

THE ZEBULON RECORD

Volume XXVII. Number 7.

Zebulon, N. C., Tuesday, October 9, 1951

Theo. Davis Sons, Publishers.

ACTION IN WAKELON - WENDELL GRID CONTEST

It's end of the line for Mack Liles (22), Wendell back, as Billy Tant latches on to him. Ronnie Richards (43) hits the ground at right before he can help his fellow Bulldog, and Bill Joe Bailey (39) rushes up to assist if needed. In spite of their hard play, the Wakelon Bulldogs fell before the Wendell White Rams by a 26-6 score in the first meeting of the two teams this season.—Photo by Tommy Bunn.

Gangsters and Business Merge in City of Detroit

An alarming aspect in the pattern of crime in America is that certain manufacturers have deliberately allied themselves with racketeers as a means of controlling labor relationships.

In Detroit, the Senate Crime Committee turned up four instances in which large industrial concerns awarded lucrative contracts to gangsters or men who had underworld connections.

Typical was the link between Santo (Sam) Perrone and the Detroit-Michigan Stove Co. The bespectacled, balding Perrone once served a six-year sentence for violating the prohibition laws, and both he and his brother, Gasper, had been arrested for questioning on murder charges, though later released. Ironically, Santo had a license to carry a revolver at the time we questioned him. It was promptly revoked by Detroit authorities.

Perrone barely can read and write English. He went to work more than 40 years ago as a core-maker for the stove works, perhaps the largest non-union plant in the area. Perrone insisted he never even had discussed labor problems with John A. Fry, company president, and Mr. Fry testified he never had heard of any labor difficulty or any physical violence at the plant.

Around 1934, however, there was a serious strike when a union made a strenuous effort to organize the stove works. Twelve years later, Fry told a grand jury investigating labor rackets that during the dispute "I talked with some of the fellows in the plant, including the Perrones, and I wanted to know whether or not we could get some help to come in, and they said they thought they could."

"There was some fights outside the gate on the part of the pickets attacking the men when they

(Continued on Page 4)

Special Guests to Be At Eastern Star Meet

The Order of the Eastern Star will meet in the Masonic Lodge on Thursday night, October 11, at 8 p. m. Special guests will be present from Siler City and Raleigh.

Wendell Rotary Club to Sponsor 'Going Places' Thursday and Friday

The town of Wendell is bubbling this week with conversation about "Going Places," the big local talent show, being sponsored by the Wendell Rotary Club to raise funds to beautify the Wendell Cemetery. Two performances are scheduled, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, October 10 and 11 at the School Auditorium, curtain time at 8:02.

Mallie C. Todd plays the lead

Woodmen to Meet Wednesday Night

Little River Camp No. 1065, Woodmen of the World, will hold a meeting Wednesday night at 7:15 in the Club House, and all Sovereigns are urged to take notice of the change of meeting place.

Financial Secretary Claud Dunn announced that by vote of the Camp meetings of the group will be limited to one hour duration, beginning with this month.

character, Uncle Billy Watson, whose memories over his 50 years as stationmaster of the depot in Hometown, U. S. A., are presented in ten big scenes. Phil Whitley plays the part of Professor Quiz and awards prizes for correct answers.

Cecil Perkins will play the part of the Mayor in the hilarious Convention scene and present the keys of the city to a group of roistering conventionaires led by J. B. Bilisoly. They include Andy Anderson, Marsh Knott, Will Stott, Wallace White, Leroy Clark, Jr., Howard Boling, Ralph Baugh, Mack Creech, Jim Buchanan, Mills Steph.

Committees working on the show are: General Chairman and Advertising, J. Bourke Bilisoly; Tickets, Jim Buchanan; Publicity, T. M. Pearce; Cast, Jim Parish and Mrs. J. B. Bilisoly; Models, Mrs. Wayne Cook, Mrs. Phil Whitley, Mrs. H. C. Gerald; and Baby Contest, Mrs. Wallace White.

Zebulon Lions Win District Trophy For Garner Visit

The principles which Lions uphold and the goals for which they strive were pointed out to members of the Zebulon Lions Club by District Governor George Rogers of Apex at the regular meeting of the local group held Thursday night in the recreation room of the Zebulon Methodist Church. The topic of the talk was "Lionism," and the inspirational address was well-received by the Zebulon Lions.

Royal Bunn told of the Wake County Pasture Contest at which Governor Scott will be a speaker and a barbecue will be served.

M. L. Hagwood urged the members to give their support to the Farm Bureau.

Chamber of Commerce President Frank Wall called on the members of the Lions Club to support the Chamber of Commerce, and Mayor Worth Hinton stated that all organizations should work together to obtain industry for Zebulon.

