Wakelon Cagers Win Two Wendell Games

Coach Fred Smith's high flying Wakelonettes sewed up second place in the Wake County Conference by out-scoring Wendell, 27-22, in a closely played, exciting contest held Wednesday night in the Wakelon gymnasium. In the nightcap, the Wakelon Bulldogs opened up in the second half to win over the visiting boys, 41-36.

Ruth Brown scored 12 points to lead the way for Wakelon to its sixth loop victory, and Nan Mattox with 15 was high for Wendell. For the Wakelon boys, Dick Cherry scored 12 and Rex Tippett 11. Speedy little Joe Bill Richardson tallied 10 points for Wendell.

On Tuesday night Wakelon divided a twin bill with Cathedral Latin of Raleigh, the Wakelonettes winning, easily, 37-12, and the Bulldogs falling apart before the visitors, 39-23.

Coach Smith used nearly all his players against the Raleigh school, with Betsy Driver, 8, and Phoebe Williams, 7, leading the scoring. Summers topped the Cathedral Latin girls with 6. Deberry, high-scoring hook shot artist, led the visiting boys with 19. Bridgers led Wakelon.

Tonight Rolesville comes to Wakelon for a double-header.

Zebulon Woman's Club Members Hear Methods of Aiding Children

Members of the Zebulon Woman's Club and interested friends met in the club house last Tuesday to hear Miss Ethel Honeycutt of Chapel Hill discuss "Education for the Handicapped Child." Mrs. F. E. Bunn had charge of the program and was extremely fortunate in securing Miss Honeycutt, executive secretary of the North Carolina Crippled Children's League, as speaker. She brought a wealth of information concerning the organization of the league and its functions. Zebulon women will certainly be ready to support the sale of Easter Seals for this worthy cause and it is hoped that some of the handicapped children in our own community may benefit by our contributions.

Mrs. Fred L. Page, club president, reported that the March of Dimes Campaign sponsored by the club had been most successful although the total amount collected was not tabulated at this time. The club wishes to thank the community as a whole for its splendid response.

Mrs. Theo Davis will have the March meeting on American Citizenship.

The constitution calls for supporting organizations to elect the members of Tobacco Associates. Farm Bureau's representatives were elected during the 12th annual state convention in Asheville and they will meet with other members at 2 p. m., in March 1 in Raleigh for Tobacco Associates first annual meeting.

At the convention, Farm Bureau adopted a series of agricultural resolutions, including the following three covering tobacco:

We endorse and request the continuation of the Tobacco quota Program; the Commodity Credit Corporation and the Mandatory Loan provision on Tobacco at 90 per cent of parity; the grading and news service on all tobacco markets, this being essential to the marketing of tobacco.

The members of the North Carolina Farm Bureau recognize the whole-hearted support of all agencies and organizations in the successful operation of the Flue-Cured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization Corporation and Tobacco Associates, Inc. and respectfully request the continued support in the years ahead.

We support the present Burley Tobacco Law with its minimum acreage provision as long as it is satisfactory to the majority of the Burley Tobacco growers.

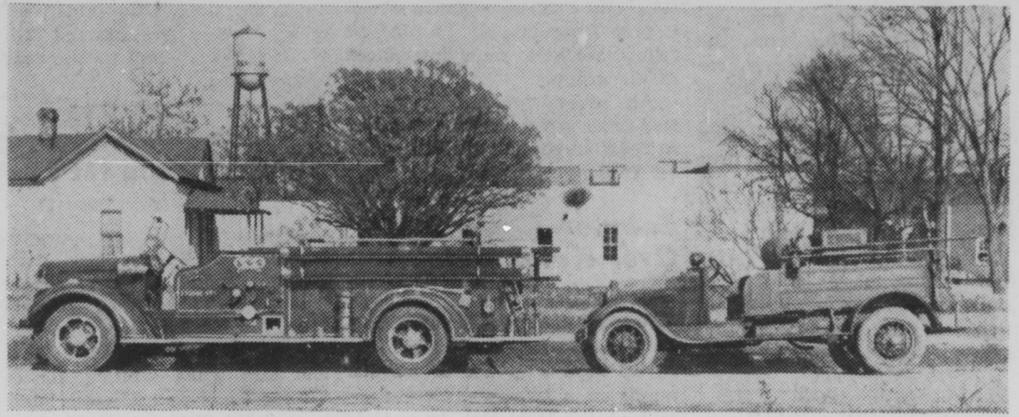

Johnston Couple Have Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carson Corbett of Johnston County near Emit observed the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding on Friday, February 20. The real celebration took place on Sunday when the various branches of the family enjoyed a sumptuous dinner at the paternal home.

Mrs. Corbett was before marriage Miss Mary Sherron of Granville County.

