NEW WAKE FOREST CHAPEL

THE NEW LOOK in the Winston-Salem campus of Wake Forest College will be high-lighted by the chapel pictured above. The proposed chapel building will be one of the most prominent architectural features of the new Wake Forest, and the design of the building promises to feature one of the most unusual seating arrangements of any similar building in the South. Tentative plans for both the chapel and several dormitory groups were received at Wake Forest early in the week.

Farmers Urged to Take Blue Mold Precautions

Zebulon tobacco growers who have not already done so should make arrangements at once to obtain materials and equipment needed for blue mold control in the plant bed, says Howard R. Garriss, plant pathologist for the State College Extension Service.

Zebulon Farm Bureau Holds March Meeting Here Monday Night

By Rodney McNabb

The local unit of the farm bureau had its regular meeting in the Wake'lon High School auditorium at 8:00 o'clock March 14th. Only a small percentage of the actual membership of this important organization were present. Those members not present missed a very good meeting. Let it be said and emphasized that it would very definitely be to the better interest and progress of our community if more members would attend and participate more actively in these meetings.

Mr. Ellington announced that there would be a distribution of rat poison from the agricultural building on March 29th, and he insisted that as many people as possible take advantage of this opportunity to help rid their premises of rats. Few people stop to realize the great damage done by rats, and this poison has been found to be highly effective against them; so why not get behind this drive and help exterminate this pest.

Mr. Ellington also made an appeal to the farmers in this community to make greater use of the several agencies set up for their benefit. The services of these various agencies are free to the farmer, still a very small percentage are taking advantage of them.

He also placed great emphasis and thought by the farmer on the one-money-crop idea prevailing. Farmers buy hay, vegetables, and dairy products in far too many instances which should be produced on their own farms.

The North Carolina State Farm Bureau Convention which was recently held in Asheville was discussed by our local delegates who attended the convention. Mr. John H. Ihrle discussed the trip and related some experiences of the delegates. He also enumerated some of the resolutions adopted at the convention.

Mr. Robert Ed Horton talked about some other phases of the convention. His discussion centered around such things as: the government loan on cotton, sampling of cotton as ginned to obtain government grade etc.

Amateur Night

The Wakelon Parent-Teacher Association will sponsor an amateur hour featuring talent from Zebulon, Wendell, Middlesex, Bailey, and Corinth-Holder on Friday night, March 25, in the Wakelon School auditorium. Admission will be 10c and 50c.

Wakelon PTA to Have Cancer Program

Worried about Cancer?

There is no need to be if you are well informed, for cancer can be prevented or may be cured in the early stage. But you must know something about it; that is, the cause and symptoms if you and your loved ones hope to escape the dreaded disease. Your PTA is endeavoring to help you by putting on an educational program at our next meeting March 23, 7:30 p. m., at our school auditorium.

This is not a cancer drive! You will not be asked at this time for donations.

At this 45 minute program you will learn all that specialists in this field have learned about cancer in the past 20 years of research and practical experience. We have been very fortunate in procuring for this program the services of Dr. B. E. Smith of the Biology Department at Wake Forest College, and some of the students of his class.

These men will spend their lives in work and research on cancer and each is sincerely interested in educating the public. They will discuss the types of cancer, cause of cancer, diagnosis of cancer, treatment of cancer, general facts, and give a summary of what

Funeral Services Held For George Robertson

Funeral services for George E. Robertson, Sr., 88, of Knightdale, were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Knightdale Baptist Church. The Rev. R. L. Costner, the pastor, and the Rev. John Garner of Rolesville officiated, and burial was in the Bethany Church Cemetery.

Pallbearers were grandsons, Joe Thomas Knott, James Robert Fowler, Mack Donald Perry, Claude Robertson, Jr., Wiley Robertson, Jr., Dr. Leon Robertson, and George E. Robertson, III. The body lay in state at the church for an hour before the service.

Mr. Robertson, who was a retired farmer and merchant, died Sunday night at Mary Elizabeth Hospital after an illness of six weeks. He was the son of the late Ed and Martha Herring Robertson, and was born April 3, 1860, near Raleigh.

He had lived in Knightdale for the past four years with his son, Wiley Robertson. His wife, Lenora Catherine Robertson, died in 1930. He was a brother of the late John Robertson of Zebulon.

Surviving are six sons and two daughters, D. J., W. L., C. L., and C. N. Robertson, all of Knightdale, G. J. Robertson of Rolesville, Dr. L. H. Robertson of Salisbury, Mrs. J. R. Fowler, of Zebulon, and Mrs. J. T. Knott of Knightdale; 26 grandchildren, and 20 great-grandchildren.

ACA Official Relates Terms of Federal Aid For Soil Conservation

By C. M. Hester

Assistance offered Wake County farmers under the 1949 Agricultural Conservation Program:

First—All assistance is on the share-the-cost basis. All assistance to farmers under the 1949 ACP Program is based on approximately 50% of the cost and assistance furnished by the government.

Second—Assistance is provided only for conservation practices which have been approved by County Committeemen, and soil and crop specialists.

Third—Carrying out conservation practices under the Agricultural Conservation Association is voluntary.

Fourth—The Program is open to all farmers and practices are limited to those approved by the County Committee.

Fifth—Since all people are vitally concerned with maintaining production, the Program is a means for all people to cooperate in conserving the nation's soil and water resources.

Provisions for the use of the Purchase Order are about the same as they were under the 1948 ACP Program. These purchase orders can be obtained by farmers at the Wake County A. C. A. Office, located in the old Rex Hospital Building, 17 West South St., Raleigh, N. C.

Farmers are again urged to place lime orders at once. Any lime they plan to use on a new permanent pasture, alfalfa or any hay crops on 1949.

Raleigh Association Plans Spring Meet

The spring session of the Raleigh Baptist Association will meet with the Rolesville Baptist Church Thursday afternoon, March 24, at 2:00. Dr. C. G. Mumford of Raleigh will preside.

The sermon will be preached by the Rev. B. E. Morris of Durham. An address on the Wake Forest Enlargement Program will be presented by Dr. L. M. Massey of Zebulon. The Rev. John U. Garner of Rolesville is in charge of special music.

Others on the program include the Rev. Carlton Mitchell of Zebulon, the Rev. Earle Rogers of Wendell, the Rev. W. M. Page of Fuquay Springs the Rev. W. B. Pittard of Franklinton.

Little River WOW Set For Officers' Installation

State Manager Nick T. Newberry of Charlotte will talk to the Little River Camp No. 1065 at their regular meeting Wednesday night, March 23, in the W. O. W. hut beside the Freezer Locker plant. Installation of officers will take place at this time under the direction of Field Workers R. N. "Red" Hood and Joe Moore.

The local camp has over 30 members at the present time, and applications for new members will be voted on at the meeting next week, Secretary Claud Dunn stated yesterday.

Link Cox is chairman of a committee to work with Thurman Hepler and John Clark of provide refreshments for the members at the meeting. A collection was taken at the last meeting to finance the food and drink.
