Men in Service

An amphibious landing under simulated combat conditions climaxed "Operation Sea Scape" for Pfc. William P. Whitley, whose wife, Mary, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Whitley, live on Route 2, Middlesex.

He is a member of the 278th Regimental Combat Team which joined Navy, Marine Corps and other Army units in the 10-day joint maneuver at Little Creek, Va.

Stationed at Camp Drum, N. Y., the 278th now is preparing for its next operation, "Exercise Snow Storm," scheduled for early 1953.

Whitley, who entered the Army in February 1951, is serving as a truck driver in Battery A of the 191st Field Artillery Battalion.

All Night Singing Planned to Aid Blind

Six of the finest singing groups in North Carolina will be featured in an All Night Sing on Saturday night, December 6, in the Wakelon auditorium sponsored by the Zebulon Lions Club. The program will begin at 8 o'clock and will continue until after midnight.

This is the second All Night Sing presented by the Zebulon Lions this fall. The first, held September 6, played to a capacity crowd and many people had to be turned away because of a lack of room.

Included among those singing this week are the Carolinian Quartet of Asheboro; the Friendly Four of Durham; the Live Oak Quartet of Selma; the Ambassadors Quartet of Winston-Salem; the Renfro Trio of Rt. 1, Middlesex; and the Southemaires Quartet of Durham.

Proceeds from the sing will be used for the benefit of the blind in Wake County, according to Lion President Wilbur Debnam.

Chicken Pastures Prove Profitable

Acres of pastures dotted with chickens are destined to become as common, if not as artistic, as pictures of contented cattle against lush green backgrounds.

Pastures for chickens are also profitable. A new State College Extension Service publication, entitled "Grazing Crops for Poultry," points out that pastures have meant meant savings in feed bills of from 6 to 14 per cent, depending on the protein content of the ration fed and the feeding program followed.

The folder discusses range management, Ladino clover, alfalfa, lespedeza, soybeans, ryegrass and crimson clover as pastures for poultry and presents a readable chart giving the North Carolina areas where these plants and five grasses may be grown and the dates of growth.

Ladino clover seems to be widely adapted and meets all the requirements for a good poultry cover crop, according to the publication.

Lions to Celebrate Third Anniversary

The Zebulon Lions Club will celebrate its third anniversary on Thursday night when they entertain their Lionesses and other invited guests at a banquet in the Wakelon cafeteria. Lion Paul Lyman, Governor of District 31-E, will be the featured speaker. He will be introduced by L. W. Hagwood.

Lion Louis K. Day, International Counselor, will be toastmaster at the banquet. He will be introduced by Donald Stallings.

Following the banquet, a dance will be held in the Wakelon gymnasium with music by Buddie Krieger's Orchestra.

New Directors For Community Chest Are Named

Ten new directors of the Zebulon Community Chest were elected at a membership meeting held Friday night in the Zebulon Recorder's Court room, and the Board of Directors was authorized to draw up a constitution for the organization.

A chairman, secretary and treasurer will be elected by the Board of Directors this week.

Gilbert Beck, head of the Community Chest for the past year, was in charge of the meeting.

The number of Directors of the Community Chest was increased to twelve, with staggered terms for those elected this year. In coming years, four directors will be named each year to serve terms of three years.

Elected for a three-year term are Mrs. B. H. Privette, Ralph Talton, Ed Hales, and Wilbur Debnam.

Mrs. Vera Rhodes, Mrs. S. G. Flowers, Wilson Braswell, and J. C. Debnam were elected to two-year terms; and Mrs. Ralph Bunn and Mrs. Elmo Harris were named to one-year terms.

Members of the Board of Directors whose terms have not expired are Mrs. Wallace Temple and Gilbert Beck.

School Bus Safety Program Planned By Zebulon Lions

A school bus drivers' safety campaign will begin this week at Wakelon School, sponsored by the Zebulon Lions Club, with all the school bus drivers at Wakelon participating. A meeting of the drivers will be held this afternoon at the school and Clarence M. Houtt, who will serve as safety chairman, will explain the contest. Trophies will be presented to the two top drivers during the commencement exercises at the end of the school year.

Drivers will be judged in all phases of driving, with points given for particular things. The point system of grading will be explained to the drivers at a later date.