Capture Trophy

On Friday night eight members of the Zebulon Lions Club captured the famous Jungle Prowlers Trophy for points attained by a visit to the Garner Lions Club. The local group will hold the trophy until it is won by another district club.

Making the trip to Garner were Lions Wilbur Debnam, Pete Bryant, Donald Stallings, Jerry Hagwood, Phillip Massey, Durham Moore, W. L. Simpson, and Thomas Smith.

The purpose of the trophy is to promote inter-club visitations within the district. The club with the largest number of points at the end of the year will be presented the trophy to be retained permanently.

Mrs. L. R. Harrell Garden Club Speaker

Speakers for the Open House to be held on Tuesday night at eight o'clock will be Mrs. L. R. Harrell, president of the Raleigh Garden Club, and Mrs. Zeno Martin of Raleigh.

All club members and all new members of the Junior and Senior Women's Clubs are urged to be present.

Gov. Kerr Scott Featured Speaker At Pasture Meet

Governor W. Kerr Scott will be the featured speaker of the day on Wednesday, October 10 when the Wake County Lions bring to a close their pasture contest. Over $150.00 in cash prizes will be presented to contest winners, and certificates will be awarded to other participants.

Awards will be made by the presidents of the Lions Clubs which serve the areas where the winners live.

The tour of the pastures will begin at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon, and Governor Scott's address is scheduled for 4:15 p. m.

Sheep Herding

Another feature of the special day include an exhibition of sheep herding and handling by H. L. (Bud) Meek, Jr., and his collie.

Chairman George L. Winchester stated that there are 175 contestants in the pasture improvement project.

Cooperating with the Lions in this contest are Federal, State, and County agricultural agencies, and the Lions Clubs of Apex, Garner, Holly Springs, Fuquay-Varina, Zebulon, Wendell, Wake Forest, Rolesville, and Raleigh.

The Nipper Farm, where the big occasion will be held, is located 12 miles North of Raleigh, just off highway 15-A on the way to Creedmoor.

Funeral Services Held At Rolesville Sunday For Joe R. Moody

Joe R. Moody, 79, died at his home at Zebulon, Route 4, Friday afternoon after a lengthy illness. Funeral services were held Sunday at 3 p. m., at Rolesville Baptist Church. Burial was in the cemetery at Beulah Christian Church. The Rev. W. C. Barham, the Rev. Carl E. Wallace and the Rev. John Garner conducted the rites.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Sidie Perry Moody; six sons, Elmer of Millbrook, D. L. of Zebulon, Route 4, Joseph and Roy of Raleigh, David of Wake Forest, Route 2, and Johnny Moody of the home; three daughters, Mrs. C. D. Puryear of Bunnlevel, Mrs. T. E. Puryear of Zebulon, and Mrs. John Carter of Wendell, Route 2; two sisters, Mrs. Annie Underwood of Zebulon, Route 4, and Mrs. C. T. Scarborough of Wake Forest, Route 2; a brother, Dollie Moody of Zebulon, Route 4; and 18 grandchildren.

QUEEN

Miss Kathryn Baker, sparkling Wakelon senior, was crowned Homecoming Queen Friday night between halves at the Wakelon-Cathedral grid contest. Election of the Homecoming Queen was sponsored by the Beta Club. Kathryn is president of the Student Council and an active member in all school activities.

J. W. Saunders Funeral on Friday

J. W. Saunders, 80, retired farmer, died at his home near here Thursday. Funeral services were conducted from the Zebulon Methodist Church, of which he was a charter member, Friday at 3 p. m., conducted by the Rev. S. E. Mercer, pastor, and the Rev. E. B. Fisher of Raleigh. Burial was in Montlawn in Raleigh.

Surviving are four daughters, Mary Saunders of the home, Mrs. Robert L. Corbett of Macclesfield, Mrs. L. B. Saunders of Wendell and Mrs. John Byrd of Chicago; one son, W. A. Saunders of Willow Springs; six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

PTA Plans Barbecue To Finance Project

The Wakelon Parent-Teacher Association will sponsor a barbecue supper Friday, October 26, it was announced yesterday by the Finance Committee. Proceeds from the supper will be used to help with the PTA project of the year.

On Thursday, November 29, the PTA will sponsor a hilarious Womanless Wedding.

Members of the Finance Committee include Willie B. Hopkins, Worth Hinton, Mrs. Edna Allman, Mrs. Mary Francis Martin, Mrs. Marian Alford, Mrs. Virginia Wood, and Mrs. Julia Straghan.

END OF LINE FOR WENDELL STAR

Wakelon tackle Dick Bullock clamps his tongue in his teeth and lunges at Wendell's star backfield ace, Warren Allen, bringing to an end one of Allen's speedy gallops. The action took place in the Wakelon-Wendell contest 10 days ago.—Photo by Tommy Bunn.