Zebulon Farm Bureau Lays Plans For New Membership Campaign

An intensive one-day membership drive will be conducted next Tuesday, September 29, by the Zebulon Farm Bureau, with the organization attempting to complete the canvass for members in a single campaign, according to President Dewey Massey.

Local representatives will call at the homes of those who were members this year, and members are urged to stay at home, if possible.

If it is necessary to be away from home, dues should be left with the member's wife, Mr. Massey said.

Among the growing benefits of membership in the Farm Bureau is the hospitalization plan which has proved so popular. In addition, the newly chartered Farm Bureau insurance company offers auto and truck insurance coverage at from one-half to two-thirds savings.

Demonstration Club

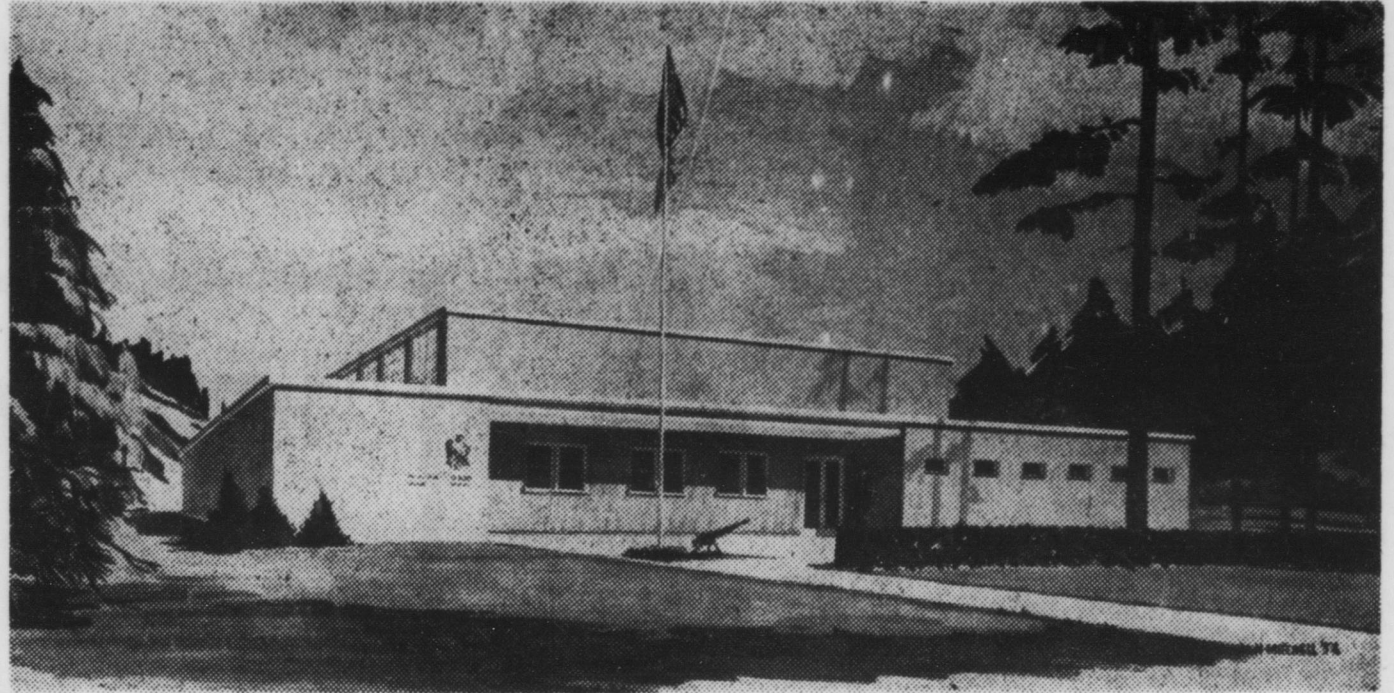

Members and visitors, especially young married ladies, are invited to attend the September meeting of the Wakefield Home Demonstration Club, which will be held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the clubhouse, according to Mrs. Vera Rhodes.

"We are going to have a good program at our meeting September 23," Mrs. Rhodes declared yesterday, "and if you will come to the meeting, you will learn something worthwhile. Much valuable information is given at home demonstration meetings, and we will be looking forward to your coming to this meeting, at which the program will be given by an assistant county agent."

Hopkins W. M. S.

There will be a business meeting of the W. M. S. of Hopkins Chapel Tuesday night, September 29, at 7:00 o'clock instead of Tuesday, September 22. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. G. Bunn.

ROOF NOW BEING PLACED ON LOCAL ARMORY

Work on the National Guard Armory on South Arendell Avenue, pictured as it will appear when construction work and landscaping are completed, is proceeding on schedule, according to Frank Christopher, construction superintendent on the $100,000 project. The pre-cast concrete roof is now being installed, and the reinforced concrete roof for the indoor rifle range is ready for pouring. The structure should be ready for occupancy in December, Christopher said.

