Uncle Sam Gives Real Lowdown On Past and Present Bug Affairs

By Uncle Sam

This is the midst of the bug season. If a bug census was taken perhaps it would register the greatest count and the highest bug population of any time during the year. Whether you are going or coming you meet bugs everywhere. You find bugs inside your house and outside your house. Bugs are on your chairs and beds and everywhere in the house. There are bugs on your vegetables, flowers, trees and all over the lawn. The bug hunters must find so many bugs that no longer can it be counted sports or fun to hunt bugs.

There are whizzing bugs and there are sizzing bugs. There are chirping bugs and there are humming bugs. There are hissing bugs and there are kissing bugs. There are red bugs and there are green bugs. There are striped bugs and there are spotted bugs. There are large bugs and there are small bugs. All the bug houses are running over and the dispossessed bugs are looking for new accommodations everywhere. All bugs seem to be prolific breeders. Every daddy bug and every mama bug on the plantation seem to have tremendous large families. (Continued on Page 6)

Wake County Home Demonstration Agent Lists Plentiful August Foods

Fresh fruits and vegetables will be plentiful on August markets, Mrs. Maude McInnes, Wake County home agent for the State College Extension Service, said this week. She explained the U. S. Department of Agriculture's August plentiful foods list for the Southeast features locally grown fresh vegetables, such as potatoes, beets, cabbage, and snapbeans. Fresh fruits on the plentiful list are grapes, lemons, limes, pears, peaches and plums.

Other foods on the August list are canned apples and applesauce, processed citrus products, canned tuna, broilers, fryers, fish, peanut butter, and dairy products.

August marketings of broilers and fryers are expected to average 40 per cent larger than a year ago, the home agent reported, and prices should remain at relatively reasonable levels.

This year's grape crop, estimated at 3,270,700 tons, is the largest on record. The Bartlett pear crop, produced principally in California, Oregon, and Washington, is larger than last season and above average. Bartlett pears should be available at most markets through August.

Baptists Complete Plans for Church Run Kindergarten

Mrs. Oleta Chamblee Smith has accepted the position as teacher in the Kindergarten to be operated at the local Baptist Church and the opening date has been set for September 10, according to an announcement made by Mr. Wilbur Debnam, chairman of the Kindergarten Board. The enrollment will be limited to about 25 pupils and the school will be open to all children in the area who are interested in attending. Five year old children will be given preference in enrollment and a limited number of four-year-olds will be accepted as needed to complete the enrollment.

The kindergarten will operate daily Monday through Friday from 8:30 to 12:00. Transportation will be furnished by parents. A modest tuition fee will be charged to cover the cost of operation.

Teaching Curriculum

The program will include a kindergarten teaching curriculum, Bible study, handwork, painting, music and other features. The curriculum will be designed to prepare pupils for the first grade in the public school.

Members of the Kindergarten Board are Wilbur Debnam, chairman, Mrs. Worth Hinton, vice chairman, Mrs. George Henry Temple, secretary, Mr. Gilbert Beck, treasurer, and Mrs. Wilson Braswell.

Parents interested in enrolling their children are urged to contact Mr. Wilbur Debnam or Mrs. George Henry Temple as soon as possible.

Top Ventilation Needed By Poults, Expert Says

Plenty of ventilation is needed by late-hatched poults which are still in brooder houses during hot July and August days, says L. W. Herrick, extension turkey specialist at State College.

It's best, says Herrick, to keep the sides of the brooder house completely open during midday, to give the birds the protection of the roof and the benefit of any cross-breezes that may be stirring.

If it isn't convenient to have all sides completely open, there should be some openings on each side. In case the brooder house is tight and hot, the first place to remedy this situation is to remove the boards between the plate and roof, both front and rear.

Windows Required

All brooder houses have some windows in the front of the house, and these may be removed or opened wide. It is well to have windows at least three feet wide all across the front. This arrangement gives good light, which is also important, especially in starting poults.

The ends should have either windows or doors that may be opened. Many large brooder houses have wide drive through doors in each end for cleaning out the house. Such doors provide good ventilation when open.

