Architect's Drawing of Proposed Community Building

A front view and plans of the proposed Zebulon Community Building, construction of which is planned at the community park site at the north end of Wakefield Street, are pictured as drawn by F. Carter Williams, Raleigh architect, who was engaged by the group in charge of the project to draw the plans. The plot plan, at the lower left, shows also a projected bathhouse and swimming pool. The plan at the lower right shows a kitchen, toilets, room for Scouts, library room, heater and storage rooms, and a large assembly room which can be sub-divided by folding doors. No construction date has been set by the building committee, which includes H. C. Wade, chairman, C. V. Whitley, Mrs. W. R. Whittenton, and Mrs. Barrie Davis. Landscaping of the site, under guidance of M. L. Hagwood, is underway.

Light Docket Is Tried in Court

One of the shortest days on record was required for Judge Irby D. Gill's Recorder's Court last week. No new cases were on the docket, and farmers, busy after the weekend rain, requested cases involving them be continued until a later session.

Traffic cases made up all but one of those tried. The exception was the charge against Mrs. Jodie Brewer, who was found guilty of disturbing the peace of R. B. Alford's home by cursing and acting in a disorderly manner. She received a sentence of 30 days suspended on payment of the costs.

Robert Lee Spivey was found guilty of operating his automobile with improper muffler and lights. He was sentenced to 60 days suspended on payment of $75 fine and costs.

Joe Bryant Williams of Route 3 was fined $60 and costs for speeding and passing on a hill.

Other Traffic Cases

Julius Perry of Wendell was fined $20 and costs for operating a vehicle to the left of the center line.

Ervin Hall Hodge was sentenced to six months when convicted of careless and reckless driving and being involved in an accident resulting in personal injury. The sentence was held open for further order.

DELEGATES TO ASHEVILLE MEETING

Rains Cause Crop Loss

Torrential rains, accompanying a severe 3-hour electrical storm after midnight Friday night, resulted in heavy crop damage, as countless rows of tobacco, corn, and cotton were washed away.

Some local fields were nothing but sand and mud in their low corners after the deluge, estimated here at from 3 to 5 inches.

At least one farm building, a barn at the Winston Perrys home, was destroyed by a fire set by lightning; only the mules were reported saved from the barn.

Little River rose rapidly after the rain, with a rise of about 7 feet noted at the highway bridge on the Zebulon-Hephzibah road. The river level had dropped about a foot by noon Sunday, despite another heavy rain late Saturday afternoon.

James Brown, local highway engineer, reported two roads as closed from bridges being out—the Knightdale-Eagle Rock and Knightdale-Wake Cross Roads sections. Unpaved roads suffered heavy washing in this area.
