DEPARTMENT OF POLITICS

Wake Forest College has sent its graduates into every walk of life. More than once even outside the student body things have happened in connection with the college affairs that showed that Trustees and Faculty were not adverse to playing a little political game of their own. Just now such a program seems about to be brought to its completion successfully in getting the Baptist State Convention to rubber stamp a somewhat premature action of the Board of Trustees. We believe the representatives from the churches should, after due deliberation in Convention assembled, pass on such matters before action by any lower authority. Perhaps the Trustees were right as to the thing done, but we question the wisdom of how it was done.

THAT EDUCATIONAL AMENDMENT

What seemed one time to be certain defeat to the proposed Constitutional Amendment prepared by a coalition of educators and politicians was turned to a victory by a few words from Governor Broughton. And now, the voters can wait and see how little different the whole Board of Education will be a few years hence from what it will be immediately after the Governor's setup.

THE UNITED WAR FUND

No doubt there are many people who yet think they will be able to escape suffering and sacrifice during this war. It may get the other fellow into paying the bills or surrendering his life, but not them. In the present United War Fund campaign, probably many more people refused or just did not give anything to the campaign than those who did. If a person ever had an opportunity to do something for his country and for his fellow man, this campaign afforded him the opportunity to do it. Even our self-respect would not let us deny ourselves the privilege of a greatly needed and most unselfish service to human beings who are suffering and dying for the ideals and freedom that the Allies are fighting and dying for. It is not too late to give. Send in your contribution to Chairman Brown.

SCRAP CAMPAIGN STILL ON

Don't forget scrap will be needed till the Axis are whipped. And when we say whipped, we mean whipped to a frazzle, so they can never repeat the awful carnage now being done by them. So, everywhere you go, look out for scrap. Pick it up, even a nail or old tin can, and save it. The war will last another year if not longer and millions of pounds of scrap will be needed. Even if each individual picks up a pound each a month it means that in a year the people of the United States will furnish one billion and fifty six million pounds. Every little bid helps, and if it was ever needed, it is now.

THE JOKE'S ON UNCLE SAM

We have referred before to the tremendous waste of time, postage and paper in the several special setups supposed to help win the war. This amount extends into the millions, said Senator Byrd. Perhaps all this is taken seriously by most of the people so occupied. But that does not prevent such inexcusable waste.

But there is another phase of the same matter that would be laughable if it was not so foolish. No one has ever taken a comic strip seriously. They are prepared to entertain the wise and foolish. As such institutions, they are established beyond redemption for other purposes. Yet, supposedly practical men have taken Lil' Abner, Popeye and other comic characters and put them into strips to help build up morale. And we have read them with the usual interest, seeing in them nothing more than a joke. Yes, we doubt not but that the biggest joke of the win the war effort is found here. The joke is all on the government, and the people must pay the bill.
