

THE ZEBULON RECORD

Volume 24 Number 41

Zebulon, N. C., Friday, November 28, 1947

Theo. Davis Sons, Publishers

Pictured is petite Carolyn Hinton, daughter of Mrs. Avon Hinton of Zebulon and the late Mr. Hinton. Carolyn was the primary grades winner in the recent popularity contest at Wakelon School. Pictures of other winners will be published next week.

Chamber Completes Show Plans; Book Campaign to Be Statewide

Northern Auctioneer, Magazine Editor Plan To Attend Local Sale

Plans for the North Carolina Poland China Breeders Show and Sale, to be held in Zebulon Friday, December 12, are complete, President C. V. Whitley of the local Chamber of Commerce, the sponsoring organization, announced yesterday.

The sale, which will offer registered Poland China stock only, will begin at 1:00 p.m., and will include ten boars, ten open gilts, and thirty bred gilts. Inspection of offered hogs may be made from 10:00 a.m. until sale time.

"We expect to have the finest hog show of any type in the state this year," the local president declared. "We have obtained the nation's best auctioneer, Col. H. S. Duncan, and we expect to have at auction hogs representing the top blood lines of the breed, which will be consigned from the best herds in North Carolina."

Officials of the hog association were equally optimistic about the success of the auction, which will include the December sale of P. M. Horton of Zebulon, Route 4, operator of Fall Branch Poland China Farm west of Little River.

Walter Kirby of Kenly, president of the association, stated that attendance of out-of-state buyers will probably be heavy.

"Walter R. Evans, editor of the Poland China World, will attend the sale," Kirby said Monday, "and his presence at the sale will add to the sale's prestige. He will enter bids for Iowa hog breeders unable to attend the show."

The sale will be held in C. V. Whitley's barn behind his home on Gannon Avenue. Chicken barbecue, prepared by Loomis Carpenter, will be sold on the grounds by the Chamber of Commerce, under the supervision of Mayor R. H. Bridgers.

Sale catalogues are now in production at the Theo. Davis Sons printshop, and will be off the press early next week.

Local Girl on Honor List at Bristol School

Miss Judith Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Z. W. Robertson, of Zebulon, North Carolina, was among those who attained the Dean's list at Virginia Intermont College in Bristol, Virginia, for the first quarter, Miss Marguerite Pflug announced. Requirements for this honor are an A on at least three full-time subjects, no grade below B on academic work, and A on citizenship.

Mr. and Mrs. James Pulley of Zebulon visited the Natural Bridge of Virginia this week.

Fertilizer Salesman Opens New Office

Ed Hales, local representative of the Smith-Douglass Fertilizer Co., has moved into the building between the Wakelon Drug Store and Creech's Radio Shop, where he will maintain his office.

The building was formerly occupied by the Marshbourn law offices.

THANE McDONALD

The Wake Forest College Glee Club and Little Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Conductor McDonald will present "The Messiah" in the Wendell School auditorium on December 7, Sunday evening at 7:30 p. m.

Local Man of the Year To Be Selected for '47 By Record Subscribers

Zebulon's "Man of the Year" will be selected next month by readers of the Zebulon Record and the person honored by being named the community's leading citizen will be announced in the January 2 edition of the paper. Last year R. F. Lowry, then principal of Wakelon School, was Man of the Year, and Robert Ed Horton, vice-president of the Zebulon Farm Bureau, was runner-up.

The man of the year will be selected for his work in church, civic, and community life in this community, and any resident of Zebulon and the Wakelon School district is eligible for the distinction.

Each week through December a ballot will be printed in the Zebulon Record which may be mailed to the paper. Only those ballots received by mail will be counted.

The 1946 nominee, R. F. Lowry, is now county superintendent of Washington County Schools, taking the position last summer. He served as superintendent of Wakelon Schools for three years. Under his supervision a complete athletic program was again started for both boys and girls at Wakelon, after they had been dropped during the war years. The lunch room was completely renovated (Continued on Page 2)

Success of Campaign In Wake County Trial Leads to Enlargement

North Carolina newspapermen and educators, meeting in the N. C. House of Representatives hall Tuesday afternoon, voted unanimously to back a statewide campaign to collect books for the schoolchildren of occupied Europe.

The vote came after backers of the recent successful campaign in Wake County told of the reception the drive had met. The state campaign, it was decided some weeks ago, would be undertaken only if the Wake County drive proved a success.

