Lions Plan Celebration Of First Anniversary With Special Program

The Zebulon Lions Club will celebrate its first anniversary with a special Ladies Night program next Thursday evening when Dr. Henderson Erwin will deliver the principal address.

Lion Rev. S. E. Mercer will give the invocation.

On the program will be Lion Paul Lyman, President of the Raleigh Club; Lion Wilbur Pike, District Governor of 31-E; Lion Dr. W. Amos Abrams, International Counselor; Lion George T. Rogers, Deputy District Governor of 31-E; and Lion Neal Hester, International Counselor.

Entertainment will be provided by the Union Four and little Miss Carolyn Hinton.

President Worth Hinton will call the meeting to order and welcome the Lionesses and the Wakelton School faculty, who are the guests of honor.

Following the meeting the Lions and their guests will enjoy a dance to the music of Billy Joe Austin's Orchestra.

"In the Footsteps of the Witchdoctor," a motion picture about the medical missions in Africa, will be shown at the Middlesex and Corinth Baptist Churches as part of the W. M. U. work during the Week of Prayer and in conjunction with the Foreign Mission Study and the Lottie Moon Christmas Offering for missions.

The movie will be shown at the Middlesex Church Saturday evening, December 2, at 7:30, and at Corinth Church Thursday evening, December 7, at 7:30.

