COLLEGE MOVES TO CROSS ROADS

Dr. Thurman D. Kitchin, president of Wake Forest College, is pictured above at the left after he agreed with Milton Satterwhistle of Zebulon, Route 4, and Tommy Plushbottom of Hopkins Cross Roads, right, to move Wake Forest College to the Cross Roads instead of Winston-Salem. The Reynolds Foundation offer has now been definitely rejected with the understanding that merchants of the Cross Roads community will provide an endowment of $15,000,000 for Wake Forest. Cash contributions, made late yesterday afternoon, were Philip Bunn, $50,000; Red Horton, $10,000; Crip Duke, $10,000; and Ivan Hopkins, $250,000. You don't believe it? Well, today is April Fool's Day, isn't it?

Soil Conservation Group Begins Meadow Contest

By C. L. Winchester

The Wake County Supervisors of the Neuse River Soil Conservation District are conducting a meadow strip or sod waterway contest in 1949, assisted by the other agricultural agencies of the county. The county committee is composed of L. O. Page, State Hospital, chairman; Joe Tippet, Zebulon, vice-chairman; H. M. Olive, New Hill, secretary; and M. G. Brooks, Fuquay Springs, honorary supervisor.

The committee feels that meadows are needed to adequately carry concentrated water from terraces down natural draws to a lower level where it will not wash a gully. Besides preventing erosion the meadow is a source of feed either as hay or for grazing.

The supervisors recommend that the meadow be located in natural draws or valleys in the field, prepared and sown to adapted plants. For dry sandy soils sericea is recommended. For fertile soils, the supervisors recommended orchard grass with ladino clover or alfalfa.

On poorly drained soils, tall fescue and ladino are recommended. The supervisors also recommended that 600 lbs. to 1000 lbs. of a 2-12-12 fertilizer be applied after soil is adequately limed.

Some farmers are sowing spring oats and lespedeza now on meadows. Next fall the lespedeza will be disced and either the ladino or alfalfa and either the ladino or Prizes amounting to $100.00 and a barbecue to all farmers who establish meadows are being donated by Proctor and Barbour of Fuquay Springs, Raleigh Tractor and Equipment Company, Raleigh, and N. C. Equipment Company, Raleigh. These companies realize that conservation farming pays in the use of power equipment.

T. P. Baker has recently prepared two meadows and sown them in spring oats and lespedeza. The lespedeza will be disced and sown to a grass legume mixture this fall.

Home Demonstration Agent Lists Plentiful Foods During This Month

Food markets will be well supplied in April with carrots as winter crop marketings are expected to be 20 percent greater than last year. Mrs. Maude McInnes, home demonstration agent for the State College Extension Service, said this week in releasing the U. S. Department of Agriculture's April plentiful foods list for Southern States.

Carrots, Mrs. McInnes said, are rich in carotene, which the body changes to vitamin A.

With the 1948 oat crop slightly below the highest production on record, oatmeal has been named as a plentiful food for April. Oat products are an inexpensive source of food energy, the home agent pointed out. Corn products also will be in good supply in April.

Among the protein foods on the April plentiful list that offer food shoppers a wide choice in menu planning are: broilers, fryers, eggs, processed dairy products, dried beans and peas, peanut butter, and fresh and frozen fish.

Oranges will continue in good supply in April despite the unfavorable weather early this year, and canned citrus juices and grapefruit sections will be abundant. Prunes, especially the smaller sizes, and raisins will be plen-
