

THE ZEBULON RECORD

Volume XXIX. Number 28.

Zebulon, N. C., Friday, January 7, 1955

Theo. Davis Sons, Publishers

THIS PUFF WILL HANDLE ANY NOSE

Here's something to get all puffed up about! It's the biggest cotton powder puff ever made. The huge two-foot powder puff was made by the Hygienol Company to mark the manufacture of its billionth puff. The company estimates that in the last fifty years it has used about four million pounds of cotton to keep the ladies and babies in powder puffs. At first goose down was used, but in 1906 cotton velour was introduced and immediately became popular.

Aaron Lowery Tells Fellow Rotary Club Members of Life, Business

Members of the Zebulon Rotary Club heard an interesting talk by its secretary last Friday night when Aaron Lowery told the club about himself and the insurance business.

He told the Rotarians that most of his childhood memory consisted of the way camphor feels on a raw wound. The memory resulted, he said, from treatment of an incision made in the course of a respiratory ailment.

He was born in Wake County near New Hill, and later moved to Harnett County, where his father farmed and worked with the Durham & Southern Railroad. Later he attended Campbell College where he met Dorothy Winstead of Zebulon, whom he later married.

"I was able to get married without telling her anything but my name," he declared. The usually well-behaved Rotarians hooted at this statement.

Later Lowery worked with the 7-Up Bottling Company and Atlantic Greyhound Lines. He moved to Zebulon following World War II, and took on part time insurance work which soon expanded to the point that he had to give up his bus lines position.

"Every man seeks satisfaction in daily life," he told the Rotarians, "and I have found it, since I am in a business I enjoy and I am in a town I like."

SEEN AND HEARD

It's Past Time to Trade

It's probably time for Uncle Ferd to trade cars.

The other day his wife started down town with her daughters and a neighbor's son. All went well until she started the engine to the ancient (1949) station wagon; then the little boy began to cry.

"I can't go down town in this station wagon," he declared. "It's going to fall to pieces!"

Selma reassured the little fellow as best she could, stating that the wagon was probably good for another 100,000 miles, and certainly was not likely to fall to pieces.

"Oh, yes, it is," the youngster replied. "My mama said so!"

Too Many Days

The current issue of the Reader's Digest carries a long article favoring adoption of a new world calendar.

"I don't favor a new calendar," D. D. Chamblee says. "It's hard enough for me to keep up with the days on the old one!"

Cool, Calm, Collected

W. N. Sutton says that he is a good Mason, and cites his conduct Tuesday night as proof positive. He has been having trouble with a leak in the liquefied gas tank behind his remodeled home in Wakefield, and was thinking about it when the dynamite was exploded at Wakelon School during the basketball game Tuesday evening.

"It was the right sound and the right direction for my gas tank," he declares, "but I never batted an eye, and stayed through the rest of the communication!"

Name, Please?

The Thomases have selected a pretty name for their daughter—Judy Michelle. Dr. and Mrs. Ben Thomas want to call her Michelle, but Ben David wants her called Judy. The Thomases may be in doubt as to what she will finally answer to, but Ben David isn't. Come to think of it, neither are we.

STORES TO CLOSE

Zebulon retail outlets will close at 1:00 p. m. each Wednesday until tobacco markets open this fall, beginning Wednesday, January 19, Thomas F. Monk, president of the Chamber of Commerce, announced this week.

Wholesale firms and farm supply houses will continue to remain open all day on Wednesday, he said

Inquiry Continues In Blast Tuesday Night at School

Police Chief Willie B. Hopkins and Deputy Sheriff Earl Duke are investigating the explosion set off at the south end of the Wakelon athletic field around 8 o'clock Tuesday night.

The explosion, believed to have been several sticks of dynamite set off by a long fuse, came during the basketball game at the school gymnasium. Apparently the explosive was attached to the steel cable which bars automobiles from the playing field; the chain was blown apart about 40 feet from the high school building.

School Not Hurt

Garland Richardson and Ed Ellington, first on the scene after the explosion, have reported their observations to the police officers, who have several other leads.

No damage resulted to the school building itself, School Board Chairman Ed Hales reported.

"The biggest danger lay in the possibility that some person might have been in the area at the time the explosion took place," Hales said Wednesday night. "Fortunately no one was injured by the blast."

Farm Bureau Plans Important Meeting

An important Farm Bureau meeting will be held Monday, January 10, at 7:30 p. m., at Wakelon School.

Don Arrison, social security specialist with the U. S. Government, and C. W. Williams, farm management specialist at State College, will tell the Farm Bureau what the farmer will have to do this year under the new Social Security Law.

Mr. Williams will talk about the income tax changes for the farmer and his hired help. All farmers come under the Social Security Law this year.

For the ladies there will be sewing tips and short cuts by the clothing specialist from State College. Refreshments will be served.

Wakelon Menu

MONDAY: Frankfurters with chili, lima beans, stewed prunes, rolls and milk.

