Redecorating?

A great many people ARE redeco-rating their homes this spring—new paper and paint—new furnishings—new lighting.

Many people are taking advantage of this redeco-rating time to have their house wiring inspected and new outlets added—new circuits installed—so that they can forever banish the nuisance of ugly and inconvenient extension cords and be prepared for the full enjoyment of all their appliances as well as those they will add in the future. It is a good idea.
