Former Zebulon Resident Is Head Of Junior League of Jacksonville

The following article by Alice White in a Jacksonville, Florida, daily, will prove interesting to people in Zebulon. The subject of the story, the former Jacqueline Strickland, daughter of Mrs. J. A. Strickland and the late Dr. Strickland, was born in Zebulon and is well known locally. She is the niece of Mrs. W. C. Campen, Dr. C. E. Flowers, and Mrs. G. S. Barbee. Her mother now lives in Blowing Rock

From time to time, I have passed along to you interviews with interesting folks of our town. Today, it's Mrs. Edward Dwelle, newly-elected president of the Jacksonville Junior League. This attractive young matron is Jacquelyn Dwelle, really, but to her intimates "Jackie." She lives in Ortega Terrace and is the proud mother of three children, Jacquelyn, Susan and Edward III, ages ten, seven and five. Jackie and her husband, Edward, are good citizens of our town. But to go back a bit. I must tell you that our Jackie was born in Zebulon, North Carolina, which is near Raleigh. When she was a small girl, the family moved to Norfolk, where her father practiced medicine until 1925, when they moved to St. Petersburg, Florida, where she went through high school and then it was Sweet Briar College in Sweet Briar, Virginia. She graduated from this fine old seat of learning in 1935 and two years later married Edward Dwelle and came to Jacksonville to live and today the roots are very deep that hold them in our town.

Jackie was a transfer to our Junior League from St. Petersburg. She tells me that she worked so hard in the St. Pete League that she made up her mind not to connect herself with our language when she came here as a bride, but one fine day Miranda Childress (Mrs. Frances) came to call and welcome her and from that day on she weakened and has filled almost every job in the league. Hard work she has done on almost all of the more important committees and we should bless the day when our Miranda went to call on this bride and newcomer from St. Petersburg, for certainly we would have missed a wonderful member if she had not transferred to us.

She served as chairman of the Well Baby Clinic, chairman of the clothes chest, placement chairman, education chairman and first vice president under Jean Roseborough (Mrs. Angus) and Frances Barnett (Mrs. Bill). Today, this attractive and most likeable girl with her soft, brown eyes, brown hair and charming natural manner, represents us with the greatest of ease and ability.

As I sat chatting with her in the white-brick colonial home in Ortega terrace and looked about the Canadian Cedar panelled library, I knew that readers lived in this home, for the walls were lined with books from floor to ceiling. Books of all descriptions and they seem to look as though they were read by the family that owned them. Not just there to fill up the shelves as books sometimes look in homes where you instinctively feel that the occupants are not readers.

The vases were filled with Spring-time flowers of a happy mixture.

Several portraits hung on the walls, one was of Jackie's mother, Mrs. Lela Strickland, who now lives in St. Petersburg; another was of daughter, Jackie, done when she was two or three years old.

The house is mostly Williamsburg soft green with matching woodwork and I was told the dining room was soon to be done in the softest shades of rose and dusty rose. From the open windows one could see day lilies, corn flowers, nasturtiums, English daisies and many other oldtime favorites blooming and yes, Jackie told me that the zinnias and marigolds for Summertime heat were soon to be ready.

The joy of living was all over the house for the current magazines were about, treasured pictures of this person or that event, trinkets of sentimental value and year, a plaything or so that belonged to the children, which told me that the whole house was home and they loved it.

Jackie tells me that she isn't too much on the cooking end of housekeeping but knows how to direct its preparation — however, I happen to know she is an excellent housekeeper as well as a good companion and mother.

She likes tailored clothes and when the weather permits wears suits more than any other daytime attire. Even seersucker and other cotton material ones in the summer months. Yellow is her favorite color and I could well understand why it would be, for it somehow goes with those sparkling brown eyes and happy disposition.

She likes the long evening clothes, also she likes hats very much and looks exceedingly well in hats small or large. Jackie wears medium heels most of the time but likes the high ones with dress up clothes.

She likes swimming, golf and horseback and still finds time to ride in the summer when they vacation in their Blowing Rock place, however, this summer is to be spent at the beach.

Likes to knit and each one of the children had a sweater this past winter from her needles. Likes music and plays the piano quite well but wouldn't tell you so, however she can not only entertain herself with her music, but others, for she is quite a pianist.

Jackie likes the theater, movies and reads many historical novels in her spare time. However, the newspapers and magazines seem to fill all of the reading time for the president of our up and doing Junior League.

Likes to travel and though she has never crossed the ocean has seen many parts of this wonderful United States.

The Dwelles are members of St. Mark's Episcopal Church and at the present time, Jackie is vice president of the Sanctuary Guild, besides doing other church work.

She does P-TA work and has been assistant Girl Scout Troop leader.

Likes a good game of bridge, gin rummy and is on the verge of learning Canasta.

One can see a grand year ahead under the leadership of this capable and most delightful young matron, who seems to know exactly how to get folks to work and love what they are doing. I toss the orchids to our league for being headed by such a fine combination of the best qualities of womanhood and I found these in Jacquelyn Dwelle.

Farm Questions

How is Granville wilt spread from one farm to another?

Granville wilt is a soil-borne disease and may be spread by surface water on or other means of moving soil from place to place. Soil clinging to farm implements or even to the feet of animals will spread the parasite. Plants from infested beds may carry the disease to new fields. The wilt is caused by very small, rod-shaped organisms which attack many field crops, vegetables, and weeds. Entering through the roots of the tobacco plant, the bacteria cause their damage by clogging up the water-conducting tissues and producing poisons which result in the wilting of the plant.

At what age is it safe to begin using a young bull for service?

The animal should be at least one year old. Then he should not be used on more than 10 or 12 cows, one service each. Too heavy service for a young bull may impair his usefulness.