A welcome to the meeting was extended by Governor R. Gregg Cherry, after which County Superintendent of Schools Benton presented Dr. Clyde Erwin and J. A. Park, who spoke briefly on the need of literature for bookless European children. Josephus Daniels of Raleigh, editor of The News and Observer, spoke a plea for universal support of the drive.

The balance of the program was made up of remarks on mechanics of the drive by members of the county committee, beginning with County Chairman Ferd Davis.

Wakelon School led all schools in Wake County, including the entire Raleigh system, in collection of books and magazines in last month's campaign. Principal Fred Smith directed the local drive.

The Wakelon and Wendell units together collected approximately the same number of books and magazines as did all the other schools in the county, including 41 rural units plus Raleigh.

Last Pearce's Supper Tomorrow Evening

The last of a series of suppers that have been sponsored by the women of Pearce Church, will be held Wednesday, Dec. 3, from 5 until 7 o'clock. This meal will be served cafeteria style, you will find everything on a picnic table, along with barbecue and Brunswick stew.

We appreciate your presence at our suppers and hope you can come to this, our final one.

Following the supper: The Pearce Community requests the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter

Jarvis Perry Buttercup to Mr. Wilbur Gay Doolittle a son of the Rosenburg Community

Wake County Farm Bureau Membership Drive Extended

L. A. Doub, Wake County Chairman of the North Carolina Farm Bureau Membership Campaign, has announced that because of the lateness of crops and generally unsettled conditions among farmers the county membership drive has been extended through today.

Local Basketball Teams Continue Practice; Plan To Begin Play Dec. 12

Wakelon's basketball teams are going through daily practice preparing for their first scheduled games Friday, December 12. The girls, under the coaching of Principal Fred Smith, work out in the afternoon, and the boys practice each night under Coach Marlin Quick.

Both the boys and girls will be given a short vacation during the Thanksgiving holidays, but will return to intensive practice next week.

The reorganized Zebulon All-Stars worked out Tuesday night, bolstered by Baxter Hopkins and Elmo Finch. The group chose red and white as the color for their uniforms for this season. The unit will be coached by Rev. Carlton Mitchell, local Baptist pastor.

"This year, more than ever, it is vitally important that the campaign go 'over the top,'" Doub said. "And if the 2,784 quota for Wake County and the individual quotas of all other counties are reached, the future of the State's agriculture will be made definitely more secure."

"North Carolina farmers have a big stake in the future of the nation's agriculture, for 66 per cent of the flue-cured tobacco grown in the country is produced by Tar Heel farmers. In addition, peanuts and cotton are important cash crops, and every farmer has a stake in the production of poultry, livestock, milk, fruit and vegetables, and other crops."

Membership Committeemen are: E. H. Moser, Zebulon; Graham Bunn, Zebulon, Route 3; Paul Brantley, Wendell; N. F. Ransdell, Varina; Jeff Jordan, Raleigh, Route 3; Blaney Franks, Raleigh, Route 4; Willard Faison, Raleigh, Route 2; Hermon Pearce, Wake Forest, Route 2.

Times Foreign Correspondent to Be Speaker at Baptist Sunday School

E. C. Daniel, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Daniel of Zebulon, will address the Baraca Class of the Zebulon Baptist Church on Sunday morning, November 30, class members said yesterday.

Daniel, who formerly edited a daily newspaper in Dunn, is a correspondent with The New York Times. His most recent assignment has been that of reporting developments in the undeclared war between Arabs and Jews in Palestine.

Before becoming a member of the Times overseas staff, he was London correspondent for the Associated Press.

Daniel is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, where he was a staff member of the Daily Tar Heel, campus newspaper. During his stay at Chapel Hill he wrote a column for the Record which he called "The Hometown Newspaper."

The public is invited to hear his address Sunday morning. C. V. Whitley is the regular teacher of the Baraca Class.

New Drug Store on Main Street Now Open; Business Hours Given

The Wakelon Drug Company announced its opening this week with a complete line of drug supplies, fountain service, and prices styled to agree with the demands of thrifty shoppers. W. H. Creech, president of the new company, announced this week that "We are in Zebulon to stay, and it is our desire to make friends of the people here by making quality and service a rule."

The new store has a brightly painted interior, set off by an abundance of lights. The outside is lighted by a large neon sign. Personnel includes Dr. E. N. Booker, C. T. Young, and M. H. Hamm. All have had many years experience in the drug business.

Mr. Creech stated that the Wakelon Drug Company will have delivery service as soon as a boy can be hired for the job.

Store hours will be from 8 a.m. until 10 p.m. "We hope to make our place a rendezvous for after the show," said Mr. Creech. "We have a complete soda fountain and plenty of booths."