CAN YOUR TOWN SHOW IMPROVEMENTS LIKE THESE DURING 1953?

THE growth and prosperity of a community is limited by lack of imagination far more than by natural hindrances.

Imagine your town as it could be, with all the improvements necessary for happier, more prosperous living and work. Then let your effort equal your imagination.

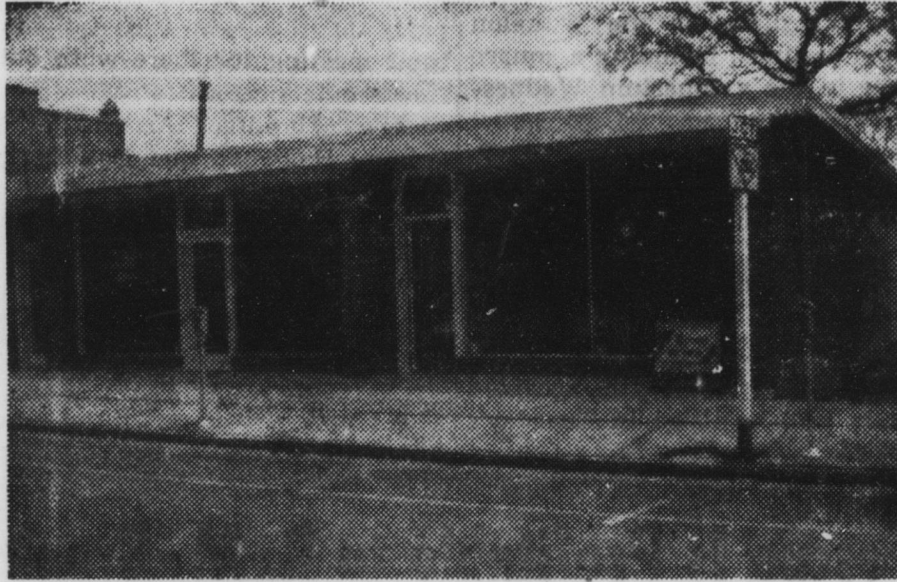

Invest your thought and time in community improvements and see the result: better living conditions and more profitable business.

Align your efforts with the progressive, civic-minded folks on your local Finer Carolina committee. Add your imagination and enthusiasm to theirs. Read the following examples of community improvements, then remember: "Building a Finer Carolina" is YOUR job too.

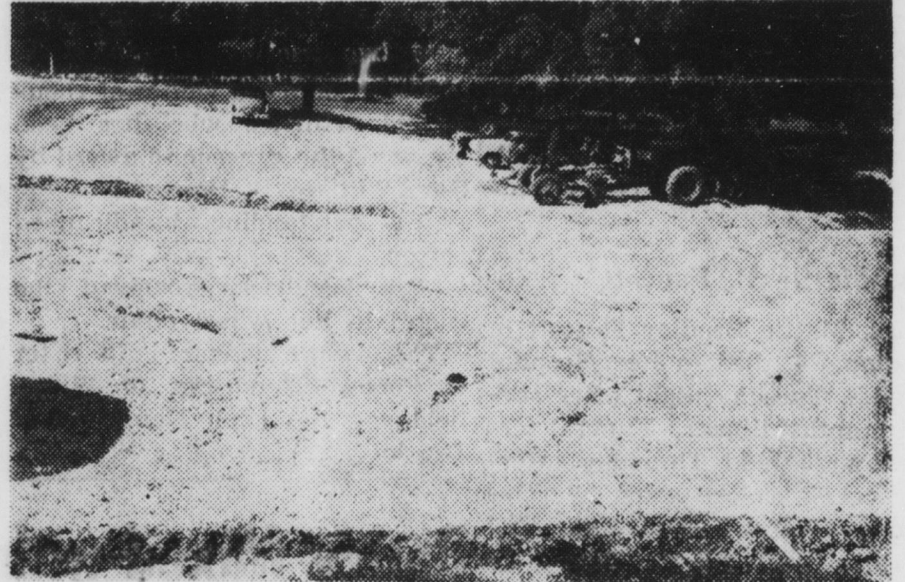

THOUSANDS OF TREES will soon add beauty and shade to many towns, like Richlands, North Carolina (above). Flowers, shrubs and trees on every yard, street and approach road could make your town the breath-taking garden spot among local towns.

ABOUT 150 DAYS to win your town's part of $6,750 in the FINER CAROLINA CONTEST!

NEW BUILDINGS at Manning, S. C., rose where old "eyesores" once stood. To progressive merchants like these will go the increased business to repay their investment. It's just plain "horse sense" that 1953 merchandise sells better in 1953-model stores.

"OFF-STREET PARKING is worth annually $1,000 per car space in crowded towns," said one prosperous merchant with figures to prove it! This is one of the two new lots recently opened in Rockingham; more shoppers can park closer to the stores.

THE TOWN PARK at Griffon, N. C., is started. Protect children from delinquency, adults from boredom with a safe, constructive recreation area. The National Recreation Assn. recommends at least one acre per thousand persons. What about your town?

THE COMMUNITY BUILDING is important in a well-knit, friendly town. At Swannanoa, North Carolina, citizens realized the need, raised the money for materials, and built this one with volunteer labor. Every town needs a social and civic center.

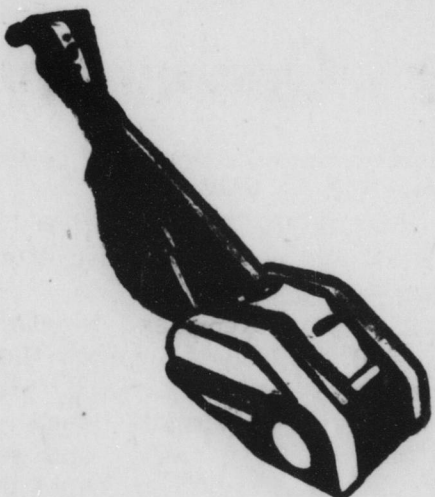

FIRE leaves charred buildings and lonely chimneys as monuments to inadequate fire protection. Wallace, North Carolina, recognized that smaller towns and rural areas are especially vulnerable. Can your town afford NOT to have fire protection?

NEW INDUSTRY comes to progressive towns. This Burlington Mills plant will create 400 new jobs at Asheboro. Each new payroll dollar mushrooms to seven dollars in local business! Improving your town helps attract new industries. Will you help?
