

THE ZEBULON RECORD

Volume 24, Number 34

Zebulon, N. C., Friday, October 3, 1947

Theo. Davis Sons, Telephone 2561

The forceful spray of this new high-pressure portable sprayer will kill a blaze in a flash! Designed to do such farm tasks as that of spraying the orchard shown here, it is equally useful for spraying livestock, barns and poultry houses with DDT. It can be used for spraying cotton plants with cyanamid in the fall, and killing weeds in the spring. The spray delivers 4 gallons of material per minute from its 50-gallon tank at 400 lbs. pressure. The unit may be purchased in different models from Zebulon ginners and farm suppliers.

Zebulon Boy Scout Troop Takes Top Honors At Occoneechee Camporee

The Zebulon Boy Scouts returned Sunday afternoon from the Occoneechee Council Camporee at Wake Forest, bringing with them three awards won during the two days and nights of camping. Nearly 20 members of Troop 40 took part in the camp, which was attended by over 1,000 Scouts from nearly every troop in the Occoneechee Council.

The Zebulon Scouts divided into three patrols for the camp, and two of the three returned from the event with the highest award, the Proficient Banner. The third patrol won the Standard Banner, second highest award.

Highlight of the weekend for most of the boys was the George-

Open Season Listed For Franklin, Johnston Nash, Wake Counties

Although some Zebulon farmers, worried by loss of field corn, are not observing the eight-week closed season on squirrels, they cannot shoot squirrels legally until November 27, when the season will be reopened in Wake and Franklin counties until January 1, 1948.

In Johnston and Nash counties the season will open next Monday and continue until January 1. (In Wake and Franklin counties there was a two-week open season on squirrels from September 16 through September 30.)

Quail may be hunted in all four counties Monday through Saturday, beginning Thanksgiving Day (November 27) and continuing through January 31. Daily bag limit 8, possession 16, season limit 150.

The rabbit season will also open Thanksgiving Day and continue through January. Hunting may also be done any day except Sunday. Daily bag limit 8, possession limit 16, no season limit.

Raccoons and opossums may be hunted with gun and dog October 15 through February 15. No bag limit. Hunting with lanterns and flashlights is illegal in all four counties.

Zebulon Chamber of Commerce To Sponsor Clean-up, Paving

Wallace Temple Heads Committee To Canvass For Sidewalk Paving

The sidewalk along the west side of Arendell Avenue from the Woman's Club to Wakelon School was the first to be selected for paving in the new project begun by the Zebulon Chamber of Commerce at its regular membership meeting Friday night, September 2, in the Masonic Hall. Home owners along the street will be asked to pay the cost of paving the sidewalk in front of their property, President C. V. Whitley explained to the 20 members present.

To canvass Arendell Avenue residents and determine who is willing to share the paving costs, President Whitley appointed a four-man committee consisting of Wallace Temple, chairman, M. T. Debnam, Riggsbee Massey, and M. W. Page.

Original plans for the paving project were drawn up by the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, who decided on Arendell Avenue as the first street because it is most used by children on their way to school.

Armstrong Cannady Is Rotary Speaker

Armstrong Cannady spoke to the Zebulon Rotarians last Friday night, bringing a message on the operation of King Drug Company, largest wholesale druggists in this part of the country. His talk was another in the series planned by program chairman Sidney Edins to acquaint the members with the type of work done by the Rotarians.

Armstrong described the process an order goes through from the time it is received by the company until it is shipped on its way to the customer.

An amazingly large amount and variety of patent medicines is carried by the wholesale druggists, so that orders for almost anything in the patent medicine line may be filled.

Although not generally known, the wholesale company also carries one of the largest photographic supply departments in the country to add to its annual $10,000,000 business.

Mustard and Gravy, blackface comedians, will be in Zebulon next Tuesday night.

Mustard and Gravy Tent Show To Play Here Next Tuesday

Mustard and Gravy, one of the South's most popular tent shows, will give an evening performance at Zebulon next Tuesday night, October 7, at the fairgrounds.

