

Years ago I heard of a lady who invited town friends out for a "jam party" when her raspberries were ripe. The guests picked berries and made jam, getting their dinner and a glass of jam apiece. It was a nice party—for the hostess.

And last week I read of a laundry party given by a Charlotte girl. Her guests brought their washing; they washed in the morning, had lunch, rested, and then ironed. Even in wartime no one could object to a party like that. And, after all, a party is largely a state of mind, so the outward appurtenances don't matter so much.

As I looked over some of the youngest son's clothing the next oldest son's wife was dozing on the couch. I had mended several garments, but came to a pair of pants with a big frayed hole in the seat; one of those three-cornered tears that are mean to fix, and I feared my work might not pass critical inspection.

"Selma," I called, "is the Air Corps very particular about patches?" "They certainly are," she replied. "Every one has to be placed about an inch and a half, I believe it is, below the shoulder."

"Well," I said, "that may be; but I can't see what good a patch on his shoulder would do a man with a hole in the seat of his pants."

Selma roused wholly then and explained she was talking about those round, embroidered things that are the insignia, while I had in mind the plain, garden variety of patch.

More and more, as the years pass, I wish to understand music and musical terms. For a long time the only polonaise I knew was a kind of dress, a little on the order of a redingote, but draped and trimmed. When, finally, I heard of Chopin's composition by that name I had to go to the dictionary to learn that the word comes from a Polish dance for which the music is the polonaise. It was also interesting to find that Largo means slow and stately music. Take that one we call "Going Home", from The New World Symphony by Dvorak. Just saying some one will play the Largo means very little to us who are not musicians. But give us an idea what to expect and we can settle down happily for a long spell of listening.

Words mean a lot, too, in teaching us rhythm and melody. I've mentioned "Going Home", and the other day I came across "Bells Keep Ringing On" for that same music. I've an idea ten people know Londonderry Air as "Dannie Boy" to one who remembers the real title.

Years ago I studied a showy piece called "The Storm". It was mainly thunder in low bass notes and flashes of lightning high on the treble keys. My performance gave a most erratic storm. My thunder too often came ahead of the lightning and wobbled instead of crashing fiercely. My lightning never struck anything—not even the right keys at times. Still, I used it on one occasion when I had a boarding school date and wanted to impress my caller. He was most appreciative and complimented my playing. But he said he wished I'd sing it as well as play. The thought of trying to sing all those bass chords had me almost hysterical and I felt most tactful in explaining my inability to sing and play at the same time. But now I know that boy had the right idea. He was trying to find something to give sense to what I was doing.

In Service

With the 38th Division on Luzon—Pfc. Alvin T. Brantley, husband of Mrs. Turmilla Brantley of Zebulon, is now in action with the 149th Infantry, 38th Division, on the central Luzon front.

Pfc. Brantley is a pioneer and demolitions man in an Infantry battalion headquarters. His main job has been getting food and ammunition up to the front line companies, but he also specializes in blowing Jap pillboxes with the 30 pound satchel charge, filled with TNT.

Before entering the Army in July 1942, Pfc. Brantley worked on his family farm near Middlesex. Prior to the invasion of Luzon, he had served in Hawaii, New Guinea, and Leyte. He has been awarded the Combat Infantry Badge, and the Asiatic-Pacific and Philippine Liberation Campaign Medals.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barley Brantley, also reside in Zebulon.

Sgt. George Henry Temple, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Temple, is in the States again after an extended absence on overseas duty. He is enjoying a 45-days furlough from the Medical Detachment to which he belongs, and arrived in Zebulon last week. His wife, formerly of New Jersey, is with him here.

An Eighth Air Force Fighter Station in England.—The promotion of David W. Windsor of Guyton, Ga., from the grade of second lieutenant to the grade of first lieutenant has been announced at the 361st Fighter Group airman's station.

The P-51 Mustang flier participated in the Eighth Air Force's better than two year aerial assault upon the Nazi homeland, helping reduce Germany to unconditional surrender.

