

THE ZEBULON RECORD

Volume XXVIII. Number 74.

Zebulon, N. C., Tuesday, June 22, 1954

Theo. Davis Sons, Publishers

THE PASSING SCENE

A new series of cartoons, designed to promote highway safety, has been drawn by leading American artists and is being presented by The Zebulon Record in cooperation with the Travelers Safety Service. This is the first of the series, to illustrate the editorial on page four of this issue. Others will be published in later issues.

Woodmen Hold Ceremony For Flag Pole on Sunday

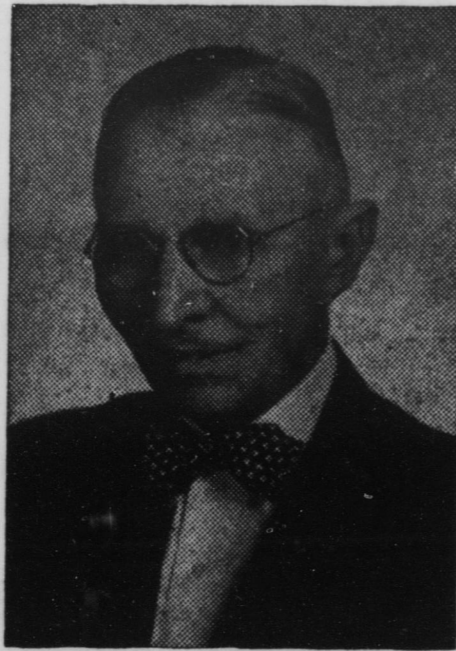

E. H. Moser was the featured speaker at the dedication Sunday of the flag and pole given by the Woodmen of the World to the Davis Armory in Zebulon. He told of the history of the United States flag and the things for which it stands, and told of some of the contributions made by the National Guard in the history of this country.

The Rev. Bev. A. Asbury, pastor of the Zebulon Baptist Church, gave the invocation and prayer of dedication.

Price Makes Presentation

The presentation was made by J. P. Price, Consul Commander of the Little River Camp of the Woodmen of the World. He related the story of the WOW and told of the society's patriotic program of presenting flags and poles to Scout troops, schools, and other organizations.

The flag was accepted by Capt. Barrie Davis, commanding officer of the Zebulon National Guard unit. It was raised by Lt. Glenn Hensen and CWO Johnsey P. Arnold as the assembled Guardsmen presented arms and the National Anthem was played.

Major Ferd Davis, member of the 30th Infantry Division staff and a charter member of the Little River WOW Camp, served as master of ceremonies.

Strickland Gets Award

Sovereign Paul Strickland, past Consul Commander of the Camp, was presented a special Mr. Woodman award. He was voted by the camp the outstanding member during the past year. Mrs. Strickland was presented a special gift as "the power behind the throne."

The flag pole is 40 feet high, and the American flag is five by eight feet. In addition to contributing the pole and flag, the Little River Camp financed the construction of the concrete base for the pole.

Rabies Clinic

A second rabies clinic to vaccinate dogs in this community will be held at the Zebulon Municipal Building on Friday of this week from 5 to 7 p. m. The clinic was scheduled because of the number of requests received at the Wake County Health Department from dog owners unable to attend the previous clinic.

Plants Damaged By Nematodes Are Wanted Now

Dr. Joseph N. Sasser, Nickels for Know-How nematologist at State College, is in the market for nematodes, or rather nematode-damaged plants.

They shouldn't be hard to find, since nematodes dine on about every crop known to North Carolina, but nematode damage is pretty difficult to identify outside the laboratory.

Tobacco is probably the hardest hit by nematodes — the tiny worm-like animals destroy $30 million worth a year in North Carolina. Right now, tobacco has reached the size where you can begin to see evidence of nematode damage.

Wilts and Yellows

Usually stunted, it wilts and yellows in the afternoon; however, there are other factors that cause the same conditions. If you think nematodes might be damaging your crop, send a sample plant to Sasser, and include roots and information about the specimen and the conditions under which it was grown.

