Haitian Expert Benefits from U.N. Fellowship

This year, the United Nations and its Specialized Agencies are offering more than 2500 fellowships, scholarships and other opportunities for international training. Above, Pierre Milord, of Haiti, who learned modern irrigation methods in Algeria under the U.N. Fellowship Program is shown putting his newly acquired knowledge to use in the major Artibonite Valley drainage and irrigation project. The island Republic will thus obtain more land for cultivation.

Farm Children Requested to Bring Tobacco to Finance Activities Bus

One bundle of tobacco — that is what farm children have been asked to bring to school next week to help finance an activities bus for Wakelon School. The tobacco will be sold on Friday of next week, according to Mrs. Julia Draughan, representing the Wake Parent-Teacher Association, and the money received will start the bus fund.

Dr. Withers Is Made RC Medical Advisor

Doctor William Withers, Raleigh physician, has been appointed volunteer medical advisor for the disaster committee of the Wake County Chapter, American Red Cross, according to Donald M. Kimrey, disaster chairman.

Doctor Withers will have full charge of mobilizing, organizing, and directing the Wake County Red Cross medical, dental, nursing, hospital, and first aid activities.

The Red Cross disaster committee is set up to act in county disasters affecting five or more families and assist families and individuals in meeting disaster-caused needs that they cannot meet themselves.

The Wake County Red Cross disaster committee's most recent aid was given to several families near Apex when a tornado struck that area on July 30.

FARM BUREAU

To Meet Monday Night

The first meeting of the year for the Zebulon Farm Bureau will be held Monday night, October 13, at Wakelon School, and several things of great importance are on the agenda, according to Robert Ed Horton, who urged every member to be present.

Ed Ellington will show a color film on pictures during the program. The picture is an educational production and will be helpful to all farmers.

It is estimated that about $3,500 will be required to purchase the bus, which will be used whenever needed for the school program. Carrying 60 passengers, it will be large enough for large groups.

In addition to school trips, the bus will be available for civic and church groups, including the Boy and Girl Scouts, Sunday School classes, clubs, and others who need group transportation.

The Wakelon Parent-Teacher Association chose the purchase of an activities bus as its project for this year. The need for the bus has been growing for years. For the past three years the Wendell activities bus has been rented frequently.

The bundle of tobacco project is the first money-raising campaign planned by the PTA, which hopes to purchase the bus before the school year is over.

Gift to Campbell

C. V. Whitley of Zebulon was featured in the last issue of Creek Pebbles, Campbell College student newspaper, for his generosity in contributing over $5,000 to Campbell's Expansion Program. Mr. Whitley is a member of the Campbell College Board of Trustees.

The student newspaper story cites Mr. Whitley's record in helping young people

Merchants to Handle Solicitors In Own Manner

Merchants of Zebulon will continue to handle solicitors any way they can, it was decided at a special call meeting held Monday night in the Zebulon Recorder's Court room. Nearly 50 merchants and businessmen attended the meeting, and spirited discussion took place before a vote was taken.

The meeting was called by following numerous visits by a horde of high school students selling advertising in student newspapers, annuals and other school publications.

Since the trade areas served by different businesses is different, the opinion was expressed at the meeting that each merchant could best solve his own problem as to which schools and organizations will receive his contribution.

As an example, it was explained that automobile and wholesale grocery dealers have trade areas which extend further from Zebulon than do grocery and fertilizer dealers.

During the past month, representatives from schools are far away as Spring Hope have visited Zebulon businessmen seeking advertisements and contributions. Many merchants have declined to advertise with any schools because of the growing demand for contributions.

Teenagers to Meet Saturday Night

The Zebulon Teen Club will meet at the old court house on Saturday evening to consider plans for the coming year. A conflict on the community calendar made it impossible to organize last week, but the organization will be effected on Saturday evening.

The teenagers engaged in house-cleaning activities last week in an effort to make the clubroom more presentable. The need for some floor lamps, records and recreation equipment has been noted.

Support of the Zebulon Community Chest includes support of the Teen Club.

