with Mr. and Mrs. Dunn about their son and the time that I had known him.

"Jackie was a good boy, Barrie," Mr. Dunn would say now and then. "I don't know why it had to happen to him."

I reckon nobody on earth can tell why a person has to leave when he does. Someone with far more wisdom than ours decides those things.

But this I know. When that Someone starts counting up everybody's contribution to the good of this old world, He'll find that

Jack Dunn has compiled a better record in the 26 years that he lived than many of us will in a century of living. As Mr. Dunn said last week, "Jackie was a good boy."

Declaration of Independence!

He's on his own. It's a wonderful feeling. He can go places now. And he'll keep on going places all his life—as long as he keeps his sense of independence.

That's America's richest resource—not forest, field or mine, but the spirit of her people. Ambition, energy, self-reliance are the reasons why individuals—and industries—grow great from small beginnings.

Take the electric industry—this company, for example. A few practical dreamers strung the first lines. People of faith and vision risked their savings.

Other folks combined skill and hard work to produce better and better service—at lower and lower cost—creating more and more jobs—and carrying the benefits of electric living to more and more people.

That's the American way of progress. Free enterprise, vision and hard work. They are what built America and the highest standard of living in the world.

No nation has ever found a satisfactory substitute for that combination. No nation ever will.