He is the son of Mrs. Pearl B. Windsor of Zebulon and is married to Mrs. Doris S. Windsor of Guyton, Ga.

Augusta, Georgia.—Pfc. Raymond C. Driver, Jr., of Rt. 2, Zebulon, has arrived at the Oliver General Hospital here from overseas for further medical treatment.

Oliver General Hospital is one of the Army's great medical institutions, and has a bed capacity of 3,000.

Friends of the new arrival are asked not to telephone because of congested wire facilities. Mail is welcomed by every patient and is handled rapidly.

Major Ferd Davis leaves Sunday for the Philippines after representing the XIII Air Force at a conference in Florida and a thirty-days rest leave at home.

Pfc. Charles C. Creech of Zebulon has been admitted to Moore General Hospital, Swannanoa, N. C., for treatment. He has served in Sicily and Italy with the Infantry, participating in the battles of Sicily, Salerno, and Anzio, and has been awarded the Combat Infantry Badge. Pfc. Creech entered the service in June, 1941, and was stationed at Fort Bragg, N. C. See MEN IN SERVICE, Page 2

Zebulon Called On To Buy $20,000 E Bonds In Week

Zebulon and Little River Township is called upon to buy $20,000 in E Bonds before June 30th.

Zebulon has gone over its quota in buying one hundred and fifty-seven thousand dollars in the seventh war bond drive, but the E Bond quota is behind $20,000. It is hoped that we may exert the effort necessary to buy an extra bond before June 30th. If you buy a bond this week you may secure a ticket to the army show, "The Landd I Love", given at the auditorium in Raleigh Friday evening, June 22. The tickets are given when you buy the bond from the bank or post office.

FARM SLAUGHTERERS

Farm slaughterers here in Eastern North Carolina were reminded this week by the OPA district office of the July 1 deadline for registration.

All farmers who slaughter, or have slaughtered for them as much as 400 pounds a year, but less than 6,000 pounds, must apply for a slaughtering permit by July 1, or they will be prohibited from such slaughter for the balance of the year, said the OPA release.

Permits may be obtained from the Local War Price and Rationing Board, OPA said today. The permit entitles the farmer to do the same amount of slaughtering as in the corresponding period last year.

It was also stressed that farmers who sell meat must collect ration points according to the official point chart provided by the Board, and must agree to hold all prices within the legal ceilings.

MRS. M. G. MARKHAM

Mrs. J. D. Horton, Major Robert K. Horton, Mrs. Eugene Privette, Judd Robertson and his sisters, Mrs. Tom Broughton of Garner and Mrs. Clem Godwin of Caotes, went to Durham Monday to attend the funeral service for Mrs. W. S. Markham, formerly Miss Annie Horton of Zebulon.

Mrs. Markham's death leaves only three members of one of this community's oldest families: one brother, William Horton, died last year.

Zebulon Airmarker Assured As Fund Grows, But Slowly

The Record's Drive to raise $75 to pay for painting an airmarker in Zebulon moves steadily forward. Slowly we are nearing the goal with six new names added to the list of donors to the cause. They are:

ALLEN PIPPIN (USN)
BOGEN DEPARTMENT STORE
T. C. PIPPIN
ZEBULON DRUG COMPANY
PAGE'S STORE COMPANY
THE ZEBULON GIN

The marker, which was painted out when America entered the war will be painted in a new location, unless the old location proves to be satisfactory to Civil Aeronautics Authority officials and will be visible to pilots nearly a mile in the air.

After the original cost of painting has been met, the CAA will take care of upkeep and repainting when needed.

The names of all contributors will be published on this page of the Record. Ted Davis is chairman of the committee for the Record, and is contacting as many people as possible, personally. If you don't see him, just mail your donation to AIRMARKER, care The Zebulon Record, Zebulon, N. C., and a receipt will be mailed you and your name will appear as one of the donors to this worthy objective.

Besides the donors listed above, are these listed last week:
