Tar Heel Editors Plan to Support Gov. Stevenson

Over three-fourths of the weekly newspapers in North Carolina believe that Governor Adlai Stevenson is the choice of the people they serve, according to a survey just completed by the Publishers' Auxiliary. Fifty-two North Carolina weekly editors participated in the poll, and 78.8% of them said that Tar Heels will favor the Illinois governor.

Over 3,000 weekly editors from over the Nation participated in the poll, and 64.3% reported that General Eisenhower was the choice of their readers.

Asked their personal choice, North Carolina weekly editors chose Stevenson. Nearly 60% of the editors named the Democratic nominee as their choice.

"My paper will support Stevenson editorially," 36.5% of the editors reported. Eisenhower will receive editorial support of 23% of the weeklies.

North Carolina was one of eight states, all in the South, where the majority of the people favor Stevenson, according to the poll. Other states are Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, and New Mexico.

In the poll of the editor's choice, North Carolina joined Kentucky, Georgia, Mississippi, and Arkansas in choosing the Democratic nominee.

Youth Conference Held at Durham

From most of the 300 charges in the North Carolina Methodist Conference delegates were sent to Duke University for the first Annual Conference of Methodist Youth Fellowship organizations. Meetings were held August 24-28. Ruth Temple represented the Zebulon group.

The conference was held to study the program of the youth division of the Methodist Church as a whole; to compose and publish the sub-district program guide; to elect and install the youth council for 1952-53; and to offer opportunity for spiritual growth and enrichment to all participants.

Revival Services At Baptist Church

The revival at the local Baptist Church will continue through this week with the pastor preaching each evening at 8:00 o'clock. The sermon theme this evening will be "Concerning Our Neighbors." Mr. Elwood Perry, baritone, will sing "My Task." Recognition will be given the members of the Board of Deacons and the Junior Board. The geographical districts of the church will receive special attention and the people will be recognized by geographical districts.

On Wednesday evening the Sunday School will share the focus of attention. Classes and departments throughout the Sunday School will be recognized along with their officers and teachers. The sermon topic will be "The Education of the Heart." The Adult Choir will sing the anthem.

The Christian Home in the world today will be the theme of the Thursday evening service. Entire families present will be recognized. The sermon title will be "Is Your Home a Training Ground or a Battlefield." Mrs. Nellie Kemp will sing "Bless This House."

The services will be concluded on Friday evening with the pastor preaching on the subject, "Dedication to God," and the Adult Choir singing "The Holy City." Mr. Johnsey Arnold, baritone, will also sing "The Living God."

Membership Drive Begun This Week By Farm Bureau

Farm Bureau Vice President R. Flake Shaw, of Greensboro, made an urgent appeal today to each of the organization's county units "to leave no stone unturned in obtaining this year's membership quota of 75,000 farm families."

Shaw said, "The Farm Bureau must have this large membership to maintain the present farm program and be prepared for any legislative pitfalls we may encounter next year."

He emphasized that the organization would continue to favor under its present resolution the principle of price supports at 90 percent of parity on any farm commodity provided the farmer would take the responsibility of keeping the supply in line with demand.

Regarding the tobacco stabilization program which the Farm Bureau set up in 1946, Shaw made it clear that his organization would continue to work in the best interests of growers to help them obtain a maximum price for their leaf under the auction system.

He pointed out that the Farm Bureau is at present working to obtain a more satisfactory peanut marketing program for the growers in the North Carolina-Virginia area; a fair market price for milk producers; equitable freight rates; better livestock and poultry marketing facilities; an adequate rural health program; and better rural electrification.

North Carolina Commissioner of Agriculture L. Y. Ballentine has endorsed the State Farm Bureau program for the coming year by calling on all farmers to join the organization.

Accused Murderer Arrested by Massey

Paul Morgan, alias Willie Cooper, Negro wanted on charges of murdering his wife with a pine pole in February of 1949 was arrested September 6, near Zebulon city limits by Sheriff's Deputy G. C. Massey and the Zebulon Police Chief, it was reported Tuesday.

Deputy Massey said the Negro was arrested about 9 p. m. Saturday as a result of a tip received by the two officers that the accused murderer was in that area.

Morgan has been sought by police officers of Orange County on a murder warrant since February of 1949. Massey said Morgan is accused of beating his wife, Nina Morgan, to death with a pine pole.
