I believe that every candidate running should have a goal to shoot at, and that the tax payer is entitled to know what he stands for. This explains my platform. On July 7, 1952, the town board spent $250.00 to have our Town Laws revised, yet till this day not one copy of the laws you are to live by are available to you, except the one copy in the town hall. Nearly two years ago Zebulon lost one of the members of the police force leaving only two full time men, one of which is town clerk and utility man for the town. Our City Dump is a health hazard to the community with wharf rats running all over the place. Our city garbage and trash disposal system is no better than it was 7 years ago when I first came to Zebulon.

Although the town could afford to issue $50,000.00 in bonds for a Municipal Building and purchase a big lot for an Armory without raising taxes, it has yet to find a way to cut the tax rate. I believe in Spring Cleaning and I've always heard that a new broom sweeps clean.

Your vote for me is a vote for progress.

To the people of Zebulon I would like to say that it is impossible for me to outline in detail what I would like to see accomplished in Zebulon within the next two years. There is effective rat control, better garbage disposal at the town dump, paving of streets and sidewalks, attract new businesses to Zebulon — there are so many I will not list them, nor will I promise they will be accomplished if I am elected. But I can promise my honest and sincere efforts in making Zebulon a more beautiful and more profitable place in which to live.

Your vote for me in this election will be appreciated, and if you — the people of Zebulon — see fit to elect me I will do my best to live up to your confidence in me. Whether elected or not I would like to thank you for the many kindnesses shown me during the campaign — Thank You

Helpful Hints for Homemakers

By Ruth Current

Julia McIver, Agricultural Extension specialist in clothing, lists the following to look for in a ready made or dress pattern and material:

Color — becomingness, print or solid, colorfast (wash, sun, perspiration).

Weight — summer, winter, thread count, wear without slip.

Finishes — pre-shrunk, mildew resistance, fireproof, crinkle crepe, slick finish.

Buying readymades — labels, compare with homemades; workmanship, seams, stitching, thread hems; comfort and safety features.

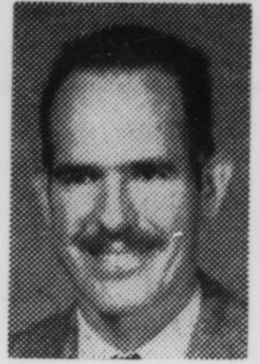

The ideal house dress should be made so comfortable that the wearer should have complete freedom—no pulling, no binding of sleeves, shoulders, neck, no fussy trim or collar that flaps, no unnecessary fullness or pleats. Pockets should be placed at right level, sloping. It should have no dangling bows or belts that will catch on door knobs. It should be easy to put on easy to keep clean, simple to make. Medium weight cotton can be worn without a slip. Smooth, slick-surface materials collect less dust and dirt. The neckline should be becoming and comfortable.