TUESDAY: Smoked sausage, turnip greens, pinto beans, pickled beets, banana pudding, bread and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Browned beef with gravy, collards, mashed potatoes, sweet relish, ice cream, corn bread and milk.

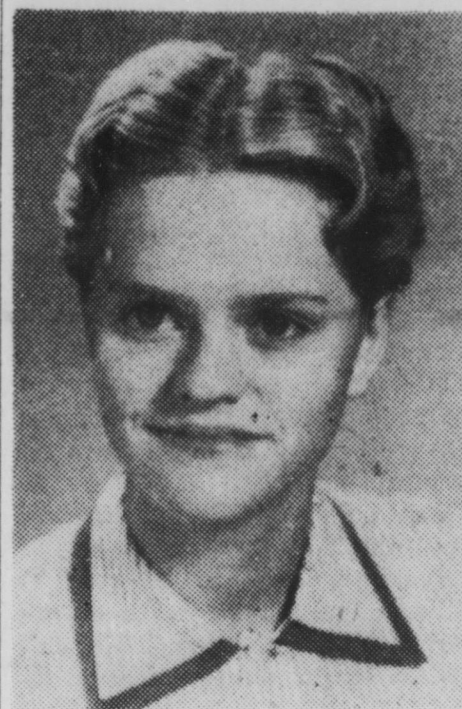

THURSDAY: Sliced luncheon meat, cheese cubes, steamed cabbage, buttered potatoes, peach halves with cookies, bread and milk.

FRIDAY: Vegetable soup, meat and lettuce sandwich, fruit cup, bread, crackers and milk.

Big Apples!

Based upon October 1 reports from growers, commercial apple production in North Carolina is expected to total 3,100,000 bushels this year. If realized this will be the heaviest crop harvested since comparable records began in 1934.

HONORED

Judy Green

Miss Green, a Wakelon student, has been named as the school's "citizen of the month." See story, page 4.

Several Identify Farm This Week

The mystery farm pictured in Tuesday's Record was that of Roy Brown on highway 39, five miles southeast of Zebulon. The place is known as the John Brown Farm. John Brown was the grandfather of the present owner. Roy Brown has lived on the place 18 years, having moved there in 1937.

Improvements on the farm include three new tobacco barns, a pack barn, a two room addition to the home, three rooms wallpapered, and three rooms finished with sheet rock.

Brown married Vandelia Tillett in 1929. They have one daughter, Mrs. Betty Jean Bell of Raleigh.

Hales Chapel Members

Mr. and Mrs. Brown are members of Hales Chapel Baptist Church. Mrs. Brown belongs to the WMS and is an assistant Sunday School teacher. Mr. Brown lists his hobby as old fashioned farming, and that of his wife as making pretty quilts.

This year he plans to tend 7½ acres of tobacco, 5½ acres of cotton, 12 acres of corn and 15 acres of grain on the 105 acre farm.

Mr. Brown's favorite livestock is mules, for which he grows his own feed.

In the near future the Browns plan to paint both their house and the out buildings.

Games Tonight

Wakelon High school will play Rolesville High School in a double-header basketball game Friday night at 7:30. in the Wakelon gymnasium.

Local Legion Post Lauded by Faust For Reaching Goal

The local post of the American Legion will sponsor a stage show by Central Prison performers, if arrangements can be made with the school and its organizations, members decided Wednesday night.

The decision was made after a report from Treasurer Carl Kemp, who stated that funds realized from the turkey shoot, together with a reasonable profit from a stage performance, would enable the Legionnaires to carry out their regular program and help the local high school band as well.

Each year the local post sends two boys to the Tar Heel "Boys State."

The Legionnaires expressed a desire not to conflict with programs of the PTA, and requested Legionnaire Ed Hales, chairman of the local school board, to assist Kemp with arrangements.

Other business transacted at the meeting, which was held following a barbecue supper at Hilliard's Drive In, included a report by Wade Perry on Christmas baskets given by the local post and a membership report.

Under the chairmanship of Charles Hawkins, former commander, the local post has exceeded its 1955 membership quota already. The post commander has received a communication from Milton Faust, state Legion commander, commending the Zebulon unit for its achievement.

Commander James Alford presided at the meeting. J. P. Arnold pronounced the invocation.

Local Laundry Hit By Smoke Friday

Lots of excitement but little damage resulted last Friday night when a motor in Gill's Self-Service Laundry next to Carolina Power and Light Company started smoking.

The fire department answered the fire call about 7:00 p. m. Chief Willie B. Hopkins reported that smoke damage was slight and that there was no open blaze in the laundry.

Unit Meetings

The General meeting of the WMU will be held at eight o'clock Monday evening. An executive meeting will be held prior to the General meeting at 7:30 o'clock.

The American Legion Auxiliary will meet Friday night at eight o'clock in the home of Mrs. Pat Farmer.