There are nine children of this couple: J. M. Corbett, E. J. Corbett, Zeb Corbett, Mrs. Leeton Mae Creech, and Mrs. Ripsie Boyette of Zebulon, Route 1; Mrs. Cramer Creech of Zebulon, Route 2; Mrs. Little Edwards and Mrs. Coley Hinton of Middlesex, RFD; Mrs. Katie Vann of Wilson.

Other descendants are twenty-seven grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Pictured for comparison are Zebulon's two fire trucks, in a photograph taken by Wayne Privette at the corner of Horton and Church Streets. The new truck, which cost in the neighborhood of $7,000, is equipped with ladders, chemical tank, hose and a high pressure pump.

Zebulon Choir Records Musical Score for Film For Baptist Convention

The Zebulon Baptist Choir, under the direction of Charles Horton, has recorded several numbers to be used as background music for a series of slides prepared for the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina. The local choir was selected over the Baptist Hour Choir of Atlanta, Georgia, for the work.

The slides are being prepared under the direction of Fon H. Scofield, Jr. secretary of the Department of Visual Education of the Baptist State Convention.

The recordings were made in the Baptist Church, with Charles Horton at the Hammond organ both for feature numbers and for background music. Mr. Scofield was narrator, and Miss Bertha White, field worker with the Education Department, served as program director.

Local Man Re-elected To Bureau Directorate

Raleigh — North Carolina Farm Bureau's Board of Directors has voted to ask the organization's membership to consider establishing a fund to supplement the salary of a plant pathologist at State College.

At the first meeting since the annual Farm Bureau Convention, the Board elected P. N. Taylor, Dobson, to the state-wide Executive Committee. Re-elected to the committee were Haywood Dail, Greenville; Dr. L. M. Massey, Zebulon; N. Bernard Helms, Monroe, and George Sockwell, Elon College.

Farm Work Slowed

Zebulon farmers, already hampered greatly in spring farm work by the cold weather of January and February, are running into trouble with wet plantbeds.

Some farmers, according to J. B. Croom, who had the same experience himself, are having to abandon plots treated with chemicals last fall and clear new ground in order to find an area sufficiently dry to seed.

Armstrong Cannady Is Local Scout Speaker

After missing the February Court of Honor, which was called off because of severe weather, the Zebulon Boy Scouts will journey to the March meeting in Raleigh aboard a bus, according to James Debnam, junior assistant Scoutmaster. The bus will leave the Atlantic station at 7:15 Monday night.

Armstrong Cannady, Cubmaster for Pack 40, spoke to the Scouts at their meeting this week, telling of plans for observing the first anniversary of Cubbing in Zebulon.

Ralph Talton Again Is Community Chairman; Goal Is Set at $725

Ralph Talton, head of the Red Cross Drive for Zebulon and the surrounding community, named his committee captains yesterday and announced that the drive will get underway immediately. Talton is chairman for all of Little River Township and expressed himself as confident that the goal will be reached this year.

The quota for Zebulon and Wakefield is $725.00.

For the businesses in Zebulon he named R. Vance Brown captain with E. B. Hopkins assistant.

Barrie Davis and A. O. Smith will solicit contributions from employees in the business district. Howard Beck will take donations at the venerable plant and the stores near there.

Mrs. Foster Finch will direct the drive in the residential district and will name her helpers this week.

Principal Fred Smith is to supervise the campaign at Wakelon School.

D. D. Chamblee is captain of the group that will canvass rural communities, and his assistants include Wilbur Gay, J. B. Croom, W. L. Simpson, Herbert Perry, W. H. Green, Mrs. Kay Francis Brannon, Mrs. O. E. Brannon, Mrs. Harold Pippin, Mrs. Douglas Pace, William Honeycutt, Mrs. O. E. Strickland, F. D. Gay, Mrs. Milton Brannon, and Mrs. W. I. Hopkins.

Rotarians Told How Social Security Helps Average American Worker

The multiple benefits of the Social Security program were explained by John Ingle, head of the Raleigh office, at the Friday night meeting of the Zebulon Rotary Club. Mr. Ingle appeared as speaker on invitation of Norman Screws, program chairman. Costing employer and employee one percent of total wages paid, the social security program provides old age and survivors' insurance for most American workers.

Depending on the amount paid into the account of an individual, it is possible for a worker to draw up to $150 monthly at retirement age. In case of death of the worker, payments are made to the widow and dependent children.

Not covered by the program are business owners, self-employed workers, and state, and federal employees. There is a bill before congress which will provide for the participation of business owners, self-employed workers and farm labor, said the speaker. Since the state and administrative divisions of the state cannot be taxed, town, county, and state employers cannot share in the social security benefits.