Herrick says most large brooder houses have an opening two or three feet wide, running the length of the house along the back side. This is fixed by nailing boards on cleats and hinging in sections six or eight feet long.

MAKES SURVEY

Ralph Talton, Zebulon manager for Carolina Power & Light Company, has recently completed a power and appliance sales survey for this community.

E. V. Richardson Feted by Friends

E. V. Richardson, affectionately called "Uncle Ed" by Wendell citizenry, celebrated his 80th birthday anniversary during the past week when he was complimented by his church, Masonic Order, Rotary Club, and a family dinner party.

The congregation of the Wendell Baptist Church paid tribute to him during the 11 a. m. worship service on Sunday.

On Tuesday night he was a guest at the Rotary Club receiving a hearty ovation.

On Tuesday evening at 8 p. m. the Wendell Masonic Lodge paid tribute to him at a traditional party given in his honor at the Club Lodge, as the Order's oldest member.

On Wednesday, July 25th, his 80th birthday, he was again honored at a family luncheon at the S&W Cafeteria in Raleigh.

Born near Wendell in Johnston County, Mr. Richardson was one of six children born to the late Josiah and Tempie Ann A. Richardson.

His civic interest, honesty, high ethics and friendliness have won him the respect of a large host of friends, both in the Zebulon community and the Hephzibah area.

A conference will be held following the evening services Sunday at the Zebulon Baptist Church to decide on proposed improvement of the church property. Reports from the architect and the building committee will be heard.

At the morning service, the pastor, Carlton Mitchell, will use as his subject, "Our Faith in the Future." The Adult Choir will sing an anthem and Mr. Elwood Perry will be featured in a baritone solo.

Zebulon Manager Of Electric Firm Compares Selling

Reflecting the economic health of the Zebulon service area, electrical appliance sales continued at a substantial rate during the first six months of 1951, according to a report by R. W. Talton, local manager of Carolina Power & Light Company. While sales were somewhat below those of the same period in 1950, said Talton, they are not disappointing, because in the first half of last year there was an abnormal flurry of buying stimulated by scarcity scares. There are generally plenty of appliances on the market today, the power official said, and steady sales are expected to continue throughout this year.

The steady swing toward electric cookery was emphasized by the fact that over the whole CP&L system, 41 per cent of the Company's residential customers now own electric ranges, and 30.2 per cent of them own electric water heaters. Home freezers were selling better than last year.

Customer Use Grows

Residential customer use of electric power has steadily increased, and by the end of the year is expected to average 3,000 kilowatthours per year, which is far in excess of the national average. The Raleigh, Sanford and Southern Pines districts already exceed the 3,000 mark.

In the Zebulon service area, the six months sales record of dealers show 271 ranges were sold, 484 electric refrigerators, 117 home freezers, 115 water heaters, 6 dishwashers, 134 electric automatic washers, 32 attic vents, 129 water systems, 47,336 mazda lamps, 194 portable lamps, 474 regular washing machines, 25 ironers, 2,165 pieces of table cookery, 968 other motor devices, 155 other fans, 1,565 radios, 7 television sets, 1,294 other heating devices, and 51 other farm devices.

Premium List for Local Fair to Be Ready Soon

The premium list for the 5-County Fair is nearly ready for printing, containing the most complete entry list for prizes ever offered at the Zebulon agricultural exhibit. The 5-County Fair will be held during the week of September 17-22.

The premium list is being printed by Theo. Davis Sons, and will be ready for distribution by August 16, according to Zollie Culpepper, advertising manager.

The early distribution date will give farmers ample opportunity to prepare the best exhibits in the history of the fair.

ty's most prominent farmers and merchants.

The body will lie in state at Hopkins Chapel for one hour prior to the services. Burial will be in the Hopkins Chapel cemetery.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Zola Duke, Mrs. Polly Brannon, and Mrs. Viola Nowell of Raleigh; seven sons, W. I., B. K., W. B., Jr., Cecil, William, Harvey, and Kenneth; seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.
