Chamber of Commerce Plans Farmers Day During October

A Harvest Day for Zebulon, tentatively scheduled for October 1, was discussed Tuesday night by the Board of Directors of the Zebulon Chamber of Commerce. Vaiden Whitley, Pat Farmer, and Ferd Davis were appointed a committee by President Ralph Talton to work out preliminary details of the Harvest Day and present their report at a meeting of the directors next Tuesday night.

The directors elected R. H. Bridgers vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce. Election of a secretary was postponed until the next regular meeting of the Board of Directors in August.

Bob Sawyer and Ralph Talton reported on a survey they made of business men concerning their ideas of what the Chamber should do in the coming year. They reported a general lack of knowledge on the part of members as to what the Chamber of Commerce has accomplished during the past year.

The drive for members for the year 1948-49 will begin next week as soon as plans for the Harvest Day are worked out. Prizes will be given free and entertaining acts will be presented as features of the new event, which the Chamber of Commerce hopes to make an annual affair.

Present at the meeting were President Ralph Talton, Directors P. O. Farmer, Bob Sawyer, Ferd Davis, R. H. Bridgers, and C. V. Whitley, and Secretary Barrie Davis. Director Avon Privett was absent, having to be out of town.

HONOR MAN

Pictured is Fred Page, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Page of Zebulon, an honor graduate of 1948 at the University of North Carolina. He is now librarian at Guilford Battleground near Greensboro.

EULA NIXON GREENWOOD:

Raleigh Roundup

SCOOPEROO — J. M. Broughton, Democratic nominee for the U. S. Senate, has pulled another fast one on the wise boys — a "scoop", the newspaper folks would call it.

A few hours after W. Kerr Scott had been nominated for Governor, and while hundreds of people throughout the State were saying, "Look where R. Mayne Albright would be now if he had thrown his support to Mr. Scott," Mr. Broughton contacted Albright and requested him to become his administrative assistant.

This position now pays upwards of $10,000 per year. Will Albright accept it? Well, he hasn't as this column goes to press, but since his wife is a Washington, D. C., girl, and since you could name on the fingers of one hand the jobs with the State that pay as much, the chances are he will go with Senator Broughton.

TWO SURPRISES — The first surprise is that J. M. Broughton offered the position to Albright—you would think there were at least 100 bright young men closer to the Broughton campaign—and the second eyebrow lifter is that Mayne Albright didn't snap it up the second it was offered . . . or proffered.

The answer to the first is that Broughton needs more strength

THEY DID IT WITHOUT A NET!

The unhappy expressions that Wade Privett, Jim Phillips, and Eugene Privett are wearing in this picture belie the way they actually feel about this record catch. The trio of local men went down to

New Hanover County on a fishing trip, and came back with more fish than we could count. The exact location of their sortie is, to quote Eugene, "a secret — we're going back down there soon."

The fish were caught with poles and live bait—catalpa worms and afternoon and early Sunday morning. Record photograph by Wayne Privette.

Wake County Health Officer Gives Advice in Local Fight on Paralysis

By Dr. A. C. Bulla

In a time like this when poliomyelitis is occurring in almost every county of the State and in some counties approaching the epidemic stage, all persons, especially fathers and mothers and other responsible householders, have cause for fear, but not too much. They have plenty to do—some work and a great deal of thinking, reasoning, and sensible action.

By work, I mean doing the things about the home and in it to make it a safe, comfortable place in which to live, and it should be made safe from within and from without, free from hazardous conditions causing accidents, and from possible infections causing specific diseases.

These infections are not limited to poliomyelitis but include other preventable diseases, such as typhoid fever, diphtheria, whooping cough, tuberculosis, and many others which attack individuals too frequently, notwithstanding the fact that we have had preventive measures for many of these diseases for many years.

Yes, these things require some work, much thinking, reasoning, and action. By this, I mean that every father and mother and householder has both a personal and a community responsibility which requires action based upon the best information available in regard to the control of all preventable communicable diseases. If we do this, we can prove to ourselves, to our neighbors, and to our community that we can think, we can reason, and we can act in an intelligent straightforward manner that will pay dividends.

Poliomyelitis is definitely caused by a specific virus just as certain types of influenza are caused by a specific virus. This has been very definitely proven, and the veil has been fairly well established. It is, we think, a fact that poliomyelitis is transmitted in the vast majority of cases by person-to-person contact through mouth and nose secretions and possibly in some instances through excretions of the body.

It is also possible that the infectious secretions and excretions

Frank Manning Is Buried At Middlesex

Funeral services were held at the Middlesex Methodist Church on Friday for Frank Manning, 40, who died Thursday in a Williamson hospital after a week's illness. The Rev. W. G. Brogan officiated and burial was in the Middlesex cemetery.

Surviving Mr. Manning are his wife, Jettie Kemp Manning; two daughters, Sue and Rose, of the home; four sisters, Mrs. Alton Chapman of Ayden, Mrs. Herman Eddins and Mrs. Harold Green of Zebulon, and Margaret of Middlesex; five brothers, John W. of Rocky Mount, Joe and Theodore of the U. S. Navy, and Henry L. and Ben of Middlesex.

J. H. Patton Takes Home Builders Job

J. H. Patton of Raleigh is new construction superintendent for Home Builders Corporation of Zebulon, R. H. Bridgers, manager of the firm, announced this week. He succeeds the late O. B. Spivey.

The new manager and his wife are living in Raleigh until they can find an apartment in Zebulon. An ex-serviceman, he is thoroughly experienced in the building trade.

SEEN AND HEARD:

He Got No Raise

The Zebulon Record has qualified as a sort of minor prophet, what with its prediction of the nomination of Scott and the rain of Tuesday afternoon and of Wednesday night.

We own up to having expert advice on these two matters. We consulted the U. S. Weather Bureau at Raleigh-Durham Airport about the rain, and the people of North Carolina about the gubernatorial campaign.

Barrie Davis, publisher of this paper and of the Gold Leaf Farmer at Wendell, augments his income by writing verses for the Ace Greeting Card Company. With his last bunch of verses he sent in the following request:

"I hope the company will so dispose

An increased pay check to enclose."

Back came the answer from the Ace Company:

"We realize you do your best, but in regard to your request,

We can give you lots of praise, but we cannot give a raise."

The Wakelon School grounds look better for the time of year than has been the case for a decade. Mr. Bowling and the Wake County Department of Education, spurred by Principal Fred Smith, have the trees and lawn in fine shape.

More Big Ears

Lots of Zebulon folks are doing things in a big way this year, in addition to Mr. Oliver Phillips, who last week brought in an ear of corn with seven smaller ears attached.

Wednesday Johnny Tant of Zebulon, Rt. 2, brought in another ear of corn to which seven smaller ears were attached, and reports of corn nearly as strange have come in from all over the community.