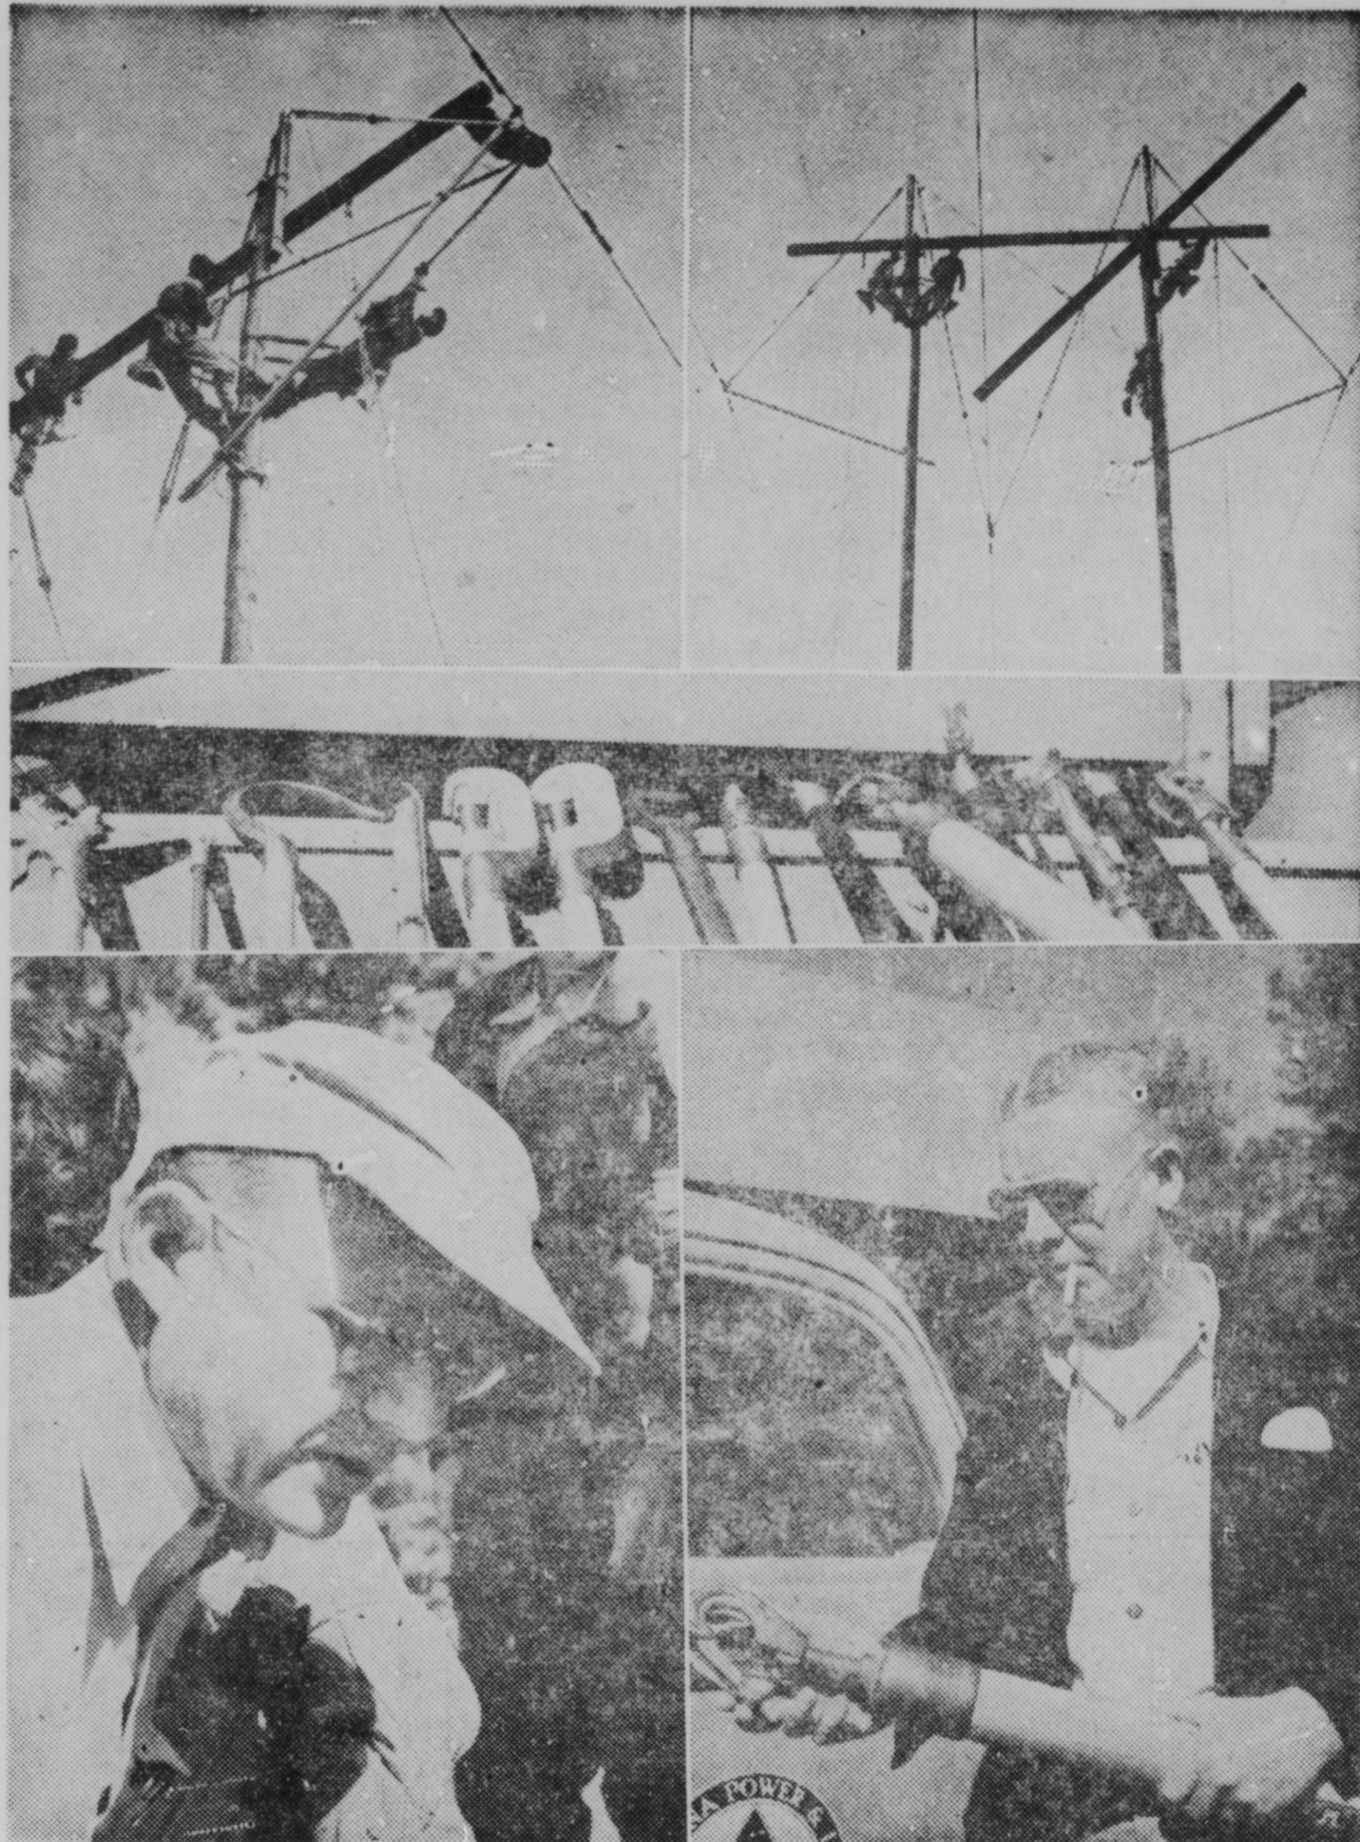

This work is a new venture in audio-visual education covering the entire Johnston Baptist Association. Baptists and their friends are invited to attend the moving pictures at either church.

Rev. Kermit Combs On Duty with Army

Chaplain (Major) Kermit S. Combs has been recalled to active duty with the U. S. Army for two weeks. He is stationed at Camp Rucker, Alabama, and will return to Zebulon December 7.

