

Farm Drivers Must Be Very Careful

"Since farmers own nearly one and a half million trucks — or about 30 per cent of all privately owned trucks in the United States — they have to be good drivers for their own safety," County Agent John Reitzel of the State College Extension Service declared this week.

Mr. Reitzel pointed out that more farm people are killed in motor vehicle casualties than in any other kind of accident. According to a study made by the National Safety Council, the 7,300 farm residents killed in motor vehicle accidents during 1947 represented a 27 per cent increase over 1946.

The county agent urged all owners to have their trucks checked at least twice a year by a safety inspection station or dependable garage. An excellent slogan to keep in mind, he commented, is "Lives may be spared, by a truck kept repaired." He called attention to the following additional suggestions recommended by the National Safety Council:

- Know the signs and road rules and always obey them.
- Keep lights, brakes, steering mechanisms and windshield wipers in perfect working order.
- Slow to a safe speed for turns and use proper hand signals.
- Be on the lookout for pedes-

Some foods, such as fish, make a pan smell disagreeable. This is because food oils which cling to the pan have a tendency to hold in the food odors.

The most important thing in this store is something you'll never see

IN YOUR pharmacy you see many things that are important to you and your community.

You see a wide variety of attractive merchandise . . . shelves lined with important drugs, chemicals and other medicinal products.

You see the pharmacist himself, a friendly person, a reliable merchant, a good citizen.

But there's one thing you'll never see—and, in a sense, it's the most important of all.

What is it? It's your pharmacist's professional knowledge and technical skill.

To get his college degree and to pass the state examinations required of all pharmacists, he must have a knowledge of many sciences.

He knows thousands of different drugs—their dosage, usage and properties. And he has the practiced skill to compound them into the medicines your doctor prescribes, the medicines needed to help you guard your health.

Get better acquainted with your pharmacist. Trade with him—he's a man you can rely on. — Reprinted from a copyrighted advertisement published by Parke, Davis & Company, Detroit 32, Michigan.
