SCENES AT WAKEFIELD CEREMONY

Rev. Kermit Combs, decked out in white shirt and necktie, grins happily as he turns the first shovel of dirt to start construction work for the new Wakefield Baptist Church. Shown with the preacher are members and friends of the church who gathered for the early morning service last Saturday starting the work. Three tractors, shown at bottom, took up the work when the preacher discarded his shovel.

SEEN AND HEARD

Union Chapel People Are Praised In Daily Papers for Generosity

The story in the Record about Frank Blackley's neighbors plowing his fields was picked up by other newspapers and gave the Union Chapel community some deserved publicity. Generous deeds like that can do more to build a community than the loud and blatant bragging of the most active Chamber of Commerce group. Actions, we have been told, speak louder than words.

You can almost see the crops grow after rains like we had this week.

One of the understatements of the week was the Greensboro Daily News' description of Juanna Joy Mitchell. This newspaper featured a sparkling picture of the Zebulon beauty and then described her in a news story as only "pretty."

Success is still operated on the self-service plan, D. D. Chamblee reported to us last week.

We've already had favorable comments on Massey's Hatchery's advertisement featuring Charlie Boy Pace and his money-making pigs. Next week the ad will feature Rolesville agriculture students who have collected many blue ribbons with their Purina fed calves.

Full Recreation Program to Start Monday; Blooper League Schedules Several Games

National Guard Unit To Make Butner Trip On Saturday, Sunday

Tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock the Zebulon National Guardsmen will meet at the armory to begin their final weekend of training. Following roll call by First Sergeant Sidney Holmes, the officers and men of Battery A will board the large 6x6 trucks and move to Camp Butner for two days of firing with the carbines.

This weekend will be the last extra training for Battery A. Six days of extra work will have been completed when the Guardsmen return Sunday afternoon.

One More Drill

Only one more regular drill remains before Battery A leaves for Ft. McClellan, Ala., where they will engage in intensive field exercises for two weeks. Monday night, June 23, the artillery unit has scheduled two hours of combined sections training under the lights of the Wakelon ball field.

Men who plan to join the National Guard are urged to enlist before Battery A leaves for Camp Butner tomorrow so that they may complete the small arms training this weekend.

Perfect Attendance

The Zebulon battery has received state-wide recognition for achieving a 100% attendance record for the month of May. This is the first time a National Guard unit has completed all the drills for a complete month without absence.

Attendance has been perfect for the month of June, according to Administrative Assistant Kenneth Hopkins, and special effort is being made to have every man present at the final drill Monday night to complete another perfect attendance month.

Juanna Joy Mitchell Brings Honor to Town As First GS Delegate

Juanna Joy Mitchell, who captured the Nationalist nomination for governor of Girls State on Monday, lost a hotly-contested election to Minnie Bowman of Marion at Woman's College at Greensboro. Juanna Joy and Fan Green are Zebulon's delegates to the Tar Heel Girls State, which is sponsored annually by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Some 260 girls cast their votes in Monday election, which was the highlight of the week-long Girls State program.

Both Juanna Joy and her successful opponent were winners in the recent World Peace Speaking Contest and visited New York together in April.

Thad Eure Speaks

On Tuesday, the Girls Staters went to Duke University, heard a talk in Raleigh by Secretary of State Thad Eure, had lunch at State College, visited the capitol, and then took in a planetarium show and had dinner at Chapel Hill.

Zebulon Folks Are Invited to See Air Show, Graduation at Kinston

When the first class of Air Force Cadets, Class 52-H, graduates on Wednesday, June 25, at the Kinston Air Force Base, it will mark another milestone in the air history of the State where aviation was born. Less than a year old the Contract flying school at the Kinston Air Base, Stallings Field, already has an excellent rating with the inspector general's department.

Gov. Kerr Scott will be the speaker for the occasion. A list of dignitaries who have accepted invitations to attend include such notables as Rep. Harold Cooley, State Adj. Gen. John H. Manning; Knox Phagan, "father" of the Contract Flying School plan under which the Kinston Base is operated; Editor Henry Belk of the Goldsboro News Argus; Bill Turner, Aviation representative for Shell Oil; Zack Moseley, creator of the comic strip "Smiling Jack"; H. Galt Braxton, editor and publisher of the Kinston Free Press; Rep. Erdle Carlyle; Cong. Charles B. Dean, Brig. Gen. Luke Smith (ret) president of Texas Aviation Industries at Hondo, Texas.

The public is invited to use this service from 12:00 noon when the base opens until 5:30 in the afternoon when the base will be closed to the public.