The newest nematode to appear on the North Carolina scene is the alfalfa stem nematode, a serious threat to one of the state's most valuable forage crops. If your alfalfa plants are yellowing and stunted and have stems on growing shoots that are malformed, Sasser would like to have a diseased specimen.

Samples of nematode damaged plants are helping Sasser identify and discover the extent of the problem in the state.

The disease on your plants will be identified and control recommendations returned to you promptly. Send specimens to Plant Disease Clinic, Box 5397, State College, Raleigh, N. C.

Former Wendell Pastor Is Injured

The Reverend Koch, former editor of the North Carolina Catholic and also a former pastor of the Wendell-Zebulon parish, was seriously injured recently in a fall at Lourdes, France.

Father Koch, making a tour of Catholic shrines in Europe, fell down a flight of steps and struck his neck on an elevator cable. Although not paralyzed, as was reported earlier, he is experiencing difficulty in swallowing and is in a serious condition.

His present address is St. Benedict Hospital, Lourdes, France.

4-H Winners

Ruth Temple and Linda Bailey of Wakelon were among the club members of the 4-H Clubs of Wake County who attended the annual County 4-H Field Day last Friday.

Linda Bailey was a blue award winner in the Senior dress review. Ruth Temple was narrator for this event.

Ruth also was placed as a winner in the public speaking contest. She chose as her topic, "What 4-H Means to Me."

Recreation Program Begins Next Week

Hilliard Greene

Greene Announces Elaborate Plans For Six Weeks

The six-weeks recreation program for the Zebulon community will begin Monday, June 28, with a morning program at 9 a. m., according to Hilliard Greene, director. The morning program features games of all kinds, will be held from Monday through Friday of each week.

Assisting Greene will be Gayle Privette, Wake Forest College student. A full program, including activities for the entire family, is planned. The morning program will be held at Wakelon School.

A trip to the Wake Forest swimming pool will be made one to two days each week in the Wakelon activities bus.

The evening program will include games and activities Monday through Friday. On Monday evening baseball or softball games will be scheduled featuring teenage girls' softball, boys' baseball, and Cub Scouts or teenage boys' baseball.

Softball Games

Tuesday and Thursday evenings will be devoted to softball games with teams sponsored by the Zebulon Methodist Church, the Zebulon Baptist Church, the Hopkins Chapel, Pine Ridge, and Wakefield Baptist Church.

Volleyball will be played on Wednesday nights. A league is being formed of 10-man squads. (See RECREATION, Page 8)

Wakefield Club Meets Tomorrow

Mrs. Edgar Liles, Mrs. Gladys Bobbitt and Mrs. Florence Baker will be hostesses to the Home Demonstration Club Wednesday, June 23, at the club house at Wakefield. The meeting will be at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. Maude McInnis, will give an interesting program on home and insect control. All members are urged to come.

A report will given on Farm and Home Week which just ended at State College.

Cub Scouts

The Cub Scout pack meeting, already postponed to June 23, has been postponed again because of the Baptist Sunday School picnic tomorrow afternoon, Cubmaster R. G. Privette has announced. The new date will be published when set.

30th Division Artillery Commander Visits National Guard Unit Sunday

General Edward Griffin, commander of the 30th Division Artillery, was a guest Sunday of Battery A during the day-long drill held at the armory. The veteran artillery officer, one-time commander of the 113th Field Artillery Battalion, complimented the National Guardsmen on their work, and especially praised the mess section on the noon-day meal.

The day began at 8:45 with a religious service conducted by the Rev. Bev. Asbury, pastor of the Baptist Church. His subject was

"Why Don't Strong Men Pray?" The training was devoted to specialized work with the sections working under the non-commissioned officers. Supervising were M/Sgt. Carl Kemp, Fire Direction; Sfc. Percy Parrish, mess; Sfc. Ralph Creech and Sfc. Baxter Hopkins, howitzer; and Sgt. John Clark, communications; and Sgt. Cooper Moss, motor.

Following the drills, the Guardsmen participated in the dedication of the flag pole given the armory by the Woodmen of the World.
