

*This, That And
The Other*

By Mrs. Theo B. Davis

In weather such as we are having now I take pleasure in remembering the seventh chapter of Revelation in which John describes the great multitude which no man could number, clothed in white robes and with palms in their hands. Especially do I like the promise "neither shall the sun light on them, nor any heat."

Speaking of things Biblical reminds me that the Book of the Month Club chose Scholem Asch's The Apostle for June's offering. My son's wife has it and I have begun reading about Paul, for he is the apostle mentioned in the title. It is too early for me to have a definite opinion of the book as a whole; but the beginning is fine.

Always I love to read about Paul, and I have enjoyed the study of his life in the series of Sunday School lessons just ended. But I never understand all he was nor all he meant.

And to me it was pathetic to note how when he was old, sick and in prison he kept calling the young preacher Timothy his son. Although Paul declared years before that he had a right to lead about a wife, he never exercised that right, but remained a bachelor. Perhaps at the last he was even more lonely than he had thought he would be, and at times imagined how it would have been with a son of his own.

The roads to Rome have seen horror and strife over and over. But surely the Appian Way has known no greater tragedy than when Paul was beheaded on it.

And now Sunday School pupils go back to the study of the Israelites in the Old Testament. I love that period of Jewish history. You remember last winter that we stopped those lessons with the burial of Moses by the angels.

"On Nebo's lonely mountain
On this side of Jordan's wave;
In a vale in the land of Moab."
We resume the lessons with Joshua as leader of his people. And we have a treat in prospect, provided we are willing to do some studying or even some careful listening. You need not strain to find spiritual applications for all the passages from the Bible; read as you would, the war bulletins of today.

In particular read and re-read "Be strong and of a good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed."

A letter from the youngest son, now in Italy, said he listens to the German broadcasts and had just heard of the sinking (again) of the entire Pacific fleet by the Japanese; also that broadcasts had told of the killing of about 200 per cent of the invading forces.

Fifth War Bond Sale Goes Over Top

Saturday was sunny and hot, but that did not prevent the Fifth War Bond Sale in Zebulon from going along with a big bang—the biggest sale of the five thus far. By three o'clock the Army band from Camp Butner had arrived, the truck loaded with prizes—something, as banker Brown said, of almost everything sold in Zebulon stores—was placed at the place of the auction sale; Taylor's sound truck was still blaring out its call to the folks gathered along the streets wherever there was a shade, to come and buy bonds. The band—a good one—paraded up and down the main business streets with honks, toots and booms a-plenty, and then settled in the shade of the Zebulon Supply Co.'s building, where from time to time music to cool the hot crowd sounded forth.

Dr. Massey opened with an appeal to every one to buy bonds, stressing the urgent need of funds just now to prosecute the war. Messrs. Moore and Banks of Raleigh were the auctioneers and were good ones. Mr. Banks had been here in former sales, but Mr. Moore was new in Zebulon, but, as evidenced, not new at his job. Mr. R. O. Heater, the rural director, was present and helped put the sale over.

A total of $62,500 worth of bonds were sold. Mr. Fred Page gave a German pipe which he brought back with him from the first World War, and wanted $10,000 for it. Avon Privette gave it and then some one accidentally broke it, but not beyond repair. The Peoples Bank and Trust Co., through Mr. Brown, said they would give a $25 bond if J. K. Barrow would buy it for $10,000. Brown did, Barrow did, and the crowd applauded. A number of dollar bills were sold, bringing an average of $100. Cold drinks were in demand, bringing $25 or more. Many other prizes were given—a few of them: coffee, cigarettes, lard, meat—hams and shoulders—rakes, brooms, syrup pitchers, photos, stock powders, hose, egg baskets, and a great many other articles contributed by business firms. Everybody seemed to have a good time.

Little River's allotment is $136,875. No canvassing has been done in the country, but the local committee will continue the campaign until the township is covered. This Fifth Bond Sale so far is the best yet—the amount subscribed Saturday being the most of any auction sale of five held. So, the people are asked to continue their efforts to raise the total allotment. Don't wait for the Committee to come to see you. You may buy bonds—any amount from $25 up to a million! $18.75 will pay for a $25 bond; $75 will buy a hundred dollar bond. People who wish to make a good investment should buy bonds. Should an emergency arise, the bank will gladly make a loan on your bonds. Bonds are on sale at the local bank and the Zebulon post office.

To the People of this Community

There will be a feeling of shame in this community if we find ourselves short of the mark when the Fifth War Loan comes to an end July 8.

We will not permit that to happen here, especially if we look around in our homes and our places of employment and see the shadows of relatives and friends who today are in the midst of bloody battle for us.

We cannot emphasize too strongly that regardless of the size of the oversubscription of our community quota, the Fifth War Loan will be a flat failure for you if you do not exceed anything you have done in the past in War Bond buying.

In this invasion hour our fighting men have a right to demand that you make your record contribution to the success of a war loan.

The slogan, Back the Attack—Buy More Than Before, is not merely a catch phrase. It expresses the cold facts about invasion. Unless we make the supreme effort to do everything humanly possible either at our work benches or in our homes with our sweat, our blood and our dollars we hand over our share of the burden to our fighting men. THE EDITOR.

To the People of this Community

The next time you write to your fighting man or fighting woman tell him or her what you have done about the Fifth

War Loan. You can take the word of General Eisenhower that your man or woman in uniform will be deeply interested.

Your War Bond buying is a good tip-off to them about the state of affairs in your home. The headlines in this newspaper on the progress of the drive, the items about participating individuals, the character of the Fifth War Loan special events—all these things reflect the morale back home.

Do you like to read a sorry headline about the invasion fronts. Our fighting forces, made up of individuals with the same reactions to good and bad as you, will not be heartened to read: "Fifth War Loan Lags."

Your silence in your letter about your part in the Fifth War Loan will mean non-interest, perhaps non-participation to the recipients. It's up to you to make your letters cheerful. Write today. Write often. Write about your war work, your war support. Double your best previous War Bond buying record and then shout it to the house-tops—just to that special service man. THE EDITOR.

To the People of this Community

There are many urgent reasons for buying War Bonds. First, the invasion needs money. Bonds pay for planes and guns and munitions with which to beat the Axis. Our fighting men must have the best possible equipment and it is up to us to let our money provide this.

A second reason is this: There is a shortage of goods now. Later on there will be plenty for civilian desires. Money put into War Bonds now will be available then. Business opportunities will be open then, too, and the "nest egg" saved now may hatch out commercially then.

Money put into War Bonds now will be deprived of its current potentiality as a part of the causes of inflation. You will be doing your part toward stabilizing the money situation by buying Bonds instead of dwindling stocks. That is a third reason.

But the best reason from a selfish viewpoint is this: Right now there is no better investment than War Bonds. There is no safer repository for your money. By buying Bonds you become a stockholder in the strongest "going" concern in the world today, the United States of America. THE EDITOR.
