In his short speech following acceptance of the gavel, President Hagwood told of his relief when he read in the instructions to new presidents that club presidents do not have to be speakers. "I thank you for your confidence," he told the Lions, "and I will do all I can to live up to it."

Howard Hicks, Raleigh Lion, told of the Convention to be held in Raleigh June 13-15. "We always expect something unusual from Zebulon," he said in complimenting the local Lions on their activity. (See LIONS, Page 2)

THINKING OF CRIME?

It Just Don't Pay

If a man's gotta have meat and bread, he better find some other way besides stealing to get it, Leamon Hodge, Zebulon Negro, discovered Sunday afternoon. Sometime Saturday Leamon borrowed a ladder from behind Home Builders Corporation, placed it against the side of Page Store Company, climbed it, and entered the store through a fan opening.

On his way through the store, Leamon gathered together four pairs of overalls, 8 pounds of lard, 50 pounds of flour, two hams, three cartons of cigarettes, and $6.00 from the cash register. He continued his meanderings right on out the back door of the store.

Sunday Zebulon Police Chief Willie B. Hopkins, ably assisted by a finger print man and Sheriff's Deputies W. E. Watkins and Jim Fish, went to work on the case.

Wanted Money Loan

M. W. Page, owner of this store, reported that Leamon Hodge, a former employee, had tried to borrow money Saturday afternoon. The bit of information caused Chief Hopkins to opine that the job was just the sort of thing Leamon would pull off, so he and the deputies went on out to Pearl Hodge's to ask about her brother.

Leamon was alert enough to see the officers coming and highballed it for the woods, but the fleet-footed lawmen caught him anyhow, and along with Leamon recovered all the loot except two cartons of cigarettes and the $6.00 in money.

Rural Fire Truck Shown in Raleigh

The Zebulon Rural Fire Truck was in Raleigh yesterday morning, parked in front of the Wake County Court House for inspection by the Wake County Board of Commissioners. Also present was rural firefighting equipment from Apex and Cary.

The Commissioners were planning assistance to rural areas in their fire fighting work, and wanted to see what has been done so far. The Zebulon truck was cited as an outstanding example.

Requested by Heater

The presence of the equipment was requested by Board Chairman Russell O. Heater, who reports he is anxious to see his plans for rural fire departments put into effect before his term of office expires. Heater was defeated in the Democratic Primary May 29 by Dewey Powell of Apex.

Fly Control to Be Shown on Friday

A fly control demonstration will be held on the farm of Mr. W. V. Green which is located 6 miles north of Raleigh on U. S. No. 1, Friday, June 11, at 2:00 p. m.

The purpose of this meeting is to both demonstrate methods of application as well as the use of the different insecticide materials. Methoxychlor will be used to spray the cows and malathion will be used as residual spray and in the dry sugar and flake forms.

Davis Appointed To Committee

The appointment of Ferd L. Davis, Zebulon attorney, to the resolutions committee of the North Carolina Bar Association was announced this week by W. L. Thorp of Rocky Mount, NCBA president.

The work of the resolutions committee this year will be especially important, says President Thorp, because of redistricting considerations. There has been considerable agitation for creation of a separate judicial district for Wake County because of the heavy docket each month, and the committee will probably make a recommendation on Wake as well as other areas.

Judicial System Revision

Other matters to be considered by the committee, according to President Thorp, are revision of the judicial system and procedural reforms.

Members of the committee in addition to Davis are former Lt. Gov. J. Elmer Long of Durham, Banks Arendell of Raleigh, John M. Strong of Raleigh, and T. Winfield Blackwell of Winston-Salem.

David Massey Finds Earliest Cockle Burr

David Massey last week brought in a fully developed cockle burr (sheep burr) plant loaded with the thorny burrs. He told the Record that he found the plant on June 2. This is the earliest report of a fully developed cockle burr in the files of the Record.

Ground Observer Corps Is Proving Value to Nation

Over 330,000 civilians are contributing their time and energy to the wide-spread Ground Observer Corps in the United States, Sgt. Rue Gober told the Zebulon Rotarians on Friday night. The Air Force non-commissioned officer, a member of the 4674th Ground Observer Squadron stationed in Durham, described the work of the Ground Observer Corps in his talk.

Sgt. Gober emphasized the need of an efficient Ground Observer Corps by telling of the power of the Russian Air Force, which he said is equal or better than that of the United States.

In case of war, he said, the initial attack will be made through the air, with planes flying faster than sound carrying atomic bombs (See OBSERVER, Page 4)

Williams Winner Of Power Mower

C. T. Williams, Jr., of Wakefield was winner of a Johnston power lawn mower on the Westinghouse television show last week. The mower is valued at over $100, and the Wakefield winner obtained his entry blank from A. C. Perry & Company, Westinghouse dealer in Zebulon.

The show is shown each Tuesday and is sponsored by the three Westinghouse dealers in Zebulon, Raleigh and Durham. A $100 prize is awarded each week.

Didn't Know He Won

C. T. did not know he had won until the next day when neighbors told of seeing the show on their television sets.

Anyone in the community is eligible to enter the contest. Entry blanks are available at any time from A. C. Perry & Company.
