High School in 1936 and has been in the Army since last October.

Pvt. Ollie J. Perry, son of Mrs. O. W. Perry of Neuse, Route 1, is with the Coast Artillery in Hawaii. He was drafted last September, writes his mother that he likes Hawaii. He has these brothers and sisters, all living at Neuse, Route 1: Ruth, Beth Mae, Lura, Samuel and Claude Perry.

Edward Chow Is To Be Here Tues.

Chinese Student To Address Woman's Club Then

The meeting of the Woman's Club on next Tuesday afternoon promises to be of special interest. The program is on International Relations and the speaker is Edward Chow of China, student at Wake Forest College. Those interested are invited whether club members or not. The hour is 4:00 p. m. Mesdames A. V. Medlin and W. G. Temple are hostesses for the day.

Negro Baptists Hold Meeting

Negro Baptists of the Wake County Association met in extra session with the local organization on Thursday of last week, the meeting being largely attended and the program of much interest. Rev. George S. Stokes of Middlesex is moderator of the association and presided over the sessions Thursday. Zebulon Negro Baptists had made ample and adequate preparation for entertaining their guests and served an abundant dinner on the grounds at the intermission. Representatives of the different departments of work were present to speak.

Jr. Woman's Club

The Junior Woman's Club will meet on Tuesday night, April 21, at the usual hour. Because there is to be a discussion of various types of furniture the club will meet in the Furniture Department of Zebulon Supply Store. All members are urged to attend this last regular meeting preceding the annual picnic.

Peanuts Prove Profitable to Glover

A. E. Glover, Wendell, Rt. No. 1, says "you can tell farmers that peanuts are just as profitable as cotton if properly planted, cultivated and harvested. I have had a number of years experience in growing peanuts in both Wake and North Hampton counties," says Mr. Glover, "and always found the crop just as profitable as a crop of cotton. The peanuts should be planted during the early part of the crop is about ready to lay by. At that time, I use cotton sweeps and turning plows for bedding and laying by the crop. It usually requires about four or five pecks of shelled peanuts to plant an acre."

"I have also found peanut hay a good feed," continued Mr. Glover, "and believe that more of our Wake County farmers who have light sandy soil should plant a few acres of peanuts."

Bob Sawyer Is Rotary Speaker

Rotary continues to hold 100 per cent meetings. Bob Sawyer had the program last Friday evening, his subject being, "Small business and the solution for its success during the emergency." Bob stated that some groceries had advanced as much as 50 per cent. People in the rural sections were buying closer to their home to save auto tires. This was hurting business; folks who had been going to cities and larger towns were buying from their local stores to save tires; but on the whole small businesses were suffering.

Vaden Whitley and Ferd Davis were called on to make 5-minute talks. They spoke in hopeful tones for small business.

Jr.-Sr. Banquet Is Held Friday

Wakelon's annual Junior-Senior banquet was held on Friday night of last week and was, as usual, a highlight of the scholastic year. Wilbur Pearce was toastmaster. Other pupils on the program were Elsie Privette, Howard Starnes, Effie Jane Bridges, Faye Carter, Harold Pippin, Eloise Bobbitt, Dorothy Mizelle, Eldred King, Rochell Doyle, Fred Page. Responding to toasts were Mr. Moser, F. D. Finch, Mrs. T. C. Pippin, and Miss Mamie Beam. Miss Bridget Palmer sang a solo.