The show carries Robert Noell's gorilla act in addition to its comedy features, with the world's only athletic apes. The audience will be invited to participate in boxing and wrestling with the apes.

The program will begin at 7:45 p.m. Admission will be 25c for children, 50c for adults, plus tax in each case.

Military Funeral Held For Sgt. McKagan

Military funeral services were conducted Tuesday for S-Sgt. Azzan amillo McKagan whose body arrived last week from Germany, where he was killed in an automobile accident.

The rites were at St. John's Methodist Church in Milwaukee. Burial was in Graceland Cemetery.

The body lay in state at the August J. Abe Chapel from 3 p. m. Monday to 10 a. m. Tuesday, and at the church from 11 a. m. Tuesday to time of service. Craig-Schollosser Post of the American Legion conducted services Monday (Continued on Page 4)

Five County Fair Has Average Week Despite Bad Weather

The Five County Fair, held all last week at Zebulon, enjoyed a successful week despite inclement weather for the first three days, according to directors of the exposition.

After a slow start on Monday and Tuesday, when the Wake County Sheriff closed all chance concessions including bingo stands, a heavy rain fell all day Wednesday, curtailing all fair activities. On Thursday, however, the weather cleared, and good crowds attended, especially on School Children's Day—Friday afternoon, when all rides were packed.

The Zebulon Boy Scout Troop, which had an exhibit explaining the various phases of Scouting principles and practice, received a blue ribbon for the best booth at the fair. White Oak School received a red ribbon.

"We hope to have a better fair next year," said Manager Wade Privette, "as far as agricultural exhibits are concerned. We can't do much better on free acts, however; the ones we obtained were tops."

Sheriff Clamps Down

None of the fair officials had any comment to make on the action of Sheriff Pleasants in closing the chance concessions. Following local editorial criticism of the sheriff's action in closing down on these concessions at the Zebulon fair while allowing the North Carolina State Fair to run wide open, Sheriff Pleasants announced that his office would clamp down on the State Fair in the same manner.

Kerr Scott, commissioner of agriculture, announced that he was behind Pleasants in his move. (The North Carolina Department of Agriculture sponsors the State Fair.)

Religious Education Week Is Observed

National Religious Education Week, observed from September 28 to October 5 by Protestant churches, has caused scarcely a stir in Zebulon. Only the local Baptist and Methodist churches plan any special observation of the period next Sunday.

Rev. John McCrimmon stated this week that no exercise is planned at Wakefield or Bethany in honor of the week, and it will receive no other mention locally except by Rev. Charles Vale, Methodist minister.

Dr. L. M. Massey, superintendent of the Zebulon Baptist Sunday School, stated that special emphasis would be placed on the period next Sunday at departmental assemblies, and kindred information was given in connection with promotion exercises last Sunday morning.

We Went a-Visitin'

Some of the delegates, from some of the countries which are destitute because of the war, had to be met at the border with clothes so that they could attend the Alliance. These people could not have gone if this provision had not been made for them, and I was told that money was sent from America to help provide for them. To anyone who does not believe in missions, if you could have heard the pleas of some of the delegates from some of the countries which are destitute, you, like I was, would be ashamed of the small pittance which we give for the Lord's work at home and abroad. I was told that we have available for work on the mission fields twice as many workers as we have funds to support. This winter is going to be harder on them because there has been a drought and crop failures.

Denmark and Sweden were occupied by the Germans during the war but were undamaged. Dairy products and food was plentiful but bread and butter is rationed and we were furnished coupons. In Copenhagen there are about 700,000 bicycles and they have a track for them alongside the sidewalks. Sometimes we would forget about them and I heard of a few minor casualties which came about when someone didn't think and got hit by one.

In Copenhagen we enjoyed a week with Mr. and Mrs. Griffin who are fine and send their love and good wishes to all their friends.

On Aug. 6th, we flew from Copenhagen to Amsterdam, Holland. Here we stayed in a hotel across the square from the Royal Palace. Food is scarce and we ate smoked fish and potatoes, as bread is almost unobtainable. Clothing is equally scarce. We visited Rem-
