Wakelon Veteran Farm Trainees Hold Forum on Soil Conservation

Much interest was shown in proper land use by 96 veterans at Wakelon Thursday night in the farmer training class supervised by E. D. Ellington, local agricultural teacher.

Thought provoking questions were asked and discussed by the group. How can I contour cultivate? Under what conditions can I establish a satisfactory row arrangement without having too much grade in some places? What should I do with land too steep for continuous cultivation?

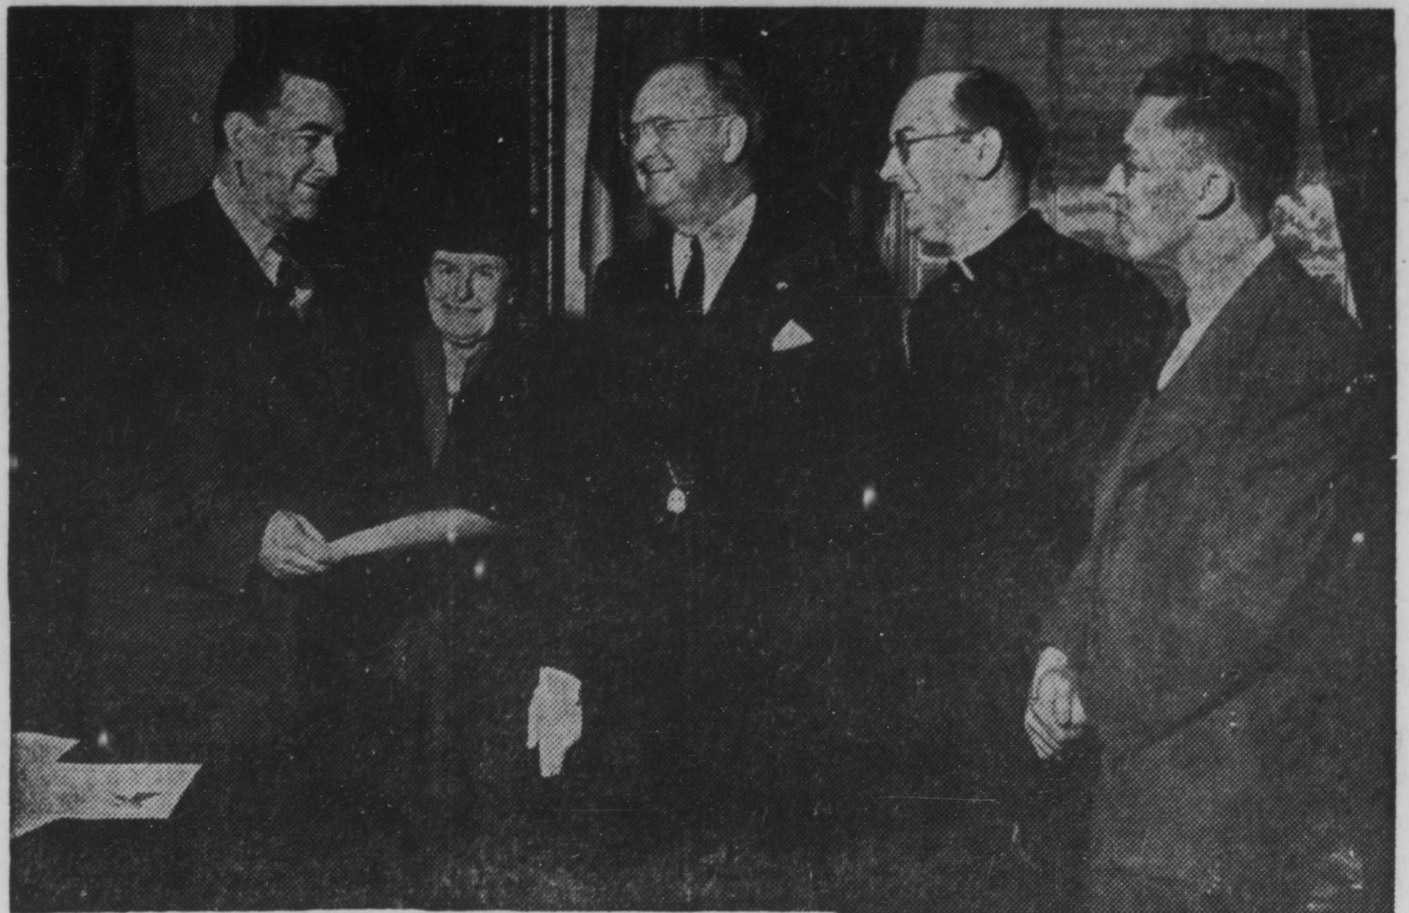

The discussion was led by G. L. Winchester, Conservationist for Wake County. It was pointed out that due to improper land use and lack of protective measures we are losing much of our valuable topsoil. A greater part of this loss is occurring in June, July and August, when most of our row crops are being planted and worked. "So, in a period when we need the most protection, we have the least," Mr. Winchester stated.

In answering some of the questions, it was pointed out that before any satisfactory system of contour cultivation or row arrangement can be put into operation there must be a proper terracing system. And to establish a good system of terraces there must be proper outlets for the water. "In most places this will necessitate the establishment of sod

Commissioners Plan to Pave Local Streets If Property Owners Desire

Members of the Zebulon town board, meeting with Mayor R. H. Bridgers and Town Clerk W. B. Hopkins, expressed themselves as ready to deal favorably with proposed petitions by Zebulon property owners who live on unpaved streets in town. The petitions, as prepared this week, ask that the Town of Zebulon grade and pave with plant mix asphalt streets in town.

A report which was made to the board last month stated that the work could be done at a cost not exceeding $1.00 per foot frontage to the property owners. This proposed pavement will be one and a half inches thick and far superior to that on Barbee and Wakefield Streets.

The board agreed to canvass the property owners along Sycamore Street to find their opinion and desires concerning paving that street. They will contact any other property owners on other streets that care to sign the petitions.

A report was made on the work done at the "long bridge" on Arendell Avenue between Mrs. Annie Jones and Principal Fred Smith's house. The town clerk stated that several hundred dollars worth of work had been accomplished at a very small cost to the town, including laying over 120 feet of 2 foot pipe and building a catch basin. A grating to cover the basin is now being
