Scouts Spend Week In Organizing Patrols

The Zebulon Boy Scouts are re-organizing this week, forming new patrols and dividing the troop into two groups consisting of those who will remain with Troop 40 and those who are over 15 and wish to go into Senior Scouting. The division is still tentative since Scoutmaster Barrie Davis must check with Occoneechee Council headquarters in Raleigh for regulations governing the new unit in Scouting.

The patrols will again be limited to nine members, making it necessary for the Rattlesnake Patrol to divide. Under the leadership of Patrol Leader K. D. Lloyd, it has grown from 9 members to a total of 15.

Last Saturday night about 20 Scouts camped at the rocks. The night was uneventful except for the arrival of a jeep which ran into trouble with wire around its drive shaft. While some of the Scouts aided in removing the wire, a member of the jeep party made off with most of Souts Jimmy Medlin's breakfast.

The troop will make its monthly trip to the Occoneechee Council Court of Honor on Monday night. The May Court is to be in Wake Forest, where a new Scout cabin will be dedicated. Scouts will make the trip via bus.

Junior Class Play

The Junior Class of Wakelon School will present a three act comedy, "Here Comes Charlie," Friday night, May 7, at 8:00 in the Wakelon auditorium. The play is a highlight of the spring term and this year's production is especially good.

Between acts members of the senior class will present musical numbers. Admission price has been set at 25 and 40 cents.

Anti-Rat Campaign Now Taken Into North Carolina Towns, Cities

Plan Was Carried Out In Zebulon with Good Results During Winter

Encouraged by the success of the campaign against rats in rural areas, the National Committee for Rat Control is now extending the rat eradication drive into towns and cities throughout North Carolina and other states, according to Dr. A. C. Bulla, Wake County Health officer, County Agent John Reitzel, and L. C. Whitehead, rodent control socialist at State College.

Mayors and other city officials in the State are being urged to write for free literature on rat control programs, Mr. Whitehead said. Also, civic and garden clubs and other community groups are being asked to take an active part in the program.

This plan was tested in Zebulon during February with the cooperation of Mayor Bridgers and municipal employees with satisfactory results.

An estimated 110,000 farm families in North Carolina cooperated in the rural campaign. Red Squill rat bait proved so effective in destroying the rodents that many millers, grocery men, and others now are assisting in carrying the campaign into urban centers.

Mr. Whitehead said the City of Raleigh provides a good example of how the rat population can be kept down in an urban area. Through the use of rat poison and stoppage work, in which city and county health officials have cooperated, Raleigh now has less than one-fifth as many rats as it had five years ago, he asserted.

The anti-rat program in the State Capital, Mr. Whitehead continued, has the active support of the merchants, Chamber of Commerce members, and city and county officials, and for that reason the program has proved quite effective.

Mayors who desire free educational material for an anti-rat campaign in their own cities may obtain it by writing Mr. Whitehead at State College.

Local Cub Scouts Lose To Wake Forest Pack

After Keith Temple's home run had tied the score in the sixth inning, 10-10, the Zebulon Cub Scouts committed two costly errors in the final seventh stanza of the ball game played here against the Wake Forest Cubs and lost to the visitors, 15-10, last Saturday afternoon. Temple was on the mound all the way for Zebulon with Luther Long, Jr., behind the plate.

Joe Pippin starred in the field for the local Cubs, who are coached by Cubmaster Armstrong Canady. Pippin made impossible catches all afternoon and climaxed his performance with an unassisted double play.

After the game the Zebulon Pack set up the Wake Forest Cubs to a weiner roast at Little River.

Ellington Cites Need For Spring Cleaning On Most Local Farms

The Zebulon farmer who gives his place a real spring "cleaning" now will not only improve the looks of his farm but will also make it healthier and easier to keep "trim" the rest of the year, says Ed Ellington, Agriculture instructor at Wakelon High School.

He offered the following clean-up hints for farm families: Gather and dispose of all tin cans. Either bury them or punch holes in them, to avoid providing breeding places for mosquitoes.

Pick up all loose wire. Don't overlook the old baling wire which has accumulated. It is easy to find now before grass and weeds have grown. Later it will tangle in machinery, trip persons and animals, and cause a great deal of other trouble.

Be sure all broken glass is disposed of, thus preventing cuts on children's feet next summer.

Check fences and repair those broken or falling down. A good fence adds to the appearance of the farm; a poor one detracts.

Right along with the fences, fix those gates so they swing free and easy.

Clean up the feed room, granary, corn cribs, and wood house. Don't provide hiding places for rats and breeding places for insects. Clean, well-arranged outbuildings will save time later.

Dr. Ben Thomas Now Practicing in Town

Dr. Ben Thomas has returned to Zebulon from Sanford, where he went several months ago to practice medicine. His offices are located in the residence on Arendell Avenue, formerly occupied by the Eger Masseys, and the building is being fitted for clinic service with a reception room, consultation office, operating room, and three rooms fitted for the temporary care of emergency patients.

When completed, this clinic will fill a long time need in this community. Mrs. Jack Mitchell will assist Dr. Thomas as office assistant and nurse. The telephone number is 3642.
