ELECTRICAL TIPS FOR THE HOME

If Your Toaster and Coffee Maker Take Forever to Heat Up . . .

DON'T blame the appliance or your dealer. Chances are your wiring is overloaded. Overloading can cause as much as 10% voltage drop on a circuit. When this happens, a toaster will take 31.5% more time to heat up and a coffee maker will take 22.5% more time than when the wiring is adequate.

DO install at least two 20-ampere appliance circuits to serve cooking appliances in the kitchen and in the dining room. When there are enough circuits of large enough wire, your electrical equipment will operate efficiently and economically. You will also be assured of better cooking results.

Washington sources report, incidentally, that Mr. Cooley got trapped in some of his fine maneuverings. Harold sounded off at first in favor of beef price rollbacks. Western and midwestern boys told him to change his tune or "see what happens to peanuts, cotton and tobacco." Cooley suddenly discovered that beef price rollbacks were un-American and evil, but apparently didn't do as good an about-face as the boys

Junior Order Plans State Term

Plans have virtually been completed for the 61st annual session of the State Council of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics which will be held at Sanford, N. C., August 21-23, it was announced today by Forrest G. Shearin, State Secretary at Scotland Neck.

Shearin said that acceptances indicated that practically every local council in the State including the Wakefield Council will be represented at the meeting and there should be attendance of 250 to 300 persons.

Preceding the opening of the annual session on Tuesday, August 21, at the Wilrik Hotel, the annual meeting of the State Board of Officers will be held on Monday night, August 20, at 8:30 p. m.

Short Rations

It costs Governor Scott some $62 at Duke Hospital to find out that he's got to stand back a little from the table. He likes to eat, but his present job keeps him from getting much exercise, and he's getting too hefty to suit the medicos.

As a result, the governor says, "Miss Mary (Mrs. Scott) has me on short rations."

Special Session?

Governor Scott told a press conference the other day that he might call a special session of the General Assembly to settle the question of segregation in our schools.

Many legal eagles believe the U. S. Supreme Court will hold — perhaps in a Fall or early Winter decision — that separate schools may be kept for white and Negro if the schools are equal.

Department of Education studies indicate that seventy to eighty million dollars will have to be spent on Negro schools in North Carolina to bring them up to par with the white.

A court ruling to equalize or eliminate segregation would pose a problem of finding the money — a job only the Legislature could do.

Walter E. Crissman of High Point, the State Councilor, will preside over the meeting of the State Board of Officers and will likewise preside over the sessions of the Order.

Highlight of the convention will come at the banquet session in the ballroom of the hotel at 7:30 p. m., on Tuesday, August 21, when the speaker will be Dr. Clyde A. Erwin of Raleigh, State Superintendent of Public Instruction. The credentials committee will check in the delegates between 9 that morning and two o'clock that afternoon, and the officers again will meet during the morning. An important session of the Board of Trustees of the Junior Order Children's Home at Lexington will be held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Increase of Rents Method Now Set For Public by OPS

Here's what will happen under the 20 per cent rent increase provision of the new rent law.

Landlords who are eligible for the rent increase must file a sworn application with the rent office at 303 Capital Club Building, Raleigh, North Carolina.

Application forms may be obtained at the rent office.

In any case where the present maximum rent is less than 120 per cent of the June 30, 1947 rent plus adjustments for improvements and services, the landlord is eligible for the rent increases, according to R. B. Lewis, Area Rent Director. Here are some typical cases showing landlords who are eligible and those who are not:

1. The landlord's rent on June 30, 1947 was $50.00 per month, and he has received no increase since that date. He may now obtain an additional 20 per cent to $60.00.

2. The landlord's rent on June 30, 1947 was $50.00. Since that date he has received an increase in rent to $57.50 under a "voluntary lease" which was authorized by Congress in 1947 and 1948. In this case the landlord may obtain a rent increase to $60.00, which is 20 per cent more than the $50.00 rent in effect before the lease.

Increase Allowed

3. The landlord's rent on June 30, 1947 was $50.00. Since that date he has received an increase in rent to $55.00 because of $5.00 increase was necessary to compensate him for increased costs. In this case the landlord may obtain a rent increase to $60.00, which is 20 per cent more than the $50.00 rent in effect before the increased cost adjustment took place.

4. The landlord's rent on June 30, 1947 was $50.00, and he has since received a $10.00 increase such as a garage, modern bathroom, because of a major improvement room, sleeping porch, etc., or an increase in services such as utilities, heat, etc. He may now obtain an additional 20 per cent on his present rent of $60.00, for a total new rent of $72.00.

5. The landlord's rent on June 30, 1947 was $50.00. Since that date the rent has been increased to $60.00 because the $50.00 rent was less than that brought for comparable dwelling units. Since the $10.00 increase was not for an improvement or an increase in services, the landlord cannot obtain 20 per cent provision because he is already receiving 120 per cent of the original $50.00 rent.

Another Example

6. The landlord's rent on June 30, 1947 was $50.00. Since that date the landlord has been permitted to charge an additional $5.00 whenever he rents to a number of persons that is greater than normally occupied this kind of dwelling unit. In this case the landlord is eligible for a rent of $60.00 for normal occupancy (120 per cent of $50.00), and $65.00 for additional occupancy.

In any case where the present maximum rent is already more than 120 per cent of the June 30, 1947 rent plus adjustments for improvements and services, the present maximum rent continues without change.

In any case where there has been a decrease in services or equipment such as cutting off utilities, such as decreases must be shown in the application and are offsets against the 20 per cent increase.

Neuse Soil Conservation Notes

Eugene R. Wall of the Bethlehem Church Community on the Poole Road is planning to sow an alfalfa and orchard grass meadow this fall. Lime, fertilizer and seed will be applied as recommended.

Mr. Wall has some plants of tobacco affected with black shank. He is now planning a rotation that will have tobacco on the same land one year out of three. The other two years will be (1) small grain (lespedeza) followed by (2) corn, and then back to tobacco. He is of the opinion that one cannot take chances with planting tobacco on diseased land. It seems that rotation is the best answer to black shank as the resistant varieties are not standing up as well as expected.

Recorder's Court Has Larceny Case, Traffic Violations

Appeals were taken in two cases resulting from the robberies recently at Philip Olive's Store in Wakefield. Ronnie Richards and Lloyd Creech both appealed the sentences imposed by Judge Irby D. Gill and were bound over to the Superior Court.

Non-suit was taken in breaking and entering charges against them, but both were given six months suspended upon payment of $15 fine and costs and a period of probation when they were found guilty of receiving stolen goods knowing them to be stolen.

Richards was placed on probation for 39 months and Creech for 21 months, the time remaining before their 21st birthdays.

In cases against Wade Bolton, Gerald Wayne Perry, and B. J. Pully, all charged with being involved in the same series of robberies, judgment was held open until August 27, 1951.

Ottis L. Davenport, 30-year-old white man of Toledo, Ohio, was found guilty of drunken driving and sentenced to six months suspended upon payment of $200 fine and costs. This was a second offense for Davenport. Previously he had lost his North Carolina license upon a DD conviction.