Harold Green Has Modern Dairy Farm

The latest word in scientific dairy farming can be found at the Harold Green farm on Route 4. Green, a successful tobacco farmer, received a loan for the purpose of building a new milking parlor and pole barn, both of which have been completed this week.

In switching from weed growing to dairy farming, Green is installing all-electrical milking equipment as approved by the Wake County Board of Health. No operation, from the actual milking of the cows to bottling the milk, is done by human hands.

The pole barn is attached to the milking parlor to protect cows from inclement weather.

August Arrests

The State Highway Patrol made 12,274 arrests in August, inspected 123,709 drivers' licenses, issued 10,144 warning tickets and investigated 8,417 complaints.

Men of the patrol spent 146,418 hours on duty and traveled 1,885,866 miles in the discharge of their duties.

WINS AWARD

Joellen Gill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irby D. Gill of Zebulon, has been awarded her Instructors Certificate from the American Red Cross National Aquatic School. She is a student at W.C.U.N.C., Greensboro.

Lions Plan to Peddle Brooms Saturday

Next Thursday night the Zebulon Lions will meet and eat, and then the Lions will roar over Zebulon peddling brooms instead of having a program, according to President Wilbur Debnam. The brooms are made by the Guilford Industries for the Blind.

Proceeds from the broom sale will be used to purchase glasses for students at Wakelon School, assist in the special education program, and help pay the salary of Miss Doris Eason, blind case worker for Wake County.

Battle Corbett is chairman of the broom sale.

Sonny Coley Wins Top Honors at Lions Talent Show

An enthusiastic crowd saw little Sonny Coley of Knightdale walk off with top honors in the first Lions Talent Show held in the Wakelon auditorium Saturday evening. The money received from the series of amateur contests will be used to assist Miss Rebecca Talbert's special education program at Wakelon.

The Live Oak Quarter of Selma took second place and Carolyn Hinton of Zebulon won third place in the talent show.

Honorable mention went to Bobby Sawyer, Joan Baker, Blandy Privette, and Jackie Bragg of Bailey. These four winners will appear again tomorrow night in the competition.

Heading the list of talented performers this week will be the Renfro Trio of Middlesex, Dorothy Strickland and Quartet of Middlesex, Steve Creech and Connie Fulghum of Middlesex;

Shirley Creech, soloist, Janet Weaver, soloist, the Marsh Knott Tub Band, Jane Wells of Wendell, and the Baker Trio of Hopkins Chapel.

Sonny Coley will appear as a guest performer during the program.

The winner of the beauty contest held last Saturday night was Lucille Boykin of Glendale School. The lovely Miss Boykin was presented an engraved trophy. Second place was captured by Ellen Batten of Bunn School. She was given an orchid corsage. Boxes of candy were given the other five contestants.

Zebulon Chamber Ends Campaign

Active solicitation for memberships in the Zebulon Chamber of Commerce ended yesterday, according to President Ed Hales, and reports of solicitors were to be made last night at a meeting of the Board of Directors.

Merchants, businessmen, and others who were not contacted during the past week are urged to notify any member of the Chamber of Commerce that they want to join the group.

Special Edition

A delay of one week may be necessary in publishing the special community edition of the Zebulon Record because of the slowness exhibited by merchants in returning questionnaires prepared by the Record and the Zebulon Chamber of Commerce.

Reception to Be Held Here for 58 New Baptist Church Members

A reception for the fifty-eight new members received into the Zebulon Baptist Church during the past church year will be held following the evening service Sunday.

The church hostess committee, under the leadership of Mrs. A. S. Hinton will complete arrangements for the reception.

The church will meet in business session on Sunday evening to hear reports from activities of the past year. The annual letter to the Association reports 31 baptisms, a church membership of 624, Sunday School membership of 585, Training Union membership of 95, W. M. U. membership of 227 and a Brotherhood membership of 21. Total gifts for the year amounted to $29,865.79 with mission gifts of $9,199.92.

The morning worship service will center on the theme of our Christian stewardship. The pastor will preach on this theme and the Sanctuary Choir will sing, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Johann Sebastian Bach.
