This, That and the Other

By Mrs. Theo. B. Davis

Since first hearing of Harvest Sales at churches I have wanted to attend one; but until last Friday there had been no chance to do so. Then, with a special invitation from the Thanksgiving Baptist Church in Johnston County, my husband and I joined the crowd that assembled first as a congregation in the church auditorium and heard a sermon by Dr. Forrest Feezor of Raleigh. Dr. Feezor had chosen an appropriate text—"Ye are God's farms." That man knows a lot about farming and used his knowledge to press home the truths presented.

Thanksgiving church has been moved to a new site, has been repainted inside and out, a baptistery has been installed and new carpet bought. They were sorry the carpet had to be sent back because it was not the color ordered; but they ought to be glad it didn't have to take the dirt all of us would have carried in from the ground outside that had been plowed in preparation for planting shrubbery. Already the church is unusually attractive, and when the landscaping is far enough along to show up it will be still more beautiful.

From the church we were invited to a pine grove where there was a barbecue pit under a shelter, long tables and benches. In addition to the barbecue and slaw there was a regular feast of chicken, mutton, beef, ham, with salad sandwiches, cakes and coffee—and it was all free. I saw a boy about four earnestly at work upon a plate of food. He had barbecue, a chicken leg, some ham, a weiner, two sandwiches, biscuit, pickle, three pieces of cake. And I smiled to hear an elderly lady tell several persons in succession that she didn't eat much breakfast that morning. She couldn't have said that about her dinner. However, there was food enough left to have fed many more.

The auction began as soon as all had eaten. The auctioneer was a Mr. Sanders, but I don't know where he came from. He knew his business and did faithful work. He "cried" farm produce, pantry supplies, vegetables, three bales of cotton, honey, flowers, chickens, collards, lightwood, straw brooms, pigs, a calf. I saw a half-gallon jar of pickled peaches go for $11.00. A slatted sunbonnet and apron to match, made of print, brought $25.00 after being modeled by a stout gentleman. A fat 'possum brought $8.50. A string of popcorn was run up to $5.15. Many other items brought about what they would on the market.

A large table was filled with cakes wrapped in cellophane. Dr. R. E. Earp had secured a special allotment of sugar for those who baked the cakes and each one was a masterpiece. They brought from $6.00 to about $3.00. Six pounds of honey was sold for $3.00.

We had to leave long before the sale was over and I do not know the total amount taken in. But I have an idea Thanksgiving's fi-

CHURCH NEWS

REV. BOONE LEAVING

Pastor B. F. Boone of the Methodist Church, having completed four years of service here, has been moved to Fairmont, a larger field of work. The Boones have made many warm friends in Zebulon and Wendell and their going brings sadness. This, however, will not interfere with the welcome extended the new pastor and wife, the Rev. C. F. Vale and Mrs. Vale, who come here from Murfreesboro.

BAPTIST CHURCH

On Sunday, Nov. 15, Men and Missions Sunday will be observed in the Zebulon Baptist Church. This is a part of a nation wide movement to call attention to the value of missionary work in war-times. Churches in more than 2,500 cities and towns throughout the country will participate in the observance of this special day, which is sponsored by the Layman's Missionary Movement, an inter-denominational organization. Will you come to church Sunday?

Kennedy Home Chorus To Sing Over WPTF

A Chorus, composed of high school boys and girls of Kennedy Home, will be heard each Sunday through December through WPTF, Raleigh.

Pat Alderman is director.

The Kennedy Home is the eastern branch of the N. C. Baptist Orphanage. Since present conditions make much travel impossible, the management deeply appreciates the opportunity afforded by WPTF. Programs originate in the chapel at the Home and will doubtless be heard with deep interest. Listen in at 1:15 p. m. each Sunday of this year.

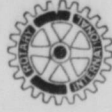

nances are pretty well taken care of for another year.

Worthy of special mention was the fellowship of the day. Dr. R. E. Earp and Pastor Tom Freeman were no more cordial than were less widely known members of the church. All seemed genuinely glad to greet visitors and each other.

Of course there was much good-humored joking and laughter during the auction, but I did not hear anything irreverent and not once did I hear the auctioneer urge any one to buy because it was a church sale.

