Bob Sawyer Discusses Freezer Locker Plant With Rotary Members

Bob Sawyer, manager of Colonial Frozen Foods of Zebulon, spoke to the Zebulon Rotary Club Friday night about the locker plant here, quoting statistics which proved that the business has been of unusual service to the community.

Financed by Don Johnson, Sr., of Wake Forest, the plant here paid its way from the beginning. Every locker was sold and the rental money deposited in the bank before construction work was begun. Credit for this preliminary work, said Bob, goes directly to the Rotary Club.

Recounting the history of the locker plant, Bob told how the members of the Rotary Club had realized the need of the plant and gone to work to get it.

Last year the Zebulon plant was instrumental in saving thousands of pounds of pork which would have been lost if freezing facilities had not been available. Hog cholera attacked the animals during warm weather forcing farmers to kill while the temperature was too warm for saving the meat. Instead of losing the pork, as would have happened in years past, it was brought to Zebulon and processed in the local plant.

Not only does Colonial Frozen Foods draw its business from this community, but during the seasons when farm produce is scarce, it processes sea food from the coast and strawberries when they are in season.

Bob gave the Rotarians a pat on the back in closing by saying that Zebulon owes the club a debt of gratitude for the work it did in obtaining a freezer locker plant for the town.

Agriculture, was read to the members. In marking observance of the second annual Home Demonstration Week, Mr. Anderson declared:

"American womanhood has long enjoyed a freedom and respect accorded to women in no other part of the world. As in every other phase of democratic life, this position of esteem carries with it some definite responsibilities. It is in the home that the pattern of the culture of a people is established. The cradle of democracy is in a nation's homes and families.

"We may be happy that our culture is one that emphasizes advancing standards for family living—in the ethical sense as well as in the practical. But nothing is so good that it cannot be made better; better in terms of the family's health, comfort, education, happiness, and understanding. Under the leadership of the

New Officials Elected Tuesday; Disaster Committee Appointed

New Mayor, 3 New Councilmen To Take Office

Zebulon voters gave the six men nominated in the Primary last week a record vote in the general election held Tuesday. The total number of ballots was 127 this year as compared with 30 two years ago.

R. H. Bridgers polled 126 votes in being elected mayor for the coming two years. Barrie Davis received high vote for commissioner with 122.

Howard Beck polled 121, Bob Sawyer 120, Norman Screws 119, and R. Vance Brown 111 to complete the board.

The new mayor and commissioners will be sworn into office the first Monday night in June. Two of the new board, Norman Screws and R. Vance Brown, are also members of the present board.

The election was an anti-climax to the primary April 26, which ended two weeks of intensive campaigning by eleven candidates who were seeking the six elective offices.

R. H. Bridgers, mayor-elect, served as mayor for four years from 1933 to 1937, and served as commissioner for several years before his first election as mayor.

Bob Sawyer, manager of Colonial Frozen Foods of Zebulon, is also a former commissioner, serving until his induction into the army during the war.

Norman Screws and R. Vance Brown both have been members of the town board for several years, Brown having served as town clerk before joining the board.

Local Hatchery Keeps High Output While State Total Drops

North Carolina commercial hatcheries produced approximately 6,066,000 chicks during March, compared with 7,049,000 for the same month a year ago and 5,605,000 as the March average for the years 1941-45. Massey's Hatchery of Zebulon, however reports continued capacity business.

In releasing this report, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service says that from January through March of this year commercial hatcheries of the State produced 13,472,000 chicks—one per cent less than the output for the same period last year.

The national figure for chicks hatched by commercial hatcheries ran to 225,270,000 during March as against 264,737,000 for March of 1946.

Philip Massey, Mrs. C. E. Flowers On RC Aid Group

The Disaster Committee of the Wake County Chapter of the Red Cross is organized to go into action on a moment's notice, should a catastrophe such as the Texas City explosion, large or small, strike any where in the county, it was reported this week at a conference of division and sub-committee heads to review pre-arranged plans for handling such an emergency.

Members of the Disaster Committee from Zebulon are: Mrs. C. E. Flowers, and Mr. Phillip Massey.

Form Flying Squadron

Dr. Robert L. McGee, chairman of the medical aid division, reported that "flying squadrons" of physicians, dentists and nurses could be mobilized "within ten minutes to rush to the scene of a disaster in any part of the county."

Arrangements have been made for providing temporary housing facilities with cooking and sanitary facilities for approximately 10,000 persons, for emergency use, it was reported by Randolph Benton, chairman of the shelter division.

Mrs. J. E. Theim, chairman of the food division, said that plans are in effect through which the services of the Red Cross Canteen, 25 home demonstration agents, the facilities of numerous school and church groups and the facilities of 14 city and 19 county schools will be available, in a disaster emergency for providing hot meals for victims.

Other Chairmen Listed

Other division chairmen reporting were those of survey and finance, registration and information, transportation, public information, clothing and central purchase and supply.

A plan for "disaster relief" has been prepared by the Committee for each major town and community of Wake County, including Zebulon, it was brought out at the conference. A part of this plan calls for a complete setup for an emergency hospital, to which a flying squadron of doctors, dentists and nurses will be rushed should the need arise.

It was brought out at the conference that fire or explosion constitute the major danger of a disaster in Wake County. This area is out of the tornado zone and is not within a flood danger area.

Forrest H. Shuford, chairman of the Disaster Committee, read a tentative report of what the Red Cross has been called upon to do in the Texas City disaster, as a guide to the local committee in anticipating its duty should disaster strike in this area. He told the conference that during the first 3 days following the initial explosion in Texas City the Red Cross undertook the sheltering and feeding of 2,000 people, operated the

Feet Hurt? See Dr. Bloney

There is one type of traveling salesman which Zebulon can well do without. He is not here with us often, nor are there enough jokes about him to bring him to anyone's attention, but he is around enough to make a nuisance of himself.

He's the patent medicine salesman.

You probably saw the last such visitor on the vacant lot across from City Market. The grrr-eat Doctor Bloney, creator and sole dispenser of Dr. Bloney's Phoney Tonic, guaranteed to stop what ails you.

Yessir! If dandruff bothers you, Dr. Bloney's Phoney Tonic will remove the dandruff. If arthritis bothers you, it'll rid you of arthritis. If corns bother you, it removes the corns. If your leg bothers you, it'll remove your leg. If Dr. Bloney bothers you — well, brother, you gotta listen anyhow, because Dr. Bloney is equipped with patent leather lungs and a megaphone mouth.

Dr. Bloney pays a license tax to the Town of Zebulon, so maybe we have no room to kick. It's ten bucks he forks over for the privilege of unloading his tonic on the innocent and the hopeful.

But all Dr. Bloney has to do is hawk ten bottles of his colored water and he has his ten bucks back. Everything from there on is profit.

A guy has no room to complain, I suppose, if he finds Dr. Bloney making an honest living.

But is Dr. Bloney's an honest living?

"This miraculous little bottle of Dr. Bloney's Phoney Tonic," shouts the itinerant medicine man, "will cure you of your every ill before you get out of the sound of my voice!"

Dr. Bloney is a loud speaker, and you are in Johnston County before you get out of the sound of his voice. And, too, by promising to cure you, Dr. Bloney is guilty of practicing medicine without a license, competing with our three esteemed M. D.'s who call Zebulon
