

In Memoriam

In the recent death of Carmen Poole Flowers, wife of Dr. Charles E. Flowers, Zebulon, sustained the loss of an outstanding civic leader. Keenly interested in civic affairs, she was always active in church, school and club work. She gave freely of her great talent, her keen mind, her time, her inspiring personality, and her abundant energy.

Mrs. Flowers served as president of the Zebulon Woman's Club, The Ida Fisher Woman's Society of Christian Service and the Wake County Medical Auxiliary. She served on many other committees for the betterment of Zebulon and the surrounding communities. She was instrumental in organizing the Wake County Cancer Society, and as Chairman of the committee was successful in exceeding the quota of each yearly campaign in her community.

Mrs. Flowers organized the first Junior Woman's Club in Zebulon in 1934 and through the years has been a resourceful inspiration. The large and active Junior Woman's Club in Zebulon, stands as a monument to her tireless efforts in its behalf. She organized and served as the first president of the local garden club. Through this organization, she promoted and successfully engineered many projects for the beautification of private and public property. Her contribution to this year's "Finer Carolina Program," sponsored by the Carolina Power and Light Co., was the current project of planting six thousands long leaf pines interspersed with our own state flower, the Dogwood, on all the streets of Zebulon. The pines, under her supervision have been planted. The dogwoods were planted in the nursery of Rev. Theo. B. Davis and will be transplanted at a later date when the size indicates a sturdy growth.

She also organized and personally nurtured a garden club for the colored citizens of Zebulon. Through her activities at home and in the community, she proved the reality of her favorite quotation, "One is nearer God's heart in a garden, than anywhere else on earth."

Seldom has an individual contributed so much to the progress of a community as did Mrs. Flowers.

Courageous and cheerful living was exemplified in the life of Mrs. Claudia Mangum Jones, double amputee, 75, who died on May 14, 1952, in Mary Elizabeth Hospital in Raleigh, where she was a patient only a week before her death.

A great granddaughter of Civil War General "Mang" Mangum, she was born August 22, 1876, to the late John Hillman and Frances Cannady Mangum near Creedmoor in Granville County.

Christian Faith

She pledged Christian faith in early youth by membership affiliation in the Fellowship Baptist Church, which faith continued actively strong through life.

On November 2, 1898, she married Lucious M. Jones of Granville County, who died in 1937. Since, she had made her home with her only daughter, Mrs. Hoye M. White and husband, Williard A. White, in Wendell.

Approximately ten years ago, a circulatory impairment necessitated the amputation of both legs above the knees. As a wheel chair and bed patient, she exuded cheerfulness, patience and fortitude to untold numbers of sympathetic friends and relatives, and the most loving care rendered by her loyal companions, Mr. and Mrs. White, and her two sons, Cecil S. Jones of Rolesville, and Thomas G. Jones and two grandchildren of Wendell.

Funeral Services

Funeral services were held in the Wendell Baptist Church on Thursday afternoon, May 15, at 3 o'clock with the Reverend Carlton Mitchell, pastor of the Zebulon Baptist Church, and Dr. W. R. Cullom of Wake Forest, officiating.

Two of her favorite hymns were "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Abide With Me," were beautifully rendered by a chorus of mixed voices.

Active pallbearers were: Robert and Melvin Massey, Alvin Dew, Eugene Mangum, Joe High and Marquette Pearce.

Interment was in the family plot at Rolesville Cemetery.

The many deeds of loving kindness by friends and neighbors and the large numbers of floral tributes bore mute testimony of the high esteem in which Mrs. Jones was held.

Survivors include her daughter, Mrs. Willard A. White, of Wendell, two sons, Cecil S. Jones of Rolesville, Thomas G. Jones of Wendell, and two grandchildren; three brothers, Alvis Mangum of Creedmoor, Graham and Carmel Mangum of Raleigh.

Uncle Ferd's Almanac

Two old women were thrown into water as a witch test in England 192 years ago today. I am not sure just how valid this test was, but if the suspect sank, she was supposed to be a witch. The two old ladies each had on many a petticoat, which resulted in their floating triumphantly on the testing pool, and thus their innocence was established. I predict that if people start getting tried for witchcraft again, long skirts will again become popular.

Eight years ago today the Wakelon School Board announced the election of R. F. Lowery to succeed B. K. Miller, and Sgt. Dabney Gill, still single then and likewise today, was home on furlough from Chanute Field. Also that same day there was a bond auction held in Zebulon, with Dr. L. M. Massey serving as local chairman and R. O. Heater as Wake County chairman of the bond campaign.

Ulysses S. Grant, who had fought a tremendous battle with John Barleycorn before taking on Robert E. Lee, was named a colonel of the 21st Illinois Volunteers 91 years ago today. A civilian at the time war began, Grant applied what General Lee had taught him during their military service together, and ultimately became commander-in-chief of the Yankee forces, accepting surrender from his old boss at Appomattox.

General Lee applied for a pardon from the president 87 years ago today, although the Civil War was only a thing of the past by some two months. Alexander Stephens, who fought secession but served as vice president of the Confederacy after his home state of Georgia seceded, applied for a pardon the same day. Stephens was immediately elected to the U. S. Senate, but was not allowed to take his seat there. He served as U. S. Congressman, however.

Three years ago tonight Vester Brantley turned over the reins of Rotary to Willie B. Hopkins. That morning Mrs. C. G. Weathersby and Charles Allen left for Tifton, Ga., where Mr. Weathersby was on the tobacco market, and all day long Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Talton were busier than a hen with one chick (they had two) getting ready for Lillian's wedding to Frank Coiner the next night, June 18, at the Baptist Church.

Purina and Pigs Mean More Money

Completely surrounded by a few of his Purina-fed pigs and sows is Charlie Boy Pace of Route 4, Zebulon, who says his experience has proved Purina chows mean healthier, faster-growing, money-making pigs. One of Mr. Pace's sows recently gave birth to a litter of 15 pigs and every one of them lived. "I've got a regular pig factory," Mr. Pace says, "and Purina helps the sows keep up their own bodies and nourish the embryo litters."