In conclusion I pay tribute of respectful admiration to those who were at the head of arrangements for the day. Back of every success must be thorough preparation, and their task required enthusiasm, wisdom and days of plain hard work. For their example even more than for my dinner, I thank them.

Remember, you must send or take your Basic Mileage Application to your local Board, certifying that you do not own over 5 tires, or it will be illegal for you to buy gasoline on or after November 22.

MOSER SPEAKS AT MEET

At every meeting the Rotary checks upon what is being done and can be done in regard to scrap iron and the sales of war bonds. They are 100 per cent in this vital matter and have gone far in gathering scrap iron and the sale of bonds.

The following Rotarians are in the armed forces: Ferd Davis, Barkton Antone and Bob Sawyer. They will continue to be 100 per cent members as long as they are in service.

Professor Moser's subject was taken from the book of Job. It was one of Job's expressions when he was in a despondent mood. As the sparks fly upward so is man born of trouble. He stated that man had almost from his beginning tried from time to time to work out some theory whereby wars could be prevented. Many philosophers have written books on how to keep peace on earth but all propositions failed. Man was saying during the world war one, that we were fighting to prevent war and that would be the last war. In less than 20 years a second world war came and it is expected to be worse than the first. There will be other wars too. It seems the instinct of man to want some things that belong to the other fellow. Professor Moser stated that Christ in his sermon on the Mount gave to man the only philosophy he has ever known that will prevent future wars. When we can agree to go the extra mile, then and then only will there be everlasting peace.

Mr. Moser gave the Rotary Club food for thought in regard to world peace.

Recorder's Court

With a lighter docket than usual the following cases were disposed of in Recorder's Court here Nov. 4.

Janning Crowder plead guilty to a charge of drunken driving and a sentence of 90 days was suspended on payment of $50 and costs and a promise not to operate an auto in the state for one year.

Andrew Bridgers, charged with non-support of his child had his case nol prossed with leave.

Dock Cherry plead guilty of public drunkenness and was fined one dollar and costs.

A. B. Parker was found guilty of careless and reckless driving. A 60-days sentence was suspended if the defendant pays Joseph Hall $150 property damage plus payment of costs of the case.

Theodore Robertson was charged with larceny. A 3-months sentence on the roads was suspended if costs are paid and defendant placed on probation one year under supervision of Probation Commission.

Wesley O'Neal plead guilty of being drunk and disorderly and received a 30-days sentence, suspended on payment of costs and $5.00 fine.

Buddie Barnes plead guilty of disorderly conduct and was fined one dollar plus costs of the case.

Woman's Club

SPECIAL MEETING INVITATION

The Zebulon Woman's Club will honor mothers and wives of our boys in the armed forces from Zebulon and Wakefield communities on Tuesday, November 17, at 3:30 p. m. at the clubhouse in Zebulon. If any mother or wife has not received an invitation, this is due to lack of information, so please write or call Mrs. R. H. Brantley, club secretary, Zebulon, to say whether you will be present.

Scrap Campaign Most Successful In Town's History

Probably no other campaign has aroused more interest or proved so successful in North Carolina as the scrap campaign lately waged under the sponsorship of the newspapers of the state. Large prizes were offered for the largest community and individual piles. These prizes were paid by contributions from the newspapers. In addition to cash gifts, thousands of dollars in advertising were spent by the newspapers. The Zebulon Record gave both cash and publicity to the effort amounting to nearly $100.

The people in the country responded in a splendid way. Many individuals personally raised many pounds of metal. Among these W. I. Hopkins led with 13,925 pounds. Cecil Hopkins came second with 13,125 pounds. Wakelon school brought in 26,740 pounds, receiving $149.74 for it. This will be used in the purchase of library supplies. The town of Zebulon collected 43,965 pounds, receiving $246.20. There was about $100.00 paid out in expenses. The balance will be used for any community need with the approval of a committee of citizens selected for that purpose. The total amount of scrap collected was 97,755 pounds, bringing in $547.41.

However, the campaign was not ended. There is still considerable old iron and castings lying around many homes that is useless except for war purposes. Let everyone keep a lookout for such, collect it together and then, when coming to Zebulon, throw it in the car and leave it at the town junk piles opposite the town manager's office. One woman we know is picking up every old rusty nail she sees and will soon have several pounds to bring in to help nail the hide of some Jap or German to the wall. And each of us can do this, thus helping in a practical way to win the war.