During his absence the Rev. Robert Lee Edwards of Rolesville is supplying at Wakefield and Bethany churches.

HOT STICKS HELP PROTECT LINEMEN FROM SHOCK

Linemen now can work on lethal 132,000-volt conductors through the use of ingenious tools called hot sticks. Upper left shows the two linemen of Carolina Power and Light Company disconnecting the "hot line" from an insulator. Notice how the line has been held safely away from the working men by two "hot sticks" lashed to a pole. If a man were to get within 18 inches of the high voltage line, an arc might leap to him from the conductor.

Upper right shows work nearing completion. Problem was to replace the 30-foot cross-arm with a new timber. The insulators have been lowered to the ground, the three high tension wires have been safely lashed out of the way, and the new cross-arm is being raised into position. It was hoisted in a perpendicular position, and here is being swung across to the adjoining pole.

Center shows some of the many sticks employed in the new method of handling hot lines. Dozens of different kinds of working "heads" are used and the men handle them with amazing adroitness.

Lower left is Fred N. Williams, foreman of the Roxboro, N. C. crew, holding a grasping hot stick. Caught over a high tension wire, the clamps may be tightened like a fist by turning the other end of the stick. The stick itself is made of specially treated wood and it is guaranteed to take up to 75,000 volts per foot — in other words, its insulation value four feet away from the hot line would be 300,000 volts. However, as an additional safety factor, twelve-foot sticks would be used to work on a 300,000-volt line.

Wakelon Wins, Loses In First Cage Contests With Methodist Orphans

Wakelon divided a twin bill with Methodist Orphanage in the high school gymnasium Tuesday night, the local girls winning 53-22, and the Bulldogs dropping a hard-played 40-38 contest to the visitors.

Every member of the Wakelon girls' squad participated in the one-sided preliminary, with little Betty Sue Williams scoring 18 points to lead the winners.

Jo Jones scored 8 points for the Wakelon lassies and Kat Baker displayed the excellent defensive play that landed her a first-string position last year.

Coach Herb Appenzeller's boys forged into a two-point lead in the final period of their game, but the visitors tied the game and took their two-point victory margin in the final two minutes.

Henry Kitchings led the Wakelton scoring with 14 points.

Junior Class to Present Three-Act Comedy

The date for the Wakelton Junior Class play has been changed to Wednesday evening, December 13, at 7:30, in the Wakelton auditorium. The hilarious comedy, written about the troubles of a group of college students as they plan for their Junior Prom, promises a chuckle a minute.

"Love Is To Much Trouble," as the play is titled can be seen for a slight charge of 25c for school children and 50c for adults.

Mrs. Kemp to Sing At Baptist Services

Mrs. Frank Kemp will sing "The Cross" and the choir will sing the anthem, "Break Forth, O Beauteous Heavenly Light," at the morning services of the Zebulon Baptist Church Sunday.

Communion Service will be held at 7:30 Sunday evening, and the Junior Choir will sing the anthem, "Holy Father, God of Love."

Sucker Control

A Randolph County farmer, Ray Poole of Route 3, High Point, is well pleased with the results of mineral oil treatment for control of tobacco suckers on his farm. He obtained almost perfect sucker control by using three gallons of mineral oil per acre on his entire 7½-acre crop.

CAPITAL REPORTER

Scott Summers

E. Gerald Lackey of Winston-Salem, president of the N. C. Motor Carriers' Association, has written all members of his organization expressing "great alarm" at reports of speeding by trucks.

"I urge each of you to check every driver's record for speed or other violations upon completion of each trip, and to weed out any known violators," Lackey wrote the ruckers.

"I urge you to constantly remind them of their responsibility, and that speed violations will not be tolerated."

Lackey said further that this "urgent matter" will be fully discussed at the Association's board of directors meeting December 11.

Recent reports have shown that trucks and buses have been biggest offenders at exceeding the speed limit on state highways.

The National Tax Equality Association — NTEA — which is back of a radio advertising campaign against cooperatives of all sorts was the subject of a congressional investigation this year. The investigation was made by a select House committee, headed by Rep. Wright Patman of Texas.

NTEA was one of four organizations studied by the House group. All of the organizations were purported to be small business repre-

Planetarium Planning Christmas Program For Yuletide Season

CHAPEL HILL. — The final showing of "Autumn Stars and Stories" in the Morehead Planetarium at the University of North Carolina was given on Monday night, November 27, at 8:30.

The Christmas program, "Star of Bethlehem," opened with a demonstration Tuesday night, November 28, at 8:30. Every night, at the same time, the story of the birth of Jesus will be presented, as well as at Saturday and Sunday matinees at 3 p. m.

Because of the large crowds expected for this program, visitors are urged to attend during the week, if possible, to relieve the pressure of the weekend crowds. If necessary, additional demonstrations will be scheduled, to take care of the overflow.
