Speeding Balm for Sick Eyes

Filling tubes with antibiotic eye ointment, these three Arab refugees in Beirut, Lebanon, are speeding help to their fellow refugees who suffer from trachoma, a common eye disease in the Middle East. WAKELON GIRL HONORED

Elected Vice-President

The Wake County Association of Student Councils held its first meeting of the year Tuesday, October 6, in the afternoon at the Wake County School Book Depository.

Each county school in Wake County has three delegates to the county association — their president and two other delegates. Wakelon's members are: Ann Strickland, Helen Faye Todd, and David Alford.

One of the big items on the agenda for the Tuesday meeting was the election of officers for the school year of 53-54. There were many eligible candidates for the offices but these were the selected few: President, Tommy Womble, Cary; Vice President, Ann Strickland, Wakelon; Secretary, Patsy Cameron, Garner; Treasurer, Jimmy Proctor, Fuquay.

The Wakelon Council is proud to support Ann as Vice President of the County Council. Under her leadership the Wakelon Council is well under way. We have purchased a radio and phonograph combination for use when needed by the students, records for the phonograph, draperies for the high school club room, first aid supplies for all the buildings, and several other things. We have planned many other projects for the year; some are already in progress.

We're proud of our president! Let's support her!

Water Tank Being Cleaned; Leaks Trouble Water Supt. Willie B.

Work on the Zebulon water tank, which includes cleaning, painting, and repairing, should be completed this week, according to Town Manager Willie B. Hopkins. Universal Construction Company of Birmingham is doing the work, beginning Monday.

Peden Steel Company of Raleigh is making inspections of the tank before and after the work.

Water service is being supplied all customers even while the work on the water tank is in progress by keeping pressure on the water mains, Hopkins said.

Some homes may be temporarily without water this week, he added, because the pumps build up pressure on the mains so rapidly that they sometimes cut off before the pressure reaches all homes.

If water users in Zebulon think they have troubles during the time the water tank is being cleaned and repaired, they should take a look at those which plague Willie B. Hopkins in his job as water superintendent (in addition to his other duties.)

No sooner had the water tank been cut out of the system than three beautiful clear water springs burst forth on Arendell Avenue in the middle of the business district, fed by a break in the water line several feet underneath.

Traffic was directed around the spot for two days this week while town laborers dug up the pavement and dug down to the break so that it could be repaired.

Other leaks spouted forth in other parts of town, adding to the troubles.

AT RALEIGH NEXT WEEK

Hymn Singing at Fair

One of the biggest attractions of the 1953 North Carolina State Fair will be an all-day hymn singing convention held in the new Arena. Thousands of visitors are expected to be present to hear the contests, which have gold loving cups for top prizes in each of the seven divisions.

L. A. Hagwood, well-known leader of singing conventions in this part of the state, and R. E. Lewis will serve as masters of ceremonies for the occasion.

Registration continues through today for entries in all divisions, including solo, duet, trio, female quartet, male quartet, mixed quartet, and chor group.

The contests will begin at 10 a. m. and continue through 7 p. m., according to James M. Chambers, superintendent. Plenty of room for the audience will be provided in the arena, which is acclaimed one of the greatest architectural works in the world.

No admission will be charged. "It's free to all," Mr. Hagwood stated, and he urged everyone planning to be present to bring lunches and stay all day.

Those attending are urged not to leave their cars on the fair grounds, since free parking will be provided on parking lots.

Registrations for contestants may be sent to James M. Chambers, superintendent; Program Features and Special Exhibits; 408 Park Avenue, Raleigh, N. C.

PTA Meet Features Novel Open House

An open house will be held by Wakelon teachers in their classrooms following the Parent-Teacher Association meeting Monday night, October 19, and parents are urged to take advantage of this opportunity to meet the teachers and discuss any problems faced by their children with the teachers.

This is the first program of this type attempted by the Wakelon Parent-Teacher Association, and the response of the parents will determine whether it will be continued.

Fred Smith, assistant superintendent of Wake County Schools, will be the featured speaker for the program, which begins at 8 p. m. Music will be under the direction of Mrs. Hill, public school music teacher.

Rev. W. L. Catlett, pastor of the Zebulon Church of God, announced yesterday that revival services will begin Sunday, October 18, at the Church of God, as originally planned. Mr. Catlett has been hospitalized recently, but is now recuperating from his illness.

Rev. Douglas Poole of Clayton will be the visiting evangelist for the services which will be held at 7:30 p. m. each evening through Sunday, October 25.

The Church of God extends a cordial invitation to the public to attend these services, as well as their Sunday School, which meets each Sunday morning at 10.

The adult choir will sing the Bach chorale, "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee," at the morning worship service, and the youth choir will sing an anthem, "True Lover of Mankind," at the evening service.

Bill Jennings of Wake Forest will lead the song service.

Unified Appeal Replaces Six Annual Campaigns For Funds in Community

Thirteen agencies have been included in the Zebulon United Fund and will receive a share of the money collected during the drive to be held during the week of October 26, according to R. Vance Brown, chairman of the Budget Committee. A goal of $5,000.00 has been set for the community.

This marks the first year that a United Fund has been organized in this community. The change from a Community Chest was made following public meetings and a vote by the members of the Community Chest.

The United Fund will replace at least six of the fund campaigns conducted by local groups in years past, according to J. C. Debnam, president. Agencies participating include the Zebulon Recreation Commission, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Local Welfare, School lunches for white and colored, Red Cross, Wake County Cerebral Palsy, Wake County Crippled Children, Cancer, Polio, Heart, North Carolina Children's Home Society, and the United Service Organization.

Detailed Plan

Ralph Talton, who heads the solicitations committee, is preparing a detailed plan for contacting every person in the community to give each one an opportunity to contribute to the United Fund. Captains will be appointed to lead the work in districts, and workers from those districts assigned to canvass the districts.

This year, because of the larger budget required for the United Fund, contributors will be given an opportunity to pay their pledges by installments. Chairman Talton urged that everyone review their combined gifts to all the agencies last year, and then give at least as much as the combined total to the United Fund this year.

The single, concerted drive will eliminate the continual requests for money that have plagued the Zebulon community during the past, if the community cooperates in making the United Fund a success.

Zebulon Garden Club to Supervise Complete Armory Site Landscaping

Mr. and Mrs. Ruric Gill and Mrs. Bernice Bunn were hostesses Monday night to the October meeting of the Garden Club. Capt. Barrie Davis, local National Guard Commander, was the speaker, and showed the architect's plans, topographical survey and other details of the new armory.

The landscaping of the armory grounds will be the main project of the club for the next two years.

Other business taken up was the matter of delegates from the club attending the district meeting to be held in Warrenton, October 28. The registration fee for this will be 75c and the luncheon will be $2.00

Beginning the first week in November the Garden Club will sponsor a Garden Center in Whitley Furniture Co. The chairman of this project will be Mrs. Condon Debnam. The first week in each month, members of the club will have arrangements of flowers suitable for different occasions, holidays, and suitable to the decor of certain styles of furniture.

Mrs. Ruric Gill, ways and means chairman, announced that the club will sponsor a bridge tournament in November, for the purpose of raising funds to buy shrubbery and flowers.

Mrs. Gill's home was beautifully decorated with arrangements of roses and other fall flowers.

Following the business session, the hostesses served lime ice, nuts, cookies, and sandwiches from a beautifully appointed table.