Possibility of School Band Discussed By Atlantic Christian College Teacher

Dr. Millard Burt, Professor of Education at Atlantic Christian College, spoke on the importance of music at the Friday night meeting of the Zebulon Rotary Club, and told the members the work which is necessary to organize a band for the high school. Dr. Burt is commander of the 94th Army Band which played in Zebulon on Farmer's Day.

The speaker said the first question to be asked before attempting to organize a band is: Is the community ready to support a band? If the answer is affirmative, more steps can be taken.

Available band instruments in the community should be provided for the band through donation, rental, or loan, Dr. Burt said, so that band members who cannot afford to purchase an instrument can still participate.

He suggested that for the first year grades eight through eleven should make up the personnel of the band. He ruled out the senior class because the training they would receive during the year will be lost to the band in when the member graduates.

The instruments include two sousaphones, two baritone horns, base drum, cymbals, two snare drums, three French horns, and 24 music stands. The total cost would be about $1,500, though this cost could be less if good second-hand instruments are found.

The key to a successful band is the director, Dr. Burt said. He warned against letting commercial interests gain any control of a band, and suggested that the best director for a high school band here would be a student majoring in music at some college nearby.

He suggested $130 a month as a suitable salary for a student director, saying that this would pay for three lessons each week plus the director's leadership for athletic events and similar occasions.

This money can be raised by charging each student $4.00 per month for instruction.

At the close of his talk, Dr. Burt conducted a question and answer period.

Ninety Per Cent of Estimated Cost of Factory Building Raised; Final Effort is Set This Week

Plans for a factory for a new Zebulon industry are nearing completion, Chairman C. V. Whitley of the building committee of the Zebulon Chamber of Commerce informed stockholders of the building corporation Friday night.

A check on subscribed stock showed that $76,000 of the $80,000 estimated to be required for construction of the 25,000-square-foot building has been pledged. Solicitors for the remaining $4,000 were designated by Mr. Whitley.

R. Vance Brown, cashier of the Zebulon office of Peoples Bank &

Trust Company, discussed a financing plan which will be available to subscribers in the corporation. In order to help Zebulon obtain the payroll accompanying the plant, the bank has agreed, Mr. Brown declared, to accept a low interest rate on stock loans.

All Can Take Part

"With the approved interest rate and the apparent dividend rate, it is possible for any local business or professional man to take part in the development of Zebulon," Brown said.

Chairman Whitley emphasized that every person in the community will benefit from the new industry, and urged merchants in particular to participate in the enterprise.

Persons who have not previously pledged support to the project may do so by contacting H. C. Wade at Zebulon Supply Company or Tom Monk at American Plumbing & Electrical Supply Company. The two men are serving without compensation as secretaries of the committee until incorporation is accomplished.

Local Man Sworn in by Judge Harris

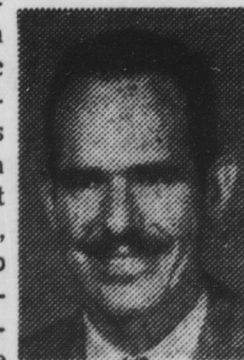

Ferd L. Davis, local attorney, took the oath as attorney and counsellor at law in the Superior Court of Wake County before Judge W. C. Harris last Friday. Davis took the 1953 bar of examination in August.

The Zebulon man, who graduated at Wake Forest Law School as top man in his class, was presented to the court by Attorney A. R. House. His application for admission to the bar was signed by House, Solicitor F. D. Finch, and Judge I. D. Gill, all of Zebulon.

Davis plans to practice law with offices in Zebulon in the Theo. Davis Sons building, which will be remodeled to provide adequate office space. His wife, who also attended Wake Forest Law School, will serve as his office secretary.

The new attorney has been active in civic and political affairs since his graduation from Wake Forest College in 1940, with the top scholastic average in his academic class. He is president of the Zebulon Chamber of Commerce, and is a member of the American Legion, Masons, Rotary Club, JOUAM, 40 et 8, Woodmen of the World, and the Baptist Church.

Davis is a member of the North Carolina National Guard, and is a veteran of World War II, when he was awarded 28 decorations for gallantry and merit. He is a graduate of the Air Force's Navigation School at the University of Miami, and the Army's Infantry School and Command and General Staff College. His biography is carried in Who's Who in the South and Southeast.

In governmental affairs he has served as a member of the Wake- lon School Board and the State Board of Conservation and Development. During recent gubernatorial campaigns he was an adviser to Governors W. Kerr Scott and William B. Umstead.
