Speaks at Rotary

America Is Declared in Danger

All the great advances in world civilization have been made at times when men had definite ideas, Attorney Frank Coiner told members of the Zebulon Rotary Club at the regular meeting of the group last Friday night. The guest speaker cited several instances in history when ideas of men became the driving force toward beneficial change.

The Roman Empire, he said, brought the greatest system of law and order ever known to the world, and it was originated in the minds of men who wanted good government. The French and American revolutions were brought about in like fashion.

Every great country has come to an end when the people of the country abandoned and forgot the principles which made their country great. He warned that the United States was endangered by a tendency of the people to ignore the ideas incorporated in the Bill of Rights and the Constitution.

New Book Press Installed for Local Publishing Plant

Installation was completed yesterday on the new Kelly Three printing press in the Theo. Davis Sons plant, and this issue of the Zebulon Record is the first newspaper to be printed on the modern press. The installation is the sixth major item of equipment to be added to the plant in recent years, and is the first automatic cylinder press to be purchased.

The $20,000 press will be used for newspapers and books. It has a top speed of 3,500 impressions an hour, and is equipped with non-offset equipment and a gas heater to assist in drying the ink.

The press was built by Vickers-Armstrong in England from American Type Founders plans and specifications. The ATF factory, unable to supply the American market with the limited amount of steel allotted by the government for printing presses, contracted the presses to the famed English manufacturers for delivery to American printers.

All electrical equipment is American made.

The installation took on an international aspect when the English-built press was installed by Ron Buchanan, a native of Canada. The work required nearly three weeks.

Other Equipment

The claim of the Zebulon printers that they have the "most modern small town printing plant in America" was confirmed by representatives of American Type Founders, builders of the press.

"We seldom see a plant as completely modern as Theo. Davis Sons, even in major cities," Richard Hundley and Ron Buchanan reported.

Other major items of equipment installed in the Theo. Davis Sons plant during the past five years include a Linotype, Ludlow casting machine, Elrod strip caster, Baum automatic folder, Multilith press, and Monomelt metal planer.

Kindergarten Set

The kindergarten operated by the Zebulon Baptist Church will open for its second year on Tuesday morning at nine o'clock. Mrs. Oleta Chamblee Smith will be the kindergarten teacher this year. The kindergarten will be operated daily from nine to twelve o'clock. The public school holiday schedule will be followed.

The kindergarten is open to all children four and five years old. Pre-registration may be secured by calling the church office. A regular kindergarten curriculum will be followed.
