Light Company Begins New Substation Work To Serve Local Patrons

A million-dollar improvement program at Carolina Power & Light Company's Method Substation in west Raleigh—a program calling for the virtual rebuilding of the substation—began this week with the grading of the substation yard, according to Ralph Talton, manager of the power company's Zebulon office.

Method is the chief dispatching station for Carolina Power & Light Company's entire system, Talton said.

Improvements at Method, part of the Company's seven-million-dollar construction program announced earlier this year, are designed to provide about 27,000 horsepower of additional capacity for Raleigh and vicinity and to handle the Company's new supply of power from Appalachian Electric Power Company of Virginia.

Through a new 132,000-volt transmission line being built by CP&L to the Virginia State line, where it will meet the Appalachian Company power line, Carolina Power & Light Company will bring (Continued on Page 6)

High Leaf Prices Not Holding Up; Wendell Outsell Wilson Tuesday

The Wendell tobacco market set two new records for opening week as tobacco began selling on the eastern belt this week. Farmers found in the opening week prices an indication of what their 1947 crop will bring during the coming weeks. On opening day the Wendell market sold 262,704 pounds of tobacco for $128,662.53 for an average of $48.53.

The second day of sales saw the Wendell market surpass every other market in the eastern belt in total number of pounds sold. With but one set of buyers, the Wendell warehouses sold more of the weed than did Wilson with five sets of buyers.

The average on all markets fell slightly during sales the latter part of this week, with a lower quality of tobacco on the floors. The price range for quality leaf remained high and farmers throughout the belt expressed themselves as satisfied with the price paid.

In Wendell the Star Warehouse averaged $49.16 on opening day, and the new Producers Cooperative averaged better than $49.00 on opening sales.

All of the six warehouses are doing their best to see that the farmer realizes the most for his crop.

Army Veterans to Get Their Victory Medals From Raleigh Office

Army World War II veterans of Zebulon, who have been authorized by the War Department to wear the Victory Medal may obtain the medal at the Raleigh Army Recruiting Station, 109 West Martin Street, Raleigh, N. C., upon presentation of their discharge certificate or similar papers bearing the required authorization, it was announced today by Lt. J. M. Pate, recruiting officer.

Although several million veterans have earned this honor by their wartime service, the medals have only recently been coined by the United States Mint, and no general distribution has yet been made. In place of the medal itself, veterans awarded this honor have worn the ribbon bar, which ordinarily substitutes for the medal on all occasions except formal ceremonies.

The Lieutenant pointed out that the discharge papers of most veterans relieved from active duty since V-J Day bear the notation that the individual is authorized to wear this medal.