Sampel P. Mangum Buried on Sunday

Sampel P. Mangum, 82, retired farmer, died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. A. J. Rogers, at Creedmoor, at 1 p. m. Saturday. Funeral services were conducted at 2 p. m. Sunday at Pleasant Grove Baptist Church near Creedmoor by the Rev. C. H. Norris of Wake Forest. Burial was in Wakefield Cemetery.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Rogers; Mrs. R. M. Hagwood, Knightdale; Mrs. C. B. Pace, Zebulon; and Mrs. C. J. Joyner, Spring Hope; two sons, Harold and Fred Mangum, Zebulon; four sisters, Mrs. R. H. Rogers, Mrs. G. H. Jones, and Mrs. J. E. Hester, Creedmoor, and Mrs. C. V. Garner, Warsaw; a brother, Roy Mangum, Creedmoor.

Battery A to Have Barbecue on Tuesday

Master Sergeant Carl Kemp will supervise the preparation of the barbecue for a party planned by Zebulon's National Guard unit for Tuesday night, Dec. 8. Plans for the feed were made at the drill held last night.

CHAIRMAN

Ed Hales, owner of Hales Farm Supply Company, was named new chairman of the Steering Committee for Zebulon last Friday night. He is also president of the Zebulon Chamber of Commerce.

Wakelon Cagers To Play Tonight

Wakelon will open a rugged basketball schedule tonight at 7:30 in the Wakelon gymnasium when the boys and girls meet Rolesville in a twin bill. Competition is so hot for the starting positions that Coach Herb Holt and Coach Howard Thomas cannot name their starters for either contest.

Both the boys and girls have progressed nicely in their practice session, according to the two coaches, but the game tonight will be the first real test.

Season tickets will be on sale at the gate. Selling for $3.25 and $1.75, the tickets are good for nine home games.

Coach Holt has requested assistance in coaching the Jayvee team, which practices each afternoon. He has about 20 men on the Jayvee squad.

Legion Meeting to Be Wednesday Night

The Zebulon American Legion Post will meet at E. P. Privette's on Wednesday night for the December meeting. Featured speaker will be W. E. Sparks, "the sock man," who is expected to give a colorful account of his reasons for supporting the American Legion.

A report of the two Turkey Shoots held recently will be made during the business session. The proceeds will help send two representatives from the Wake'on Junior Class to Boys' State next summer.

Ed Hales Elected Head of Finer Carolina Program

Ed Hales was elected Chairman of the Finer Carolina Steering Committee for the new Finer Carolina contest which began November 1. He succeeds Wilbur Debnam, who served during the past year. Hales was nominated at a special meeting called following the membership meeting of the Zebulon Community Chest Friday night.

The new chairman said that he will announce members of the Steering Committee this week, choosing them from civic organizations in the community.

Zebulon has until December 15 to submit its list of projects which will be attempted during the coming year. The contest, which will date back to November 1, will continue until December 31, 1953.

Minor changes have been made in the rules of the Finer Carolina contest by the sponsor, Carolina Power & Light Company. Improvements which normally would be made by municipal, county, state or Federal governments cannot be counted in the new contest; and six projects may be attempted instead of the five allowed last year. However, in July 1953, the number of projects must be reduced to five.

Zebulon's Finer Carolina report was submitted Tuesday, November 25, six days before the December 1 deadline. Chief among the accomplishments listed in the report was the establishment of a community park.

Chairman Hales said that he will welcome suggestions from the community concerning projects for the coming year. Prior to December 15, he will call a meeting of the Steering Committee to choose six projects from the suggestions submitted.

Many people from the community, proud of the progress made in establishing a community park during the past year, are enthusiastically plugging a swimming pool and further park improvements as one of the projects chosen.

Civic groups have been asked by the newly-elected chairman to discuss the Finer Carolina contest at meetings and give their suggestions of projects to be attempted.

2,470,000 Pounds

Reports from growers indicate a Tar Heel pecan crop of 2,470,000 pounds — 35,000 pounds above last year's crop.

Effort to Be Made to Encourage Children to Graduate from School

A committee to investigate ways and means of keeping children in school until graduation was appointed by President Norman Screws of the Zebulon Rotary Club last Friday night. Dr. L. M. Massey was named chairman, and will have C. V. Whitley and Haywood Jones working with him.

The committee was suggested by Dr. Massey two weeks ago when he brought the attention of the club to the number of boys who drop out of school each year.

Durwood Chamblee, program leader, told of the origin of vegetables commonly considered native of this continent. Only a few of the vegetables we eat, he said, originally grew on the American continent. A half dozen came from South America, and others came from Persia, India, and China.

In telling the history of vegetables, Durwood told the Rotarians that squash and pumpkins belong to the same family, and so when at Thanksgiving we eat pumpkin pie, we are really eating squash.

On Friday night the Rotary Club will entertain the teachers at Wakelon School and the Rotarians at a dinner in the Wakelon cafeteria.
