The lady in the photograph is Mrs. Rochelle Long, local Garden Club member who was in charge of the supper served by the club to Guardsmen and guests. Club members found little time for taking in the day's events, being too busy preparing and serving the barbecue and Brunswick stew supper. Profits from the supper will be used for beautification of the armory site, a portion of a Finer Carolina contest project.

Dr. J. W. Fitts Speaks to Local Farm Organization

Dr. J. W. Fitts, member of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture, spoke to members of the Zebulon Farm Bureau last Monday night on the proper care of soil and proper fertilization practices.

In illustrating his talk, Dr. Fitts used slides showing the correct method of taking soil samples and fertilizing the soil.

To emphasize the growing use of soil testing facilities offered by the Department of Agriculture, Dr. Fitts said that on Monday over 7,000 soil samples had been received in Raleigh. This was the greatest quantity ever received in a single day.

Soil Testing Demonstrated

Methods of testing the soil to determine its suitability for crops and its fertilizer needs were demonstrated.

Dr. Fitts recently toured South America observing farming practices there. He visited coffee plantations badly damaged by frost. Slides were used to show those at the meeting the ways of farming used in South America.

Farms there are large, Dr. Fitts said, averaging about 10,000 acres each. Farms with as much as 100,000 acres are not unusual. The farms he visited had 87,000 acres of land and over 1,000 tenants.

The talk was very interesting to the Farm Bureau members, who contrasted the South American methods of farming with the tobacco farming of this section.

Included in the figures he related were the number of miles of roads paved, stabilized, and widened during the year.

Following his summary of road improvements, James gave a report of the Rotarian Magazine, listing ten ways that the magazine can help in Rotary activities. He suggested that the local Rotarians should give more gift subscriptions to the magazine to publicize the work of Rotary.

It was brought out that more articles and features of the Rotarian Magazine are re-published by Reader's Digest than of any other publication.

Net Income Report Guide Sheet Available

A special guide sheet to help self-employed persons in correctly reporting their net income for social security tax purposes is now available, John Ingle, manager of the Raleigh social security office, announced today.

This leaflet, "Helpful Guides on Reporting Your Self-Employment Tax," he said, has been issued by the Social Security Administration to supplement instructions given with the Federal income tax forms.

Pointing out that social security benefits payable to a self-employed person and his family in his old age, or to his dependents in case of his death, are based on earnings credited to his social security account, Ingle stressed the importance of correct reporting. "It costs the worker as well as the Government additional time and expense when an incomplete or incorrect return has to be straightened out," he declared.

This guide to accurate reporting of self-employment net income is available for the asking at the Raleigh and other social security offices.
